Art Fair Intrigues Arlington Market Patrons

"IMAGINE THAT on the living room wall!" Exhibit included modern abstracts as well as landscape scenes and water colors.

"THE ARTIST must have had something in mind!" Prizes were awarded in several competition classes.

"YES, I BELIEVE that is a Chihuahua." All Arlington Market stores displayed the artists' work Friday and Saturday.

"HOW MUCH is that doggy in the window?" asks this young viewer. Most of the entries bore prices, one asking an optimistic $750.

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan is to be commended for the purchase of the George K. Volz property on S. Evergreen st. The directors did not hesitate to acquire the property, regardless of its price.

Arlington Heights National bank recently purchased from the Chicago and North Western, property which is being used for the same purpose. Ample off-street parking is being recognized by business interests as important as the brick and cement building used in the operation of their business.

Arlington Heights voters in the last April election showed they had little interest in the retention of the railroad parks. They are on the market.

In view of present high construction costs, we doubt if there will be a ready sale for the railroad owned property. There is still time to secure them for customer parking. Will somebody find the investor?

We refer particularly to the existing park east of Evergreen st. Its use for customer parking could be the shot-in-the-arm needed for that section of E. Davis st.

The village of Arlington Heights has $30,000 in this year's budget for expansion of the State rd. parking lot which will provide space for 500 cars.

We joined what seemed like a million others Sunday and visited the art show at the Old Town Triangle area between Ogden ave. and N. Clark st.

In addition to thousands of canvases, there were scores of gardens on display, the majority of which were no larger than the width of the curb, between the sidewalk and street pavement.

The residents of the area living in crowded northside flats appreciate garden beauty and go to a lot of effort to show it. Here, we thought that it is only in the suburbs and countryside that people love their gardens.

The area has a colony of Japanese who are looked upon as good neighbors—no racial discrimination there.

We really enjoyed the terriyaki dinner served by the Buddhist congregation.

We learned this week that the changing and posting of new speed signs in incorporated areas is not done at the whim of police departments.

Our simple inquiry, "what is back of the many speed changes on our highways?" brought the explanation.

Speed limits on streets and roads are determined by the state and county highway departments based on automatic speed checks made under their supervision.

All autoists must recognize that the speed in residential areas is 30 m.p.h., unless it is otherwise posted.

Ask End To Curb Pickups

A contract has been submitted for Arlington Heights' garbage collection that will, if accepted by the village board, eliminate curb collection and in effect increase prices for many villagers.

The contract, submitted by Laseke Disposal company, present village refuse collector, calls for back door collection only at the present price of $2.75 a month for emptying of two 20 gallon garbage cans twice a week. Curb collection, presently priced at $1.90, will be eliminated.

The proposed contract also calls for billing, now done by the disposal company, to be taken over by the village.

Laseke's present contract expires July 30. The company earlier sought an increase to $3 for back door collection and $2.30 for curb collection. Opposition by the village board resulted in the present contract proposal.

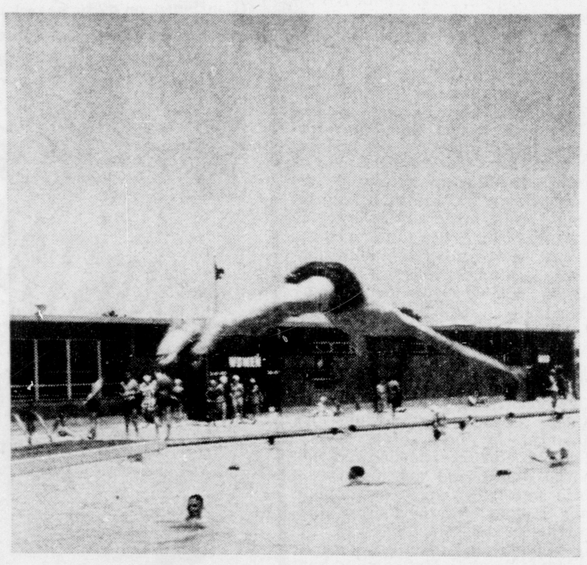
LASEKE TOLD the Herald that his offer for 1959-60 pertains only to kitchen refuse. Collection of any other type of material would result in a $3 fee, he said.

He gave as a reason for eliminating curb collections the necessity of making return trips. "It's gotten so people forget to put their cans out on the curb, and then call and say we missed them. The return trips we have to make are economically impossible to continue," he said.

As for village billing, Laseke claims a too small margin of profit makes such a step necessary. He has held the Arlington Heights franchise, received through a bid, for three years.

Laseke's 1958-59 contract stipulated that should his contract be renewed for the coming year the village would pass an ordinance providing for back door pickup only, and village billing.

Such stipulations, however, in the opinion of Trustee Eugene Schlickman, became invalid when Laseke submitted a con- tract to the board calling for a raise in price for both curb and back door collection.



IT'LL TAKE MORE than Corky Allison's dive off Pioneer park's low board to convince the little fellow below that the wading pool's water is "just fine." Attendance at the village's two pools has been averaging 2,400 a day since last week's opening day crowd of 3,312.

New Village Hall Becomes Certainty

Erection of a new village hall for Arlington Heights was assured Monday night with the village board's adoption of the 1959-60 budget and approval of a $65,000 sales contract for the new hall's site.

The lot, north of and adjacent to the S. State rd. parking lot, fronts for 106 feet on State rd.

The budget allows for $300,000 for construction of a new hall, including the price of the site.

Auto Inspection

A free safety inspection for vehicles will be given Saturday, June 20, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Arlington Fender and Body shop, 910 W. Northwest hwy.

Aw, Whizzikers, Dad

Knee-Deep in June, Comes A Sob in a Man's Throat

Long about knee-deep in June, as the poet says, when a man and his son are resting on the grass after a fast game of "catch" with the old moth eaten baseball...

Just about that time when the old kicker is wheezin' and the perspiration is dripping down your neck, young George, just turned 12 and still fresh as a daisy, pops up:

"Say, dad..."

Oh, oh, here it comes, you think. They warned me this is what happens. So he wants to use the car, he's got a heavy date, the wedding bells are ringing, and off they go to live in New Mexico, where he has an engineer's job waiting.

STIFLING THE sob in my throat, my heart breaking with the thought of losing my son, I turn my face with an effort and ask him outright and forthwith:

"Yes, son?"

"Can I have 35 cents?"

I stare at him as he lies there on his back, and twists over to do a somersault or a cartwheel. He's so hard to stare at between his hands and those long coltish legs kicking about.

"You mean—35 cents?"

"Yeah, gee whiz, dad, I mean, oh gee, I'll pay you back sometime. I promise, whizzikers, dad, I'll work like a mule. You'll see. Gee whiz."

A QUARTER AND and a dime. W'mm, I thought. Comic books are going up. "What for?" I ask in my least suspicious manner, and look up to see him swinging head down from a tree.

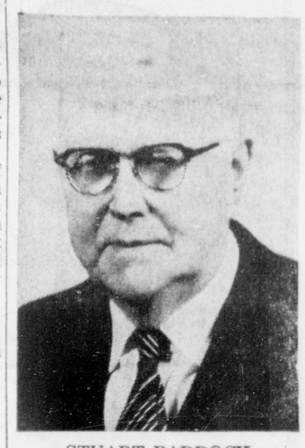
"Watch out," I shout, adding carefully, "what's the 35 cents for?"

"It's a secret," he whispers as he drops onto my chest, knocking any wind I had in me back to Aurora Borealis or wherever the dame lives. "I'm savin' fer somepin," he throws in, wrinkling his nose.

Secret, I brood, thinking of how a youth slips away from you before you know it, and has hundreds of confidences with others. Just then, my wallet slipped out of my pocket and picking it up, I noticed my pocket calendar.

There in red letters was marked: June 21, Fathers Day. And then, I get it. The old man is still king.

Testimonial Dinner Set For Editor



STUART PADDOCK

A testimonial dinner honoring Stuart R. Paddock, publisher of the Arlington Heights Herald, will be held Tuesday, June 30, 6:45 p.m. at Prospect high school's cafeteria on E. Foundry rd.

Paddock, recently named "Editor of the Year" by the Illinois Press association, is the publisher of 13 weekly suburban newspapers.

Speaker for the occasion is Dr. John Paul Stafford, minister of Rogers Park Methodist church and noted lecturer and author.

RESERVATIONS for dinner tickets, priced at $3.50, may be made with Wilbert Hartmann, secretary of the chamber of commerce at 104 N. Evergreen, CL 3-1703, or John Schaff, Arlington high school, CL 3-0200.

The dinner originated with the village board and is being sponsored by various community civic and service organizations.

Village Thwarted In Slum Campaign

A shortage of personnel and Illinois' archaic condemnation statute have delayed efforts to rid Arlington Heights of its ramshackled housing, according to Building Commissioner Fred Hammer.

He estimates there are eight houses in the village that could be termed "unsafe," and many more that fail to meet standards of the village's recently adopted building code.

An unsafe house can be condemned and destroyed if the owner fails to bring it up to standards. But, notes Hammer, because of a shortage of personnel his department has had to rely on complaints from residents before checking for such houses. This, combined with the state's lengthy condemnation processes, has stretched some condemnation proceedings over a year.

OF THE 13 complaints checked by the village last year, three of the structures were repaired, six destroyed, and condemnation action is pending against four.

Hammer hopes that an additional building inspector, budgeted for 1959-60, will allow his department "to get out more and check for housing violations."

He notes, however, that little can be done to bring a house into compliance with the new building code if it is not declared unsafe, that is if the house was built before adoption of the code, said Hammer, noting that it is not retroactive.

Will Exploiting Landlord Face a Real Accounting?

AN EDITORIAL

The existence of a serious health hazard in Arlington Heights was revealed in last week's Herald. Twenty village residents are living under primitive conditions, endangering their own and the village's welfare.

The Herald's concern is twofold. What will happen to the 12 children and eight adults when these conditions are eliminated? Secondly, will the person responsible for exploiting these people be called upon for an accounting?

The first question is being considered by LULAC, League of United Latin American Citizens, an ethnic organization concerned with the welfare of Mexican-Americans.

Representatives of LULAC met this week with the father of one of the families living in the house at 1404 E. Euclid. They found he deplores the conditions under which he, his wife, and four children live.

They found he is able and willing to pay up to $125 a month rent for a house. They also found that he has been unable to obtain other housing. It seems, the father says, "When they find I'm a Mexican-American, the house has always 'just been rented' to another family."

The father, a U.S. army veteran with three years service in Germany, also revealed this week that the four families occupying the structures on E. Euclid, a house, a shed, and a pig barn, have been without water for five months. The well's pump is broken, and the landlord has neglected to have it fixed.

This brings us to the second question, that of the landlord. Village ordinances have obviously been violated—four families five months without water—one outhouse for 20 persons.

The landlord's name and address are known to village authorities who have been aware of these conditions since June 1. Yet as of Wednesday morning no summons or warrant had been issued for his appearance in court.

Last week the Herald was told by Police Magistrate Robert Buckley that he had requested all complaints concerning zoning or building violations be withheld until new summons forms were printed. The village now has these forms.

The structures in question are slated to be razed shortly after July 1 to make room for a subdivision. The Herald hopes village procrastination will not allow exposed violations of human dignity and village ordinances to pass without a hearing.

Get-Away-From-It-All Season Is Now Underway

Vacations are in all stages this early week of the get-away-from-it-all season and while most are still in the looking-forward-to-stage, others are already just memories. Arlington Heighters have had other things on their minds, too, partying brides-to-be as well as nursery school graduates, visitors from out of state as well as next-door neighbors.

Many children of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school of Arlington Heights were honored Sunday at family parties following their graduation from the school's eighth grade. Among them was Jerry Patterson who received the congratulations of 25 Chicago, Oak Lawn and Evergreen Park relatives at an noon celebration in the home of his parents, the William Pattersons, 1011 S. Dunton.

Grandfather Patterson was here from Chicago for the occasion and is spending the week at his son's home. The Pattersons held open house in the evening and 50 friends and neighbors helped the graduate further celebrate his big day. All the excitement and a cash gift from the neighbors has sold Jerry on the value of an education, and thoughtful neighbors.

Our Lady of the Wayside student with the highest scholastic record, Howard Jack III, was feted by 43 family members and friends Sunday afternoon and evening in the Jack home, 642 S. Evergreen. Howard won a scholarship on the basis of his outstanding achievement; won, too, special acclaim from proud Grandfather and Grandmother Jack of Chicago and Grandmother Hill of Arlington Heights, who were among those honoring the boy at his graduation party.

MISS ANTOINETTE Pass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pass, 214 S. Mitchell, was the school's honor student among the girls and also received a scholarship. Twenty relatives extended congratulations at a family party honoring Antoinette and learned of her plans to attend St. Catharine academy in St. Catharine, Ky. this fall.

The Lyle Huntley family, 421 N. Wilshire, and Mrs. Huntley's parents, the George Wilsons of Palo Alto, Cal., have returned here from a week in Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson who arrived here Memorial day for the high school graduation of their granddaughter Pam, and the grade school graduation of Sandy, then accompanied their daughter and family to Oelwein, Iowa to visit friends and relatives there.

They were honor guests at a Stephenson family reunion in Oelwein and remained there while their daughter and children visited the senior Huntleys in Eldora. Pam and her dad returned here early last week and the rest of the family arrived in time for Mom to bake Pam's 18th birthday cake Sunday. Mom had a slice for herself in belated celebration of her own birthday that whizzed by almost unnoticed last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are dividing this final week of their stay between Chicago relatives and the Huntleys and plan to leave for California this weekend.

MR. AND MRS. Walter Stumpf, 513 S. Highland, were among 150 family members attending the 25th annual Stumpf reunion Sunday in Cross Plains, Wis., where they met again with relatives from Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and New Mexico.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Boman arrived last Tuesday from a winter stay in Madeira Beach, Fla., to spend a week with their son, Vernon, and his family, 739 S. Evergreen, before going on to their summer home at Sister Bay, Wis.

Seventeen Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights girls looked forward to a week of Marine scout-sponsored camping in Wisconsion until some organizational problem cancelled the plans. That is, their plans to be scout-sponsored were cancelled but youthful determination being what it is they camped anyhow.

With the help and chaperonage of five mothers the girls pitched tents and cooked out near the summer cottage of the James Yates family, 903 N. Vail, and had their week of outdoor living. Mrs. George Larsen of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. William Heddesheimer of Arlington Heights accompanied Mrs. Yates and the girls to Edgerton a week ago Saturday and were joined Thursday by other local mothers, Mrs. Stanley Tucker and Mrs. Roy MacDonald.

The day before the expedition into Wisconsin the Yates family hosted 20 relatives at a graduation party for Douglas, now an Arlington high school alumna. Among guests were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Zacchariasen of Milwaukee who were here for the day. Doug enters Northwestern university in Evanston in September.

WITH ALL THE grade school, high school and college graduations going on about them, small fry sometimes get lost in the shuffle. A nursery school commencement exercise with appropriate pomp and cookies takes care of that nicely, however. Among local nursery school alumnae recently so honored were Linda Anstett, Ricky Ehrhardt, Katy Monahan, Mary Pat Moody, Susan McIntosh, Mike Fulle and Ricky Zolp.

Mrs. Vincent Weidner, 1135 N. Dunton, conscientiously ignored the fact that she was a year older Monday and planned to spend the early afternoon tending the Weidner strawberry patch. That's where six neighborhood friends who cannot ignore other people's birthdays found Mrs. Weidner when they arrived with pots of hot coffee and a cake and a determination to celebrate. Mrs. Weidner was properly surprised and the strawberries ignored.

Mrs. William Harm of Phoenix, has spent three weeks here with her sister and family and ends her visit this weekend.

PRE-NUPTIAL parties are already well under way for Carole Finch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Finch, 523 S. CHestnut, who will be married August 8 to Richard Rademacher, son of the W. A. Rademachers, 1105 N. Princeton, at Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church of Arlington Heights.

A Bradley university student, Miss Finch was feted by the Chi Omega sorority on the campus in Peoria and given a group gift just before her return home early this month. During her final week in the sorority house Miss Finch was honored by the girls in the house and showered with miscellaneous gifts. One of the Chi Omegas, Miss Jacqi Notarnicola of Chicago Heights will serve as Miss Finch's maid of honor.

Sunday 30 relatives showered the bride-elect with miscellaneous gifts at a shower in Streator, Ill., by Miss Jean Coveny, a cousin of Miss Finch.

Monday afternoon Miss Finch was guest of honor at what her hostess, Mrs. Lewis Brown, called a dime store shower. Mrs. Brown wrote a few lines of verse for half of many little packages that filled two gayly decorated boxes. Miss Finch tried to guess what was in each "versified" package from the clues given in the rhyme and received a bonus gift from the second box of little packages for each correct guess.

The gifts were mainly kitchen utensils and the future Mrs. Rademacher expects to use each one with a grin as she recalls the verse clue that went with it. Other guests in the Brown home, 509 S. Chestnut in addition to the bride's mother were neighborhood friends Mrs. George Sandy and Margaret, Mrs. Owen Sellers and Kathy, Mrs. William Hennig and Mrs. Doyal Hoyt.

FOUR RECENT bridal showers feted the former Lorraine Meyer, daughter of Mrs. R. Fred Meyer, 315 W. Hawthorne, who was married Sunday in the Addison street Baptist church of Chicago to William Engelhart of Chicago.

Mrs. Edgar Kohl and Mrs. Paul Wertheimer of Rolling Meadows were hostesses to Miss Meyer and a dozen friends at a personal shower in the Kohl home, 805 N. Mitchell, recently. Previously, a group of 10 church friends surpraised Miss Meyer at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Martin Meyer, N. Wilke rd., a church associate of Miss Meyer and not related.

Twenty-five friends showered a surprised guest of honor with miscellaneous gifts at another prenuptial party for Miss Meyer given by Mrs. Roy Baumann, 421 E. Orchard. At a surprise miscellaneous shower with family members, Miss Meyer was feted by 27 Chicago relatives in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Adam Kreher of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Engelhardt will make their home in Mt. Prospect. Horcher and Cheryl, 406 S. Dunton, have returned from a 3000-mile sight seeing tour to and through Colorado. Since they covered this distance in just under a week's time the Horchers plan as much standing-up activity as possible this week, although they remain enthusiastic about the scenic beauty of their trip. They also enjoyed an overnight visit with relatives in Minnesota before the final drive that brought them home Sunday.

Carol Barrow, 624 N. Gibbons, was pleasantly surprised on the occasion of her 16th birthday May 29 by a formal party planned in her honor. The party was held at Chevy Chase country club and planned by her sister, Scotty Schinke, for 22 friends who enjoyed dinner and dancing. Carol is a sophomore at Prospect high and resides with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Schinke and their two sons.

Mrs. Roland Hopp and her daughter, Maeve, arrived home at 437 S. Highland last Thursday evening after driving from Waynesboro, Va., where Maeve was graduated from Fairfax hall, preparatory school. On their return trip, they stopped to visit former Arlington Heights neighbors, the Frank Armfields, who now live in Vienna, W. Va. At Lexington, Ky., they made a tour of the horse farms as Maeve is a riding enthusiast.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pingel, 422 S. Chestnut, had as a dinner guest Sunday evening, Mr. Yoshikiyo Fukushima of Tokyo. Mr. Fukushima, chief engineer of the Japan Powder Metallurgy Co., Ltd. of Tokyo is on a world-wide tour business trip and in that connection, became acquainted recently with Mr. Pingel.

Official Describes Slum Dwellings of Area Latins

by BILL DULANEY

Over 90 per cent of Chicago's 150,000 Spanish speaking residents are living in substandard housing, according to Manuel A. Segarra, field supervisor for the Chicago Commission on Human Relations.

Many of the City's estimated 100,000 Mexicans and 50,000 Puerto Ricans live under conditions that defy imagination, Segarra told members of the Opportunity Council, Inc., in Arlington Heights last week.

An entire floor of partitioned apartments, comprising eight or more families, may share one toilet. Two or more families totaling a dozen or so members, may share one room.

"Sleep in shifts and save steam," is a bitter joke in some quarters, meaning that demand for a bed is so great it's never allowed to cool over a 24 hour period.

THE REASONS for such conditions are many, explains Segarra. He lists as number one, however, the reluctance of the community to accept and assimilate minority groups.

Last hired and first fired, is a saying the city's Mexicans and Puerto Ricans know well, said Segarra. And those that are able to achieve economic success, are seldom able to move from their "port-of-entry" because of discrimination.

A "port of entry," he explains, is the new arrival's first stop in the city. For Spanish speaking groups, these first stops, such as the Southside's Woodlawn area and the Near Northside's N. Clark st., often become permanent homes.

Other problems encountered by Mexicans and Puerto Ricans are a language barrier, adjustment to cultural differences, and lack of education or technical skills.

TO HELP Spanish peoples overcome these difficulties the Commission on Human Relations works with Chicago's public schools in maintaining adult night schools. When the schools were started 18 months ago, 93 enrolled. Last February 800 adults registered for courses.

Language and vocational courses such as electronics, wood working, and automobile mechanics comprise the bulk of the curriculum.

While night school courses are a step in the right direction toward elevating a minority group, the overall situation will be improved little until the community gives each person a chance to prove himself on his own merits, regardless of race, said Segarra.

Witnesses Invited to 4-Day Convention in Evansville

William J. Nerve, presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses has announced that the Arlington Heights congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has been invited to attend a 4-day convention to be held July 9 through 12 at Roberts Municipal stadium in Evansville, Ind. Congregation servant will head the local delegation of 80 persons.

The convention is arranged by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., legal agency for Jehovah's Witnesses worldwide. A total attendance of 10,000 is anticipated, with delegates expected from a dozen states and several foreign countries.

"THE PURPOSE OF the meeting," said Congregational servant "is to provide additional Bible instruction for the Witnesses and to enable them to apply Bible principles more fully to their everyday lives and activities. There will be morning afternoon and evening sessions devoted to Bible talks, discussions and practical demonstrations, he explained.

Congregation servant further reported that several members of the Watchtower Society, including Fred W. Franz, vice president, will speak in Evansville. Highlight of the convention will be the public address by Franz at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 12, on "When God Speaks Peace to all Nations."

Northwest Cancer Chapter Names Service Chairman

The Northwest Suburban chapter of the American Cancer society announces the appointment of Mrs. Howard P. Baumann of Mt. Prospect as volunteer service chairman. She is a member of the board of directors and has been interested in the Cancer society for many years. For the past four years Mrs. Baumann has been helping with the collection of white goods to be used in making dressing, etc.

According to Mrs. Baumann one of the greatest needs at this time is for drivers to take patients to city hospitals for necessary treatments. It is her hope to establish a "Driver Bank" of women and men volunteers who are retired, widowers or part-time workers who can transport the patients. At the present time drivers are taking a Wheeling mother to a point where she can get city transportation to visit her child in Children's Memorial hospital.

THERE ARE OVER 50,000 homes in the area which the chapter services, and there is an increasing need for volunteers; drivers, a transportation chairman to assist with the phoning to line up drivers, workers to make dressings, and women who will sew at home making binders, bandages, bed jackets and other items.

At the present time there are several groups making dressings in the northwest suburban area; women at St. Raymond church and Community Presbyterian in Mt. Prospect, St. Paul church in Palatine and the Christian church of Arlington Heights. Sunshine Service Group of Park Ridge and the ladies of the Elks in Des Plaines. They need clean white material such as shirts and sheets for making dressings and will appreciate those having contributions to take them to the office at 121 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, or call the office and they will be picked up.

ANYONE WISHING to volunteer his or her services in this program for any amount of time is asked to call the Cancer office in Mt. Prospect, Cl. 5-8148, or Mrs. Baumann, Cl. 5-0453. The office is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. during the summer months. (B8

Griffin has also served in the Sergeant Floyd area council in Sioux City, Iowa; and the Omaha, Nebraska council, where he was responsible for serving eight counties in northeast Nebraska.

Griffin is a graduate of Creighton university and received an AB degree in social studies in 1951. He has been active as a volunteer and a professional Scouter for the past 15 years.

GRIFFIN'S responsibility in the Northwest Suburban council will include giving leadership and service to the communities of Elk Grove, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Prospect Heights. He is married, has four children and has been active in the Episcopal church as a Senior High Sunday School teacher, budget committee chairman, and membership vice-chairman.

He is an Eagle Scout; has been active in the Kiwanis club organization for five years; and has served as secretary-treasurer and membership chairman for the Eastern district of the Iowa section of the American Camping association. (B8

Housewives Solve Sitter Shortage

Some ingenious and well organized housewives are solving the baby-sitting problem in Hoffman Estates.

Typical of many large developments of new homes, Hoffman Estates has an abundance of young children, tight budgets, and a shortage of baby-sitters.

As a result Hoffman mothers have banded together in a cooperative effort to see that they get "a night out" every once in a while. Some seven baby-sitting groups are now organized in the subdivision.

ONE OF THE most active is the Baby Sitter's Co-op, an organization of 40 couples dedicated to "the free exchange of baby sitting services among members."

The club has a president who presides at monthly meetings (social in nature), a secretary-treasurer who collects dues (25 cents a year), and two appointive officers—the bookkeeper and the hostess.

The bookkeeper, a different mother each month, obtains sitters and keeps records of the hours worked by each member. The hostess simply provides a meeting place and refreshments.

Composed of couples in parcel "B" of the development, the club has a few simple rules for membership. A member must use the club at least every six months and must be available for sitting at least once during that time. The mother must also take her turn as bookkeeper and hostess.

NEATLY TYPED in a rather elaborate set of by-laws, the baby sitting rules leave little chance for misunderstandings. Sitters may be requested for any time, but no member may owe or accrue any more than 15 hours of sitting time, except in emergencies.

The number of hours "sat" is agreed upon before the sitter leaves and reported to the bookkeeper promptly. Computed to the nearest half-hour, the times are kept in plus and minus columns in the bookkeeper's records for each member.

Double time is allowed for siting on New Year's Eve (after 6 p.m.), New Year's Day, Easter Sunday, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve (after 6 p.m.), and Christmas Day.

The sitting starts at the time for which the sitter was booked, unless she is notified in advance of a time change. The "sittee" is charged double time after one hour past her original stated time of arrival home. If a sitter cancels less than 24 hours in advance, there is a one hour penalty against her, and if a sittee cancels with less than 24 hours' notice, she receives a two hour penalty.

Except in the case of an urgent last-minute need, all requests for sitters are made through the bookkeeper at least 24 hours in advance. Husbands may act as sitters if agreeable to sittee. If a member does not want a certain sitter, a notation may be made on her card.

EACH MEMBER has an information sheet which is left with the sitter. The form includes such data as husband's phone at work, children's names, families of the parents, emergency phone, family doctor's phone, etc. The couple leaves the phone number of their destination or, in the absence of a phone, agrees to call at least once during the evening.

Barbara MacEachron, 121 Cumberland, one of the original members of the Co-op, says that there is an unwritten law that members do not gossip about the way the homes are kept, behaviour of the children, contents of the refrigerator, etc.

Another advantage of the Co-op is that it provides mature, experienced sitters. (Some five or six of the members are registered nurses.)

Even on busy nights such as a week ago Friday night (there was a community benefit dance which attracted over 200 of the Hoffman couples), the club has never experienced a baby-sitter demand which could not be met. (BS

Legislature Clarifies Muddled State Finances

By: W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON

Last week's sessions of the Legislature did much to clarify what has heretofore been a rather muddled situation in regard to State finances.

There has been before the Legislature a variety of proposed taxes ranging from proposed huge increases in corporation taxes, broadening sales tax application, enlarging taxes on insurance premiums and increasing liquor taxes and sales tax.

The significant feature of the week, however, was the passage in the House revenue committee of the bills proposing a ½ cent increase in sales tax, all such increased revenue to be allocated to the schools. The taking of the roll call in the House committee was quite exciting. The measure finally was voted out favorably by a 21-16 vote. The favorable vote was to an extent a bipartisan one, for had not three Democratic members of the Committee voted for the increase, the bill would have been killed in committee.

THIS FAVORABLE action by the House committee foretells that practically all other pending tax measures will be defeated, except the 50 per cent proposed increase in liquor taxes.

Whether the so-called sales tax broadening bills will be passed by the House and sent to the Senate is a matter of considerable speculation. These measures have been voted upon favorably in committee, but have not as yet been acted upon by the House. This writer predicts that they will pass the House and upon reaching the Senate, will be enacted into law.

The Legislators have been inundated by letters and telephone calls from opponents to the proposed corporation tax increase. The tenor of most of the objections is that any such proposed increase in taxes (the bills propose a 1,000 per cent increase) will have a tremendous inflationary effect and of course, will be ultimately borne by the tax-paying public. I believe these measures will be killed in the Senate Revenue committee, of which I am chairman.

ANOTHER MEASURE failing of passage last week was the so-called school textbook censorship law. This measure was argued at length on the Senate floor, but when put to a vote it received one of the lowest votes of any measure considered this session. While requiring 30 votes for passage, it received only 16 approving votes.

There was also passed by the Senate last week the school aid bill and the measure now goes to the House where it seems assured of passage. This measure increases by $110 million over the next two years the money which will be paid to the schools by the State. (ACM

ASC Selects Community Committees

Carl M. Bormet, chairman, Cook County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee election board, announced this week that community committee election boards have been selected for all communities in this county. Committeemen elected will take office August 3, 1959, and will serve until elections are held next year.

"This year community elections will be held by mail from June 24 through July 6 in order to enable a greater participation by voters during this period of farming operations," chairman Bormet stated.

IN ORDER to be eligible to vote in the community committee elections, a person must have an interest in a farm in the community as owner, tenant or sharecropper, must be participating in the agricultural conservation program, or carrying out on his farm one of the eligible practices covered by that program, or be eligible for price support on one or more agricultural commodities he produces, or be eligible for a payment under the Sugar Program.

The chairman pointed out that this is the farmers' opportunity to participate in choosing the men who will administer the price support, crop allotment and quota, agricultural conservation, sugar, acreage reserve and conservation reserve programs during the coming year.

A WORD ABOUT OUR 3½% DIVIDEND RATE

The rate of return on savings is not the most important reason why people turn to their favorite savings institution.
If it were, a lot of local cash would be bundled off to other places for an additional fraction of one per cent.
However, since some financial institutions are publicizing the fact that their rate is being raised at long last to 3%, we should like to say matter-of-factly that ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FEDERAL SAVINGS continues to offer a more liberal 3½%. This is not the limit to which we must confine ourselves. As earnings warrant, they will be passed on to our savers—which is our obligation as a mutual association whose only stockholders are the savers themselves.
We believe that the 10,500 satisfied savers (whose nest eggs with us have now reached almost $12,000,000) like to do business here for other and better reasons: for convenience and friendly service . . . for congenial atmosphere . . . for the security of sound, intelligent operation, backed by Federal insurance of each account up to $10,000.

It's more PLEASANT—and more PROFITABLE, too—at FEDERAL SAVINGS!

Q. Should I offer to share the expense when given a ride to another city by a friend who would be making the trip anyway?

A. It is perfectly proper to make the offer—but if your first offer is refused, don't keep insisting.

Q. When introducing a young woman to a middle-aged man, whose name is spoken first?

A. The young woman's.

Q. Is the bride obligated to give gifts to her attendants?

A. This is not so much a question of "obligation." It is a long-standing custom, and therefore accepted as good form.

Men's Fashions Meet New Demands of Summer Wear

American men are losing weight, burdensome weight which once made the summer months unbearable.

Even more miraculous than milady's reducing pills which allow the purchaser to eat all she wants, the male's weight is disappearing as his waist line expands.

No one has been making adjustments in the bathroom scales, but the clothing industry has been making adjustments, and on a much bigger scale.

CARL H. Sundberg Jr., who has been in the clothing business ever since he was 15, calls the lightweight fabrics" the biggest single change in the past 20 years." While a fully dressed male once carried around 12-15 pounds of fabric, he now purchases his summer wear by the ounce.

Suits, slacks, shirts, ties, underwear, and ties have been put on a chemical diet, allowing a man to dress properly, yet comfortably.

Along with the loss of weight, a tendency toward more casual dress has brought suffering males the greatest comfort since the fig leaf era. For example, Sundberg, who operates stores in Mt. Prospect, Park Ridge, and Glenview, says he sells as many short-sleeve shirts as he does the long variety.

Panama hats are back but are much lighter and sport narrow, turned-down brims. Low crowns, new colors, and youthful styling in summer straws have replaced the old summer hay stacks.

According to Sundberg, who resides in Mt. Prospect, where he has been a clothier for seven years, sportswear was a small item 10 years ago. Once associated with a man on a yacht, sportswear now parallels dress clothing in volume sales. Sundberg attributes the change to economic improvement and altered standards of dress.

WASH AND WEAR tags, now familiar to all summer shoppers, are being attached to suits, jackets, ties, and even shoes. Although "wash with minimum care" would be a better description according to Sundberg, the development has been appreciated by both male and female.

Polyester and polyacrylic fabrics such as Dupont's much publicized dacron and orlon, acrilon, banlon, arnel, and others have become popular because of their ability to "breathe" better than nylon, providing cooler clothing.

One of Sundberg's most successful items this spring and summer has been a washable banlon knit polo shirt with full fashioned sleeve. Banlon, the clothier explains, combines summer comfort with the texture of cashmere.

The newest thing in wash and wear is cotton, chemically treated, available in suits, slacks, Bermudas, shirts, underwear, and jackets.

Sundberg insists that the finest combination fabric is dacron and wool. "Suits and slacks in this material are cool, light weight, and resist wrinkles," he believes.

SPEAKING of styles, Sundberg claims that younger people are dressing better than ever, and the young man's apparel is no longer much different than the choices of the more mature. "The Ivy look is evident in the clothing of all age groups. In fact, the more mature man will take to new styles and more comfortable dress as readily as the teenager."

The 29-year-old businessman believes that too many men confuse any care they give their personal appearance with some unseemingly sort of masculine vanity. He asserts that the way a man looks is a direct reflection on his own evaluation of himself, his tastes and his intelligence. "It is a business asset and has nothing to do with vanity," he concludes. (B8

CARL SUNDBERG displays summer straws at his Mt. Prospect store. "The Panama is coming back," the clothier maintains. "But it's been modernized."

Harvel Defense Rests with ICC

Howard Harvel, who abandoned his Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows bus line without state permission, has rested his defense before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Harvel said he didn't ask the commission's permission to quit because he lacked the money to retain an attorney to file the necessary papers.

Assets of the Harvel Motor Coach company totals $20 plus three mortgaged buses, he said. Hearings in the case were concluded Friday by Harold Poslusny, head of the ICC bus division.

Under commission rules, the bus company could be fined $500 to $2,000 a day for each offense of unauthorized abandonment.

HARVEL, WHO STARTED the commuter bus line in 1946, tossed it all overboard last March 2 when he stopped service without public notice.

He did this after an ICC inspector ordered him to make extensive repairs on the three buses to meet state safety requirements. Harvel said the company didn't have the money to do it.

Daily revenues ranged from $28 to $30, while expenses were $102 a day, he said. With business that bad, he had to fold, Harvel said.

United Motor Coach company has been operating the routes under temporary ICC authority.

Press Awards To Newspapers

Paddock Publications was presented three awards Wednesday in the 1959 Better Newspaper Contests sponsored by the National Editorial Association.

The awards were accepted by Stuart R. Paddock, publisher, at the 74th annual convention of the association at Colorado Springs, Colo. More than 2,000 entries represented nearly all the states, including Hawaii and Alaska.

First place in excellence in typography for suburban weeklies with circulation over 6,000 went to the Arlington Heights Herald. Commented judges: "For sheer eye appeal the Herald packs a mighty wallop on every page . . . evidence of originality and careful typography. Editorial page layout and typography commands attention."

Second place in best news story for newspapers under 2,000 circulation went to the Wheeling Herald for Ted Smart's coverage of a couple charged with neglecting their children and sentenced to jail because the mother preferred keeping a new car rather than staying home to care for her youngsters. "Too many stories of delinquents are appearing around the country," wrote the judges, "but this one in the Herald is good not only for the article but the editorial, "A Lesson for All" by the same writer that appeared in the second and third columns of the front page."

Third place in classified advertising for newspapers over 4,000 circulation went to the Arlington Heights Herald. The want ad section also won a national award in 1955.

Last October, Paddock Publications won four major newspaper awards from the Illinois Press Association. In April, the National Religious Publicity Council presented its Award of Merit to the suburban newspapers, and last month Stuart R. Paddock was named "Editor of the Year" by the state press association.

Suburb Chain Is Featured In Newsweek

Suburban journalism and its growing importance in newspaper publishing is described this week in a special article in Newsweek magazine, now on newsstands.

"Suburbia's green pastures are where newspapers have been making hay in recent years," writes Newsweek in its Press section. "Although the U. S. newspaper field generally has been shrinking, swarms of suburban weeklies, semi-weeklies — even some dailies — have been thriving on the demand for news of . . . local matters."

The newsmagazine tells the story of "one of the nation's shrewdest merchandisers of local news, venerable Stuart Paddock."

DESCRIBING Paddock Publications as "one of the fastest growing suburban newspaper chains in the U. S.," Newsweek cites the population growth of the Paddock area from 32,000 in 1950 to more than 120,000 in 1959.

Expansion of plant and equipment as well as personnel is outlined in the two-page article which tells how the Paddock papers have converted from country weeklies to "papers patterned along big-city lines."

Summing up the editorial philosophy of publisher Paddock, the magazine quotes him as stating: "The community has to come first in your thinking." (AF

FURNITURE TOWN HAS ETHAN ALLEN

Contemporary Furniture Favorite of Suburbanites

What is the trend today in furniture?

Contemporary styles are in great demand.

So report two Arlington Heights furniture stores, Arlington Furniture Mart, 211 S. State rd., and Schneller Furniture co., 22 S. Dryden.

Contemporary is a middle-of-the-line design, where older designs have been softened to a more modern compromise, explains John Janszen of Arlington Furniture Mart.

In contrast, the modern style is a new concept of design acceptable during this particular period of time.

OTHER STYLES IN demand include the 18th century period and the Danish, which is an open type wood design very adaptable to smaller rooms because of its lack of bulk, usually done in walnut.

In contrast to the Swedish, which is flat in line, the Danish is rounded and molded.

"We've done some of the finest homes in the area," Janszen said, "and we find that young Americans, by virtue of having studied national magazines dealing in home decoration, are much more versed in furniture selection than their parents.

'Their parents and grandparents had no choice perhaps, with only the 18th century period thrown at them. The youngster living in the suburbs today is impressive and interesting. He wants to buy furniture intelligently and any sidetracking he does is caused mainly by economic reasons rather than taste."

JOSEPH SCHNELLER of Schneller Furniture co. has sold furniture for seven years in Chicago and for the past four years in the suburbs. He said the suburbs catered to a better grade of furniture in more expensive lines.

A great deal of functional, correlated, and interchangeable units are sold in the suburbs as opposed to furniture sold in the city, he said. There is more use for it in the suburbs, where there is additional space.

Trends come and go, and Schneller has watched the disappearance of mahogany, which became popular after World War II. It was replaced by limed oak and bleached or grey finishes, and today, he said, the walnut finish is in demand.

Colonial styles are becoming more popular, he added.

For years relegated to dens and youngsters' rooms, the colonial design or adaptations have achieved an increased popularity, due mainly to its functional use and the fact that it is "easy to live with."

Italian provincial was on the way out, but period furniture still appealed to people, not because of snobbishness, this writer was assured. Reason for the appeal was that the graciousness and beauty of design, the soft, livable lines still captured the buyers' desire.

ORIENTAL DESIGNS were only popular spasmodically, but always added excellent accent to a room, and dated at least back to the famous furniture designer of Chippendale, who offered a Chinese motif in furniture years ago.

Modern design dates itself, and once popular finds itself not only outmoded, but recognizable for a specific short period of time, whereas contemporary, being a compromise between the modern and the older design, may last for many years.

This was the analysis of Schneller, who gives programs before clubs and societies on his favorite topic — furniture.

One-third of the estimated $60 million worth of cologne sold in the U. S. in 1958 was bought by men.

Giant Apartment Project Referred

A New York attorney with a retinue of map bearer, secretary, and stenotype operator failed to impress Arlington Heights' village board Monday night, as members moved, in a split vote, to refer the largest apartment project ever contemplated for the village to the zoning board of appeals.

By a three to two vote members declined to hear attorney John V. Lizars' explanation of why the long contested 5.6 acres in Arlingdale subdivision, bewteen Euclid ave. and the North Western railroad tracks, should be rezoned from single-family to multiple-family dwelling use.

At a June 15 meeting board members, by a four to two vote, rejected a plan commission recommendation that the land be rezoned to permit erection of 11 apartment units.

APPEARING before the board for the first time, Lizar's team had barely set up shop with a stenotype machine, map stand, map attendant, and secretary, when Trustees Samuel Witt and Eugene Schlickman voiced doubts as to whether they cared for the atmosphere created by Lizars.

Schlickman moved to refer the matter to the zoning board of appeals. Bill Sauer seconded the motion, and with Samuel Witt's affirmative vote, the three trustees carried the motion over the negative votes of Bob Bukowski and Melvin Kurtz.

THIS ACTION eliminated the necessity of board members acting later in the evening on a letter requesting reconsideration of their June 15 decision in denying the rezoning.

The letter, from J. P. Delaney, attorney for petitioner Arthur R. Thiersch, reminded board members of the time and expense involved should they have to defend the board's action in a court suit. (AF

YMCA Day Camp Pickup At 17 Schools in Area

Seventeen schools in the northwest suburbs will be pickup points for boys and girls 7 to 12 years of age who will attend the Northwest Suburban YMCA "Day Camp Adventure" this summer. This extensive chartered bus coverage will make it convenient for youngsters in the area to take advantage of the YMCA's low-cost day camp without having to cross a major thoroughfare for each daily round trip.

Because the YMCA is a nonprofit organization it offers these services at a nominal cost, so that all youngsters can participate and can be minutes away from a pickup point for "Day Camp Adventure." Towns served are Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove and Des Plaines.

THE FIRST 2-WEEK period begins Tuesday, June 30, and continues each Tuesday through Friday until July 10. The second period is from July 14 to July 24, and the third is scheduled from July 28 through August 7.

"Day Camp Adventure" includes a morning of outdoor recreation at Deer Grove where a reserved shelter is used by the 'Y' and an afternoon of indoor swimming, no matter what the weather, in the Maine high school pool. Each day brings an educational as well as recreational experience in which youngsters learn new skills during their hours of outdoor and swimming fun. Instruction will be given at the pool as part of the daily swimming session. The entire program is under professional YMCA direction.

CAMPERS BRING their own lunch, swimming suit, towel and blanket or cloth for daily rest periods. Milk, swim admissions, craft supplies, insurance and transportation are all included in the 'Y' fee. Further information and a schedule of bus pickup points may be obtained by calling the 'Y' office, Va 4-4156. (B8

Concerts Slated

F. C. Schmoyer, director of the Arlington Area Summer Band, has announced that through the efforts of Joel Carter, program director of the Arlington Heights park district, a series of six concerts have been scheduled for the Summer Concert Band in Recreation park.

The first concert is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, July 4, at 4 p.m. The concerts will continue on a weekly basis except for the week of July 13 when the Barbershop Chorus will present a program.

ALL MEMBERS of the Prospect and Arlington High Schools Concert Bands, college students and other adults of the community are urged to become members of the Summer Concert Band.

The first rehearsal of the season will take place in Room 227, Arlington high school. Access to the school will be through the third door north of Euclid ave., on the Walnut st. side. Rehearsals will begin at 8:15 p.m. During the week of June 22, rehearsals will be held on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. (ACM

Suburbanite Heads Trade Fair Group

A Mt. Prospect resident, Richard Revnes of 414 NaWaTa, has no idle moments these June days in his role of managing director for an exciting event, the 1959 Chicago International Trade Fair.

The event, coupled with the visit of Queen Elizabeth to Chicago, will be held July 3-18 at Navy Pier exhibition hall under the sponsorship of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry to celebrate the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and to promote the new world port of Chicago.

"Chicago and the Midwest will come of age this summer as one of the greatest import areas of this world, with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, the inauguration of jet aviation and the staging of this tremendous International Trade Fair," Revnes asserts.

"The Trade Fair will offer to buyers an unprecedented opportunity to view the most comprehensive display of imported products ever shown under one roof in the United States. In addition, the Fair will attract hundreds of thousands of visitors, thereby increasing public appreciation and creating an unprecedented demand for imported products."

THE FINEST craftmanship from 65 nations will be available to both buyers and public.

"For the general public, Chicago's International Trade Fair will represent an incomparable international bazaar. Many of the exhibitors will sell direct to Fair visitors at retail prices," Revnes explains. "The Fair will also give the USA its first all-international auto show devoted exclusively to import makes.

"And as the final touch there will be a wide choice of free entertainment—nightly fireworks displays, native dancers from far corners of the globe making their debuts in this country, fashion shows, and travel films especially selected by the countries represented," he says.

"Because the St. Lawrence Seaway will make Chicago available to 90 per cent of the world's commercial ships," Revnes continues, "Chicago's position as an export center will double in the next five years."

For almost two years, Revnes and a Chicago staff, assisted by representatives in New York, Washington, the west coast and 12 countries abroad, have been preparing for the 1959 Fair. (ACM

Elk Grove School Board to Study Forest View Plight

Elk Grove's School board will meet June 29 with Forest View district 56 to discuss the possibility of enrolling Forest View's sixth, seventh, and eighth graders next fall.

Forest View, a small district between Elk Grove and Arlington Heights, asked that the junior high pupils be accepted. Some 49 students are involved, 13 eighth graders and 18 each in the sixth and seventh.

At present the Forest View students are grouped into one classroom, similar to the old country school. Elk Grove's board, which had previously indicated a "moral obligation" to the district 56 problem, discussed the matter with visitors to its Monday night meeting.

Dispelling rumors of split sessions in district 59 next fall, President James McKelvey pointed out that there will be about eight vacant classrooms in September and that it would be a great wrong to turn down Forest View's request.

HOWEVER, the board felt that it would also be wrong to accept the students on a one-year basis and send them back. Details of the arrangements will be settled at the June 29 meeting.

There were some vocal objections to the plan Monday night. Several visitors to the meeting stated that they felt the board would be jeopardizing the education of the District 59 students by making the classes more crowded.

Forest View would be responsible for paying tuition and transportation for the junior high pupils.

Board member Gerald Brubaker pointed out that Elk Grove would offer advantages in industrial arts, science, and other subjects. "We are under obligation to educate any child, but first of all our own. If the acceptance of these children will not hurt our own system, we must do it," Brubaker stressed.

IN OTHER board business the district signed a contract with Oscar Miller for transportation for the '59-'60 school year. Miller will receive 47 cents per mile for his buses. This represents an increase of two cents per mile. The board pointed out that this is the first raise in costs in three years and "seemed to be justified." (ACM

New Chairman

Mrs. Sue Cavallo, 7, Oakwood, Elk Grove Village, according to Mrs. Madeline Holmes, president of the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook county, has been appointed as chairman of Elk Grove neighborhood district IV Girl Scouts. Mrs. Cavallo has had many years experience in scouting work and acted in a leadership capacity and chairman in Lake Geneva. She paved the path for girl scouting in the village two years ago when the village was in the early pioneer stages, and has done a tremendous job in organizing brownies, intermediate scouts and senior scouts. "She has earned the above title and is looking forward to her added duties as Neighborhood Chairman of Elk Grove Village," commented Mrs. Homes.

Mt. Prospect

Troop 499 and parents enjoyed a family picnic at Allison Woods May 24. A Court of Awards was held and second class rank badges were presented to the following: Chris Blomberg, Darryl Byl, Carol Cimo, Peggy Knol, Mary Marzano, June Montgomery, Marilyn Pederson, Karen Peterson, Marcia Ross, Janice Schimek, Pamela Sinclair, Barrie Walker and Amy Williams.

A card stunt was used to review the troops activities of the year to their families telling of service projects, fun and second class scouting work. During the afternoon fathers, daughters and older brothers enjoyed playing softball. Mrs. Alex Montgomery directs the troops.

FLY-UP ceremonies for troop 511 were held May 25 in the lovely yard of troop committee chairman Mrs. Donald Long. Eighteen scouts received their Brownie wings from leader, Mrs. Robert Bender and then were presented Girl Scout pins by Mrs. George McNeil who will lead the troop activities next year. An attractive bridge used in the ceremony to depict the girls leaving Brownies and crossing over into Girl Scouts was built for the occasion by one of the troop fathers, Lawrence Swiatek.

The scouts served refreshments of cookies and punch to their guests following the ceremony. The troop enjoyed its last meeting of the year with a cook-out at Camp Pine June 1. Cooking, hiking, songs and games were enjoyed by the girls who were accompanied by the leaders and Mrs. Donald Long and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson.

Prospect Heights

Fifteen Brownies of troop 509 celebrated their fly-up on the afternoon of May 28 out-of-doors at the Hillcrest pond. Mrs. George A. Dombrow, assistant leader, pinned the Brownie wings on the girls as they started to cross the pond bridge. Midway over the bridge, each girl recited a scout law or promise and after crossing, troop leader Mrs. Daniel Coughlin, presented each girl with a scout pin and a friendship book. Cookies and punch was served to the proud girl scouts and their mothers.

A Court of Awards for troop 243 was held Friday, June 5, at the home of Mrs. Kingsley Owen, 203 S. Owen. A luncheon was served to the scouts by members of the troop who were completing their cooking badge. Mrs. James Nail, troop leader, presented the badges and in so doing, advanced 12 girl scouts to first-class rank.

TROOP 608 consisting of 12 second-grade Brownies had their first cook-out on the afternoon of May 27 at the Lake ave. woods. Together with their leaders, Mrs. Clyde House and Mrs. A. Kwiecinski, they prepared their food and played baseball.

On May 8, the seventh grade scouts of troop 113 entertained the second grade brownies of troop 608 for a first-class badge requirement.

Three exciting days were spent at White Pines State park by the members of Intermediate troop 113. The seventh grade girls were accompanied on their pioneer camping outing by Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Sabbitt.

Elk Grove Village

The first Court of Awards for Elk Grove Girl Scout troops, intermediate and senior groups, was held June 8 in the Rupley school auditorium. Neighborhood chairman, Sue Cavallo, presided and troop leaders presented the awards. A musical program and films on camping were the entertainment for the evening. Scouts and guests then enjoyed refreshments.

Palatine

On May 28 Brownie troop 612 held their last meeting of the season at Wheeling Nature center. The Ranger on duty spoke to the girls about conservation and area wild life. They saw the animals and exhibits at the center, then enjoyed a nature hike along the Des Plaines river under the supervision of Mr. Hill, Mrs. Hallquist and Mrs. Bogenberger. Nosebag suppers and "some-mores" completed the day.

A mothers' meeting was held June 4 with Mrs. Paul Vitis and her outgoing committee providing the refreshments. The program for the coming year and long-range plans were discussed. Mrs. Bogenberger was elected chairman of the troop committee for the coming year. Her coworkers will be Mesdames Butram, Null and O'Grady.

Rolling Meadows

Kimball Hill school gym was the scene of the June 2 fly-up and investiture ceremony of troop 268. The girls' parents were guests at the event, organized and conducted by troop leaders, Mrs. Bull and Mrs. Ulreich. The 14 girls invested were: Donna Becker, Susan Bettis, Kathy Bochte, Pamela Bull, Patty Dahl, Patty Jennings, Kim Kasper, Diane Keller, Mary McFall, Cynthia Munn, Linda Sutter, Donna Tessendorf, Linda Ulreich and Gail White. After the ceremony, refreshments were served by Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Sosnowski. For their last meeting, members of the troop held a cook-out at Deer Grove June 6.

GIRL SCOUTS of troop 328 in Arlington Heights surround one of evergreen shrubs they planted in front of the Presbyterian Church directory, 302 N. Duuton, in a gesture of thanks for the use of church facilities.

Atom Scientist Urges New Moral Awareness

The United States government is attempting to make palatable for its people the idea of a "preventive" war fought with "small," "clean" nuclear weapons, according to Dr. William C. Davidon, chairman of the Chicago Atomic Scientists association.

Pleading for greater worldwide awareness of the horrors of thermonuclear warfare, Davidson last week told a group of northwest suburban area ministers and others interested in the arms race that "the morality of attitude toward a third world war has changed from that of previous times of crises."

"Today children can buy models of intercontinental ballistic missiles at the corner drugstore. There's no mass revulsion against the production and continued testing of nuclear weapons as there would have been against poison gas prior to World Wars I and II," said the theoretical physicist.

"How small is a 'small' nuclear weapon? How many people have to die before a 'preventive' war becomes a war? And does anyone think for a minute that a nation with its back against the wall would limit itself to using 'clean' bombs if it had 'dirty' ones?" asked Davidon.

HE INDICTED U.S. leaders for failing their people on the following counts:

—Not portraying an accurate picture of the destructiveness of thermonuclear warfare.

—Not building up public opinion for more determined negotiations in halting nuclear tests.

—Using apparatus known to be inferior in determining if underground nuclear tests can be detected.

In reviewing development of nuclear capabilities, Davidon noted that the 20-kiloton bomb dropped on Nagasaki is now regarded as a "primitive" nuclear weapon, though it multiplied the power of existing explosives by 1,000.

The H-bomb, first exploded in 1952, multiplied the Nagasaki bomb by 1,000. Thus the power of conventional explosives has been multiplied by a million in the past 15 years.

TO PUT IT another way, TNT containing the energy equivalent to one 20-megaton bomb would fill 4,000 miles of frieght cars—a line which would extend from Los Angeles to New York and almost back to Denver. One thermonuclear bomb in the low megaton range releases more destructive energy than that released by all of the bombs dropped on Germany and Japan during World War II.

"With less than 15 minutes required to deliver a missile with a nuclear warhead thousands of miles, our time is precious, said Davidon, now with Argonne National Laboratory.

And such time, he said, will be drastically reduced as possessors of nuclear weapons increase. While the United States, Great Britain, and the Soviet Union are presently the only known possessors of such weapons, France's detonation of a nuclear bomb is imminent, he said.

DAVIDON also warned that Red China is working feverishly toward the same goal. He noted that the country recently exploded a mass equivalent to 9,000 tons of TNT, presumably chemical, but twice as large as any previously known chemical explosion.

Never in mankind's history have offensive capabilities so outstripped defense mechanisms, said Davidon, a co-author of "1970 Without Arms Control."

He cited the concept of massive deterrents as "unrealistic and merely contributing to tensions." Lacking a tangible defense against thermonuclear welfare, the United States must lead the world into seeking new and imaginative actions to insure peace, he urged.

Davidon criticized scientists, ministers, educators, and others in a position to mold public opinion for committing "intellectual incest."

"Many of these people realize the implications of continued nuclear testing and armament, but they share their concern with one another, instead of voicing it to the public," he said.

AN INFORMED public could insist that its leaders enter wholeheartedly into disarmament negotiations. Such action would definitely influence the world's uncommitted millions, who in turn would look to the Soviet Union to follow suit, Davidon argued.

He suggested as a positive action the immediate establishment of a worldwide monitoring system for detecting nuclear tests. This should be done unilaterally by the United States, if necessary, he said.

Such a network would require at least a year to build and put into operation, and could be undertaken while negotiations are continuing. Davidon compared to the cost of $100,000 per monitoring station to the $100 million or more spent on designing an aircraft, which may or may not be produced.

The daylong peace conference held north of Arlington Heights, was sponsored by the Glenbrook Ministerial association and the American Friends Service committee.

DR. WILLIAM C. DAVIDON, chairman of the Chicago Atomic Scientists association ,addresses area ministers and interested laymen on "Modern Weapons and the Arms Race.". Our civilization, Davidon told his audience, must find the moral armament to demand the halting of nuclear weapons tests. (B-8

TWO OF THE FLEET of KC-135 jet refueling tankers stand ready at Offutt AFB, Neb., ready for any mission they might be called upon by Strategic Air Command. The KC-135's now play an important role in SAC since they give added range to the B-47 which has limited range unless it has an aerial gas station which can transfer 100,000 pounds of fuel in 10 minutes.

Strategic Air Command Is Alerted for Combat

by BOB BUCHANAN

A fellow reporter asked me the other day, "Why should a suburban newspaper be interested in how SAC operates?"

I didn't have any ready answers for him right then. I do now, after returning from a one-day tour of Strategic Air Command headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha, Neb.

I found out that SAC is prepared to wage a war, the type of which no American has ever seen. It is the type of war, as SAC generals view it, that no one ever hopes to become a part of.

THIS TYPE OF WAR is the closest man has come to "push-button" warfare. Advanced as it is, Strategic Air Command still must depend upon its 260,000 man force spread throughout the Free world.

When I say SAC is prepared, I mean it. A nuclear bomb could wipe out SAC's three story, block square headquarters off the face of the earth and SAC would still be in business controlling its B-52 bombers on retaliation missions throughout the world.

Buried beneath tons of reinforced concrete 45 feet underneath its headquarters building is SAC's command post. The command post is self-sufficient regardless of the "hell" that might exist above on man's earth. Buried in this $10,000,000 hole is, to use an example, everything which man would need to exist just as if he were in outer space.

MOST IMPORTANT, SAC has its communications network intact. Telephone, radio and teletype are its life-blood. By merely picking up the receiver of a red telephone, the headquarters can be in instantaneous contact with SAC bases from Africa to England to GAUM. There's no security on this telephone, but when and if the time comes, security will no longer be necessary to activate this nation's bomber force.

And why should be suburbanites be concerned about such a command post? If the enemy drops a nuclear bomb on the Chicago area, it's not going to help us.

Yet, SAC's command post affects us no end. It may be one reason why you and I are alive today.

"IT'S NOT WHAT the American people think of SAC," remarked General Thomas S. Power, SAC commander, "it's what Krushchev thinks of SAC that counts. If he thought his forces could render us helpless, he might be willing to try. Just what is the deterrent point is the question. Even I do not know."

Power, a confident man who is 54 years old today, cited four reasons why it is difficult to keep this deterrence to the point where Krushchev will think twice. The four points were: 1, advance of military technology; 2, increased Soviet defense capability; 3, compression of time, and 4, the survivability of SAC to retaliate.

The compression of time, Power said, is one of the most vital where hours have now been compressed into minutes. With missiles coming into the picture, warning time has reduced vastly.

SAC ONLY HOPES for 15 minutes warning time in order to get one-third of its bomber force into the air to combat any sneak attack. One-third of SAC's B-52's and B-47 bombers and KC-135's and KC-97 refueling tankers are on alert at a moment's notice.

Though missiles may go faster and not be knocked down as fast as bombers, they have their shortcomings, the general remarked. Once a missile has been fired, it cannot be recalled.

If SAC, which is only a user of warning supplied for NorAD, received an alert, General Power has the authority to dispatch alert force bombers.

THIS PERMITS the retaliatory force to be airborne before an enemy strikes and gives SAC "positive control" over its strike force. If the bombers fail to obtain further word over a designated point, far short of enemy territory, they return to base. If bombers receive the "go" signal, they head for enemy targets.

General Power can put SAC's bombers in the air but only the President can give the order to attack. The waiting period is SAC's "positive control" between takeoff and further word.

This is not possible with a missile. The missile must first wait out the enemy attack in specially built underground firing pits before they can be fired. Already one operational Atlas squadron has been assigned to Vandenberg AFB where launching pads are under construction.

GENERAL POWER believes that a balanced force of missiles and manned bombers can today offer the deterrence necessary to stave off a nuclear war.

Already U.S. taxpayers have given SAC an $11 billion inventory of "hardware" possessed can only be realized when compared to today's Cook county assessed real estate valuation of $14 billion.

THE PEOPLE of this country, said General Power, make the policy on how much they will spend for deterrence. The general compared SAC and the military to peace as an auto insurance policy is to an accident.

SAC's commander hopes the "insurance policy" never need be used. If nuclear war breaks out, General Power said, "Man will reach the highest degree of stupidity." Suburbanites hope that the general is right and that man will never be that stupid. (A13

MOST IMPORTANT PHONE—The famous "Red Telephone"—key to the primary alerting system in SAC Headquarters' underground Command Post—rests on the desk of the senior controller. By picking up this phone, the controller can be placed in instantaneous voice contact with every SAC Command Post at bases throughout the world.

UNDERGROUND CONTROL CENTER—Buried far below the earth is the Strategic Air Command's single most important building—the three-story control center built of reinforced concrete and containing this 140-foot-long operations control room. Along one wall of the 39-foot-wide and 21-foot-high room are floor-to-ceiling panels containing maps, charts and other data required in SAC's daily operations or, should an emergency arise, to carry out emergency war plans. The huge panels, suspended at the top and mounted on wheels at the bottom, can be moved the length of the room as required.

Summer Park Activities Brought Closer to Home

by JOEL CARTER

This summer's recreation program has been spread out to neighborhood parks to put the activities closer to the children's homes. The smaller parks do not have adequate facilities for all the activities but those events which can be held on a neighborhood playground are scheduled there.

The neighborhood parks are scattered throughout the village. Virginia park is in the northwest section at the Virginia Terrace subdivision on Thomas st. Greens park is on Olive at Douglas, and Evergreen park is in the neighborhood of the same name and is a narrow strip of land between Reuter and St. James sts. about a block off Wilke rd.

Handicrafts workshops are being held there at an open picnic table. Although they must be cancelled on rainy days the recreation is there for the smaller kids who can't go all the way to either Recreation or Pioneer park our two community type parks. Handicraft is offered to 6 to 8 and 9 to 12 year olds in separate classes.

BATON TWIRLING and marching is taught by Arlington high majorette, Judy Schmoyer, who holds her classes in the open at the smaller parks.

John Daniels, the tumbling and trampoline supervisor will use a boat trailer to haul the trampoline and tumbling mats to the neighborhood locations. The grassy plots are ideal spots for his gymnastic stunts.

A playground supervisor will be at Westgate and Virginia parks on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. On Tuesdays and Thursdays Evergreen and Greens parks will be staffed with these adult leaders who will lead games, issue equipment and organize activities.

TRYOUTS FOR the park district swimming team will begin on Monday. The practices will be held at Pioneer pool daily at 5:15 p.m. under the coaching of George Olson, Northwestern university's aquatic ace. Olsen plans dual meets with Des Plaines and other nearby park districts leading up to the Northwest park district meet in late July. Arlington Heights has won this meet for the past two years and another strong team is expected this year.

The adult swimming class starts this week and will be held each Saturday at 10 a.m. Grown-ups who have never learned to swim are invited to join. Most people feel ill at ease taking up such a skill at a mature age, but everyone in the class will be in the same boat so take the big step and join up.

GEORGE HARRIS

Next Sunday, June 21, is the date — the event is Father's day. "Dear Old Dad," like everyone else, likes to be remembered. Naturally, he'll argue that it doesn't mean a thing, but don't let him kid you girls, Dad likes to be remembered on "his" day.

You'll find a marvelous selection of gifts for Dad at Harris Pharmacy. There are Cigars, Cigarettes, Pipes, Smoking Tobacco, Cameras, Men's After-Shave Lotion and so many items that will make Dad "one happy man." You may also choose a very sentimental greeting or one just a little on the humorous side. Of course, the greeting card will be from Hallmark. You know, Dad is a pretty handy sorta' guy to have around the house, so let's all remember him next Sunday. Incidentally, this goes for you kids also. Remember Dad is your pal and a very nice guy to have for a friend.

I'm certain that "good old dad" will be appreciative of the gifts he receives, so be sure and see that Sunday, June 21, is truly Father's Day at your house.

High Income Level Is Set In Hasbrook

Homebuyers with income levels averaging $13,000 have been the rule rather than the exception since Hasbrook Construction co., Inc., Arlington Heights, introduced its new models three weeks ago.

According to Albert E. Riley, president, this is more than $4,000 more than the average income level of previous purchasers at Hasbrook.

In addition, he reported that 87 per cent of the 31 home purchasers during the past three weeks have made downpayments ranging from $6,000 to $12,000.

The company's two models sell for $21,495 and $20,495.

HE OBSERVED THAT most fo the new homebuyers are mid-management executives of companies located throughout the Arlington Heights and Chicagoland area. Many have recently been transferred here by their companies. (A

Old Diary To Be Read At Meeting

Wouldn't you like to know what went on in this area in the year 1855? That's 104 years ago.

Mrs. J. A. Zimmerman will read excerpts from her grandfather's diary, dated 1855, on Friday evening, June 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Building.

Frederick Roziene (Rosine), Mrs. Zimmerman's grandfather, was born in Sweden in 1837, and came to America when he was 18. He worked on the Dunton farm in Elk Grove, keeping a day to day diary of his activities.

THE HISTORICAL Society of Arlington Heights will be happy to welcome to its meetings anyone interested in the history of the Arlington Heights area.

This program should be of outstanding interest, as the diary gives first hand facts and thoughts of life here 104 years ago. (A

Virginia Terrace News

Virginia and Dean Arnold, 1410 N. Race, were recently entertained by friends who took them to dinner at the Red Carpet in Chicago, after which they enjoyed a performance of "The Music Man."

Juanita and John Baker, 1426 N. Race, and their children, Christine, Steven, Kathy and Sally, will bid Virginia Terrace a fond farewell this weekend, when they move to their new home at 1335 Reynolds dr., Winston Park Northwest, Palatine.

Another recent graduate was Douglas, son of Corrine and Don Green, 1330 N. Race. After the ceremonies at Wilson school, which his aunt, Mrs. Hilda Bladholm, and cousins, Joan and Wayne, Flossmoor, were able to attend, all returned to the Green home for refreshments, which Douglas' brother, Tommy, also enjoyed.

Sunday Corrine and Don hosted a dinner party in Douglas' honor, which was attended by aunts, uncles and cousins, among whom were the Chester Couvillion family, Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Semrau, Ivanhoe.

JEANNINE, DAUGHTER of Jeannine and John Kearney, 1413 N. Wilke, has just returned from a wonderful 2-week vacation trip to New York city, as well as parts of Maine and Vermont, which she enjoyed with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hulka, Berwyn.

Jeannine, not quite 10, related her story to this reporter herself as such: the scenery and view in general were thoroughly enjoyed, as was the entire trip by car, and while in New York she remembers particularly visiting the Empire State building, the ferry ride across to the Statue of Liberty, the bus tour of York city, and her visit to St. John cathedral.

A combination birthday party was given for Michael and Mary Kay, children of Dorothy and Bill Henneman, 1200 N. Chicago, who celebrated their ninth and eighth birthdays, respectively, last Saturday. Their guests, among whom were Terry, Michael, Dinnis and Jimmy Reichert, Ray and Jim Ostler, Charles and Jennifer Marshall, Felicity Frisbie, Carol Kuhl, Leslie Bewley and Marianne Brown, as well as several schoolmates of each and their cousins from Chicago, first enjoyed a barbecue picnic lunch, after which Bill took them all to the Prospect theatre, each with a bag of candy in tow, to see the matinee showing of "White Feathers." Lunch had been concluded with birthday cake and ice cream, and Michael and Mary Kay's sisters, Patricia Diane, Christine and Eileen, shared in that part of the festivities.

Mrs. Irene Lumgair, and son, Douglas, arrived Tuesday from their home in San Diego, Cal., for a month's visit with Mary and Paul Kale, 1322 N. Illinois, and their daughter, Nancy. While here, Mrs. Lumgair and Douglas will also visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krumbein, Oak Park.

LAST SUNDAY, Richard Larson, 1245 N. Illinois, took his 4-year-old son, Tommy, up in their airplane and headed for Wood-side ranch, Mauston, Wis. Having left at dawn, they arrived in time for breakfast, which was served, according to Tommy, by the cowboys. They then had a great time on a tractor-driven hayrack ride and Tommy had a pony ride. Before heading for home, they went for a swim in the big pool. The big thrill of the day for Tommy came while on the flight home, when his dad, for the first time, let him apply fingertip control over the plane's steering gear.

A 3-day visit at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Swisher, Willow Springs, was concluded for Albert, son of Evelyn and Albert Schmidt, 1321 N. Illinois, on his birthday, June 10. His mother and sister, Ann, arrived that day to enjoy the festivities. Before returning home, the family, which also included Albert's cousins, had dinner, concluded with birthday cake and ice cream. Albert's many gifts consisted of boy scout equipment needed for his contemplated trip to camp at the end of this month.

Jeanette and Bob Westmark, 1252 N. Chicago, and their children, Judy, Patty, Cheryl Ann, Bobby, Kathy and Gary, said their goodyes last Friday before departing for Dubuque, where they will spend their vacation prior to heading for their new home in Plainview, Long Island, N.Y., where Bob was recently transferred by his employers.

LAST, BUT NOT least, of the graduates to be mentioned is Cassandra, daughter of Lorraine and Ray Kunstman, 1309 N. Chicago. A party held in her honor the night of graduation was attended by her maternal grandparents, Mrs. Mary Schlicht, Chicago, and Joseph Schlicht, Arlington Heights, godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kunstman, and their daughter, Christine, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Anderson, Northbrook, and other relatives.

Betty and Bob Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, and their children, Jimmy and Roger, enjoyed a 4-day visit from Betty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Deutsch, St. Louis, who considered it very cold here compared to St. Louis' temperatures.

Hal and Herb Trowe, 1240 N. Chicago, entertained relatives and friends Sunday afternoon in honor of the third birthdays of their twin girls, Peggy and Martha. A buffet supper was enjoyed by the twins' Great grandmother Clemenson, aunt and and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sorenson, Rockford, their cousin, Diane, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, Chicago, Dee and Al Perry, and their children, Joey and Susan, and Doris and Arnold Silver, Mrs. Laura Belle Wolf, and aunt, Mrs. Harry Anderson, and cousins, Kristin and Mark, who are presently visiting the Trowes from Rockford.

After supper, they lit candles on two cakes, each bearing three candles. Peggy and Martha also received assistance from their brother, Bradley, sister, Barbara and playmate, Jill Rix.

DEBORAH, DAUGHTER of Shirle and Robert Husted, 1610 W. Olive, celebrated her eighth birthday over the weekend at a family dinner party. Here for the occasion was her maternal grandmother, Mrs. John Wilson, Forest Park, and her sojourn over the 3-day weekend was also enjoyed by her grandsons, Robert and John as well.

New residents of the Terrace are Patricia and William Ross, 1252 N. Chicago, and their children, Billy and Cynthia. Although Long Island is where they consider it home, they moved here directly from St. Louis, where they had lived for two years before being transferred once again by Bill's employers, Vogue Dolls, Inc., Medford, Mass.

Just having one side of the family really makes up a party as far as Esther and Andy Turner, 1525 Clarendon, are concerned, as Sunday they entertained 42 of Andy's relatives at a barbecue picnic supper. The Turner children, Jill and Steve had a busy time for themselves also, as it was up to them to entertain their many cousins. Guests of honor were Andy's mother, Mrs. Emily Turner, La Grange, and Esther's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leonard, Franklin Park.

GERRY WILLIAMS, 1215 N. Race, who will soon leave the Terrace, was guest of honor at a cocktail party recently at the home of Mrs. Dawn Bergin, Arlington Heights. Following the party at which Gerry received many gifts, the group, composed of many of Gerry's friends from Arlington Heights, went on to have dinner at the Evergreens, Dundee.

A dinner party for Gerry was held last week at the home of Mrs. Muriel Mundy, Arlington Heights, who has been her employer for the past months, and was attended by all of Gerry's co-workers at the shop. Gerry says not only was the party itself much appreciated, but the gifts presented to her at the time as well.

Last, but not least, is the proud announcement by Kay and Don Jacobsen, 1210 N. Race, that their seventh baby arrived in Resurrection hospital, Chicago, June 15, Nancy, as she has been named, weighed 8 pounds, and she and her mother are doing fine. Grandmother Jacobsen, Chicago, and a niece, Rita Haas, Whiting, Ind., are busy at home caring for Nancy's brothers, Bill, Jack, Jim and Joseph, and sisters, Joan and Carol. (A

A long awaited weekend of camping became a reality for Bobby Anderson last weekend, when his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lilja and son, Steven, invited him to go camping with them along the Rock river.

Mike Grismer enjoyed the many cards and gifts he received during his recent illness.

The 18th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dahl was celebrated Sunday with dinner at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton. Their daughter and friends, the Norman Plambecks, joined in the celebration.

A SWIMMING party and barbecue was held at the E. A. Herzog home June 5 for the patrol boys and girls. Mrs. Miller and Miss Kershner also attended the party.

Tippy Herzog, his grandfather and father are heading for Canada this week for a vacation of fishing.

The Robert Hutching family and Peter Loy enjoyed a picnic and outing at Lake Zurich last Wednesday. Sunday dinner guests of the Hutchings were Etta Krueger and Mrs. Vivian Hagie of Glenview.

Joy Koenig graduated from Arlington high school June 4. June 7 a graduation party for family and friends was held at the Koenig home, at which time they announced Joy's engagement to Dan Reilly.

Mary Lou Larson is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. S. Larson, in Chicago this week.

THE CARROL CARTER family went to Rockford this weekend to attend a cousin reunion picnic of the Carter family. The day was highlighted by telephone calls from the more distant relatives who could not attend.

Celebrating her seventh birthday last Tuesday afternoon was Laura Palmer. Games, birthday cake and ice cream made up an afternoon of fun, which was enjoyed by Linnea Milbrodt, Linda Koepke, Margie Hanke and Patty Martinak.

A reunion of Mrs. Bernard Olson's family was the reason for their trip to Wautoma, Wis. last Saturday. After spending Friday night with Mrs. Olson's parents, the John Jolings, at Wisconsin Rapids, they drove back to Wautoma for the picnic on Saturday and thence home that evening. Sunday found the Stanley Luczak family entertaining friends and relatives with a lawn party. Those enjoying the picnic and swimming were the Culley Berlins, Till Foys Bill Schewrins, Charley Kleinofens, Frank Luczaks, James Luczaks and the Len Arnolds. (A

Six Court Actions Involve Village

Arlington Heights is presently involved in six court actions, five of them involving zoning or building questions.

Of primary importance as far as village officials are concerned is the village's attempt to remove Consumers company's ready mix cement operation from its location alongside Northwest hwy.

The $200,000 business, contends the village, is a zoning violation and a traffic hazard. The company argues its operation is a legal nonconforming use. In the courts since 1956, a final decision is expected on the matter next month, according to the village attorney.

A SECOND ACTION involves the placing of septic tanks on lots of less than 22,000 square feet, the minimum required by village ordinance. The plaintiff, H. R. Jacobsen, a builder, owns 22 lots of approximately 15,000 square feet each in the vicinity of Salem blvd. and Watling st. on which he wishes to place septic tanks. He contends the village board has the power in hardship cases to waive minimum requirements for septic tanks.

A master-in-chancery's report is being awaited concerning suit by the LaSalle National bank to rezone the southwest corner of Thomas st. and State rd. from single family dwelling to commercial and multiple family use. A gas station is contemplated for the site.

Another suit, set for hearing July 7, concerns a petition to rezone from single family dwelling to multiple unit a lot near the corner of Dryden and Foundry rds.

THE QUESTION of a building permit for erection of a Masonic Lodge adjacent to Stonegate is still under consideration by a master-in-chancery. Extension of the permit is being considered by the village board.

In the sixth court action involving Arlington Heights the plaintiff seeks $6,000 plus interest since 1932 on the contention she was never paid for special assessment bonds sold by the village. A defense has been filed, and the village attorney is awaiting a hearing date. (AF

Remove Stop Signs From Intersection

The removal this week of stop signs from Evergreen and Dunton sts. where they intersect with Davis st. in downtown Arlington Heights is designed for a smoother flow of traffic, according to Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

Removal of the signs makes Evergreen and Dunton through [illegible]s from Campbell st. north across the railroad tracks.

The signs on Davis st. warning of through traffic are temporary until people get used to the change, said Hansen.

RIGOLETTO, in the form of William A. Fricke, 103 S. Waterman, Arlington Heights, pleads with northwest area residents for support of newly formed opera company in village. Twenty-five opera enthusiasts met at Fricke's home last week. The group needs more singers, both chorus and leads. The next rehearsal is Friday, June 26. Plans are being made for a fall performance of Verdi's "The Masked Ball."

Coin-Metered Laundromat Opens in Arlington Hts.

Starting Friday, June 19 homemakers in the northwest suburban area will have convenient, efficient laundry facilities at their disposal. That's the date for grand opening of the new R&E Laundromat, located 114 S. Dryden place, half a block south of the Arlington Market.

In order to introduce neighbors to their new Laundromat, owners Earl and Ruth Mustain will offer three free washes for two days, Friday and Saturday, June 12 and 13, between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

THE R&E Laudromat will be unattended and coin-metered, and will remain open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week—including Sundays and holidays—in order toprovide modern convenience for working people and busy housewives who can do their laundry only after normal business hours.

The owners have provided the citizens of the Arlington area with complete, modern laundry facilities, including 30 washers, seven dryers, 25 pound washer, extractor, starch bowl, coffee and soft drink vending machines, soap and bleach dispensers, coin changers, continuous music, and a play pen.

The new laundromat offers its customers many benefits. First, and most important, it provides all the advantages of doing the laundry at home—with none of the disadvantages. Customers can simultaneously use as many washers and dryers as they need in order to do an entire family wash—thus enabling them to finish a week's laundry in less than an hour. The store also provides plenty of hot, rain-soft water which, in turn, means cleaner, whiter washes as well as a saving on soap or detergent. Because the new Laudromat has no attendants and the customers do-it-themselves, they will save as much as 50 per cent each week on their laundry. Prices will be 25 cents for a 9-lb. washer load; 10 cents for 10 minutes of drying time.

In the Beginning, Just Prairies, Pottawatomies

(This is the first of a series titled "The Prairie That Bloomed Into a Village," the story of the birth and growth of Arlington Heights, which the diligent efforts of the Arlington Heights Historical society, headed by Theodore Militzer, have made possible.)

In the beginning, there was the prairie. Acre after acre of tall prairie grass waved their tasseled heads on the level plain of northern Illinois.

There was rich soil, if it could be worked, but the early New Englanders who came by horse and by mule, by ox carts, by stage coach and by covered wagons didn't understand the land.

Mother earth refused to be plowed by the ordinary methods of New England farmers. There was a two-foot sod that resisted the most stubborn efforts of the hardworking easterners.

But after the first wave of New England men and women who had come westward in search of land, the country was flooded with a second wave of people who came from beyond the Atlantic, who fled from the failure of the revolution of 1848 in Germany to a home in "der goldene laand of Amerika."

THE EARLY German-Americans hired out as farm hands to the New England pioneers and their canny knowledge of the land soon overcame their handicap of being foreign to the country. It was not many decades later that the land passed into the hands of the German-American toilers of the soil.

But in the beginning, there had been only the prairie and the earliest Americans of all—the redskinned Indian.

He made his home in the area surrounding what is now Arlington Heights. His tepees rested on what presently is Elk Grove, Deer Grove, Buffalo Grove and Northfield.

The Potawatomie Indian was ever fearful of attack from hostile natives. Over and over again the Potawatomies burned the long prairie grass of the area now known as Arlington Heights. Everything swept before the torch, including trees, prairie grass, rabbits, partridges . . . all fled for their lives.

For the Potawatomies dreaded the enemy and wanted no enemy scouts lurking in the tall grass, in search of Indian scalps. Even today, to the north of Arlington Heights, to the east and to the west huge, old trees can be found. But nowhere in the Arlington Heights area did the protective brush fires of Potawatomies allow a living thing to stand erect. The fire burnt and vegetable and animal life vanished.

THEN CAME THE Great Treaty of 1833, and the Potawatomie was swept back west of the Mississippi, giving up his land to the white man. Off trudged the redskin down the Indian trails made by his moccasins, trekking down what is now State road, as they came from Wheeling township and Elk Grove to travel north to what is now Rand road, leading to the Fox river, Lake Zurich, and other lakes to the Northwest.

Down what is River road they came, down Milwaukee avenue, known then as the Chicago Milwaukee road, and heavily traveled by stage coach. All of these Indian trails heard the tread of the Potawatomies as they fled their homes to push westward of the Mississippi.

The federal government had made the treaty and ceded Northern Illinois to the state of Illinois, making a slight miscalculation in its reckoning—merely a few degrees of error in latitude.

By this error, all of northern Illinois intended to become a part of Wisconsin slipped accidentally into the back yard of the state to the south.

The land, freed of Indians, was now ripe for conquest by the white man. Hundreds of acres were begging to be plowed.

AND FROM THE east began the long trek as news leaked out of land to be had for the asking. Among the westward-bound Americans seeking their fortune was Asa Dunton.

Asa came from Oswego, N.Y. A first rate stone cutter, he and his wife and his two sons, William H. and James, settled in what is now Deer Grove in March, 1836.

The stone cutter had heard of the stone quarries in Lemont, and it was here in the St. Peter's sandstone area that he made a living for his small family. It has been said that he cut stone for the first school built in Chicago at Madison and Dearborn.

William was 17 at the time and James was only 14. When William was 25 years old in 1844, he became a homesteader and staked out a claim to what was later to become the very heart of Arlington Heights.

The ambitious lad, however, had not forgotten his childhood sweetheart in the east. He traveled back to Oswego, N. Y., where he married Miss Alameda Wood and returned with his bride to work his claim.

In his land claim, he had staked out an area from Euclid to Sigwalt and from Highland avenue to Douglas (to use modern street names).

NOW, IN 1845, a young man of promise, he and his young bride came to live in a home he built on what is now State road and the Northwest highway. (One remnant of this old frame house, which was one-story high on its north end and two stories high at its side end, still stands at 715 N. Pine).

It was no log cabin affair. The planks came from Michigan, for a harbor had been opened on the south shore of Lake Michigan, and sawn planks came into Chicago regularly by boat.

From Chicago, Dunton hauled the planks by wagon over the dirt Indian trails for about 25 miles to the site where he had decided to stake his future.

Now, the transplanted easterner looked about his land and saw that it was good. A railroad was planning to build a line to Galena, where the lead mines were unusually productive.

Young Dunton toyed with an idea. At length, he made up his mind. It was a brilliant stroke, for things began to happen.

In 1854, he donated a 16-acre strip of land to the Illinois and Wisconsin railroad, deflecting the railroad's course two miles away from its original plan, and creating a now suddenly valuable piece of property on his homestead. At the same time, he subdivided his property, roughly laying out the principal streets.

During the same year, Dr. Fred Miner, who had given up his practice of medicine built a general store.

No money traded hands at this store. It was all barter. People streamed into the Dunton area to bring their farm produce into the Miner store, and to receive in return the manufactured goods that the former doctor brought from Chicago. They came from Elk Grove and Deer Grove with their homespun treasure and brought home the best of Chicago's goods.

SHORTLY AFTER William Dunton acquired his homestead, his brother, James, staked out his own land, north of Euclid, including 60 acres east of State to what is now Douglas and 40 acres directly south of Euclid to Foundry road and east of Douglas to Dryden.

Prairie grass still waved tall tasseled heads in this area, but now the horse and wagon was beginning to become a familiar sight in Dunton's subdivision, which at first had been called Elk Grove. Elk Grove was the name of the railroad station in the town, and Elk Grove was the name of the post office which sprouted overnight in William Dunton's house, and of which Asa became postmaster in 1855.

The town's name soon, however, became known as Dunton, for everywhere his influence and planning was evident. It was he who had had a vision in 1844, he who had staked his claim there, built his home in 1845, who had persuaded the railroad giant to swing aside. It was Dunton who laid the groundwork for the basic village that was yet to grow and develop.

INDIANS WERE gone now forever, and in their places, the white man was carving a homeland out of the rich, fallow land. No more would the prairie fires sweep through the area and make it even more desolate and wild.

Gone was the once-in-awhile mail delivered on horseback by Rush Miner during those early days. Homes and stores would soon spring up, and in their wake, places of worship would soon replace the occasional circuit riders who came on horseback to preach the gospel.

The prairie was afire, but it was a spiritual torch that burned now, carried aloft by men from faraway New England farms and by men who came from across the seas to escape political persecution.

In the second installment of the series, "The Prairie That Bloomed Into a Village," the author will reveal a first-hand account of those early pioneer days when Dunton founded what is now Arlington Heights. Highlights of a diary written by the Norwegian farmhand hired by Dunton, and only recently translated from the Norwegian into English, will be told in this saga of Arlington Heights. The diary will be read in greater detail during the next meeting of the Arlington Heights Historical society on Friday, June 26).

FOUNDER AND PIONEERS of Arlington Heights are these elders of the First Presbyterian church during the mid 19th century. From the left, top, are: E. A. Allen and John Fleming. From left, bottom, are: J. N. Olmstead and William H. Dunton, church secretary and founder of the town, which, for a time, bore his name.

BIRTH OF VILLAGE is shown in this 1854 map of what is now Arlington Heights, but previously known as Dunton, and as the map indicates perhaps "Bradley," a highly controversial possibility. If one studies the map closely, he will see W. H. Dunton's name on it, and in his writing, the name Bradley scratched out and "Dunton" placed in its stead. Maybe an afterthought, but at present this is highly problematic. Boundaries indicated above reveal what is now Euclid on the north, Sigwalt on the south, Highland on the west and State on the east. Streets already marked off and spelled out on the map are "Vail," "Dunton" and "Prairie," now Evergreen.

Refrigerator Celebrates Anniversary

Rolling Meadows refrigerator recently received a cake in the mail. Not a cake of ice, but a birthday cake.

It was mailed from Frostproof, Fla., and had no frosting.

It seems that a year ago Frigidaire first introduced a new Frost-Proof refrigerator that freezes without frosting. One of the very first produced was acquired by Harold L. Henson, of 2101 Cardinal drive.

RECENTLY A package was delivered to his home. It contained a cake and a candle. The accompanying message said:

"Just about a year ago your refrigerator helped make history. It was one of the very first Frost-Proof units sold in the United States. Since then 100,000 happy families have installed this revolutionary type of Frigidaire refrigerator.

"But yours was one of the first. So why not have a party for it?" (A

PLANS CALL FOR a late summer opening for this artist's sketch of the Red Owl supermarket to be constructed at the intersection of Northwest hwy. and St. James st. in Arlington Heights. The store will include such innovations as a complete delicatessen department with hot and cold foods ready to eat, and a home-style bakery featuring pies baked in the store. Location of the store was determined after extensive consumer surveys, analysis of the community's buying habits, and an aerial reconnaissance to study traffic pattern and concentration of housing.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

The G. A. Martins, 1409 N. Yale, are home from a week's vacation in Kentucky, where they camped in the State parks. Sandwiched in between sightseeing in Natural Bridge State Park, Cumberland Gap and the Jefferson Memorial, they visited friends and relatives in Lexington. Their trip was cut short, however, when one of the children became ill and they had to come home.

Rob House, son of the D. F. Houses, 1120 N. Harvard, had Douglas Fischer of Northbrook for his guest over the weekend. The boys attend St. John Military academy in Delafield, Wis., Rob just finishing his first year there.

Col. and Mrs. Orne Smith and their three children have been visiting his sister and brother-in-law, the Carl V. Palmers, 1023 W. Burgoyne. When the Smiths went to Minneapolis to visit his family, they left their daughter, Jackie, here with Karen, which was a treat for both girls. The Smiths returned from Minneapolis Tuesday and spent the rest of the week with the Palmers before returning to their home in Atlanta.

It was a complete surprise to the W. A. Rademachers, 1105 N. Princeton, when they attended the graduation at Bradley university in Peoria and learned that Rick was graduating with distinction.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Things have been buzzing at the Ernest O. Rosses, 818 N. Princeton. Jim Koukl spent the week with Bob and to celebrate Bob's 12th birthday Tuesday Mrs. Ross took them to Riverview. The day was quite a success.

Much to the regret of Bob and Jim, his parents came Sunday to take him back home.

Saturday night the Rosses joined friends for dinner and dancing at the Polynesian room of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

After 12 years at 716 N. Patton, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Kazmer moved to their new home in Algonquin, situated on the Fox rive. Mrs. Kazmer says the view from their living room window was lovely enough to sell them on the house. Their friends and neighbors are missing them already.

With the St. James bridge and canasta tournament coming to an end for the summer, the Vince Cunninghams, 802 N. Harvard, joined the many families who attended a potluck supper Saturday night at the Legion hall. The next day the Cunningham family attended the St. James Cub Scout picnic at Deer Grove. With baseball, sack races and tugs of war, there was plenty of entertainment for everyone.

The Jerry Mockenhaupts, 818 N. Havard, are getting to be authorities on graduations. Mary graduated from St. James and John was among the Arlington high graduates this month. The entire family went to the University of Illinois over the weekend, where Doug graduated with high honors in mechanical engineering.

There was a family celebration at the Richard P. Balkins, 832 N. Ridge, celebrating Mr. Balkin's birthday Tuesday.

The Lawrence Fischers, 1021 N. Race, were at Navy Pier June 12, when their son, Lawrence Jr., received his degree from the University of Illinois school of pharmacy.

Former Arlington Heighters, the Casey Gordons came up from Frankfort, Ky., over the weekend and visited friends here. Wally Friker, son of the Gene Frikers, 713 N. Patton, went back with them as Ronnie's guest for a week. Ken Friker, who graduated from Arlington high June 4, is off to Camp Eagle Crest near Eagle River, Wis., where he will be a counsellor for the summer.

When the Bud Greys, 817 N. Yale, drove to New Hampshire to get son, Tom, from Dartmouth, they put 2300 miles on their car. Although Mr. Grey had seen the campus before, it was the first time for the rest of the family and they were much impressed. they came home by way of Niagara Falls to add more interest to their trip.

With graduation over, Gail Gaenzle chose Saturday to have a party for 22 classmates from St. James. A barbecue and all the trimmings was held in the back yard, after which there was dancing in the basement. Gail's parents are the Burt O. Gaenzles, 1016 N. Harvard.

GEORGE AND LIL Lurtz, 909 N. Patton, wound up their 25th wedding anniversary celebration with a party at home Saturday evening for 14 neighborhood couples. Entertainment included swimming in the Lurtz' pool, dancing, barbershop quarteting and Mr. Peterson was on hand to take polaroid pictures of the group. A midnight supper was served, but the fun went on after that. George and Lil were delighted with the plant several of their friends presented to them.

The. R. H. Sparlings, 938 N. Harvard, are enjoying a visit from his brother, Robert Sparling of Roundup, Mont. Mr. Sparling took a week of his vacation last week so that he and his brother could take in four baseball games since the Cubs are in town. The Montana branch of the family is quite a baseball fan. There is another visitor at the Sparlings, young granddaughter, Cindy, who is spending a few days with them before returning home to Addison.

When Littlefuse, Inc., Des Plaines, had their Credit Union picnic at Riverview over the weekend, the James Spiels, 730 N. Harvard, took his sister, Mary Speil, and Mrs. Bob Balfour and her children. It was a full day for everyone and they all came home tired, but happy.

This weekend they expect their nephew, Ronnie Spiel to drive here in his new sports car from Palm Springs, Cal., to spend six to eight weeks with them. Ronnie plans to work here before going back to school in California this fall.

RONNIE BECKER called his folks, the Werner C. Beckers, 1004 N. Ridge, from California last weekend to tell them he will be home in August. Ronnie has seen a great deal of the Pacific since he began his tour of duty with the navy and now he's anxious to see Arlington Heights.

Chris Howes, daughter of the Ray Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, is back from a week's camping trip with 15 other girls at Lake Koshkonong in Wisconsin and they slept in tents at night and by day had their pick of sailing, motor boating, canoeing, water skiing or swimming. The Howes took Chris and two other girls up there and she came home with another family.

Sunday the Robert Cummings, 1115 W. Elm, presented their infant son, Thomas Warren for baptism at the First Presbyterian church, with Dr. Paul Stumpf officiating. There was a family dinner afterward with aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ripp coming down from Waunakee, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. John Iverson and family coming out from Chicago.

The Ridge Park bridge tournament is finished and the annual banquet was held at Rolling Green country club June 6. The prizes were awarded for the year's score, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker coming off with the first prize of $20, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McMullen, winning the second prize of $15 and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Forse the third prize of $8. Mary and Jack Meade won first prize for the evening, Jerry and Ann Mockenhaupt, second prize and the Gordon Johnsons, third prize.

Jerry Sorensen, son of the Dick Sorensens, 943 N. Kaspar, celebrated his fifth birthday last Wednesday by inviting 12 of his neighborhood friends for cake and ice cream. Because of the bad weather, the children were forced inside for games, but that didn't dampen their spirits at all. Highlight of the party was Jerry's train cake, three feet long, complete with coal car, engine and the works. That evening several relatives came for a barbecue supper.

WEDNESDAY the Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, attended the DePaul graduation. His brother, Jim Barnes was among the graduates. Gene and Norma have been going to parties and doing some sightseeing with her cousins from Germany, who are leaving for home this week. Because they have become so fond of America during their visit here wouldn't be surprised to see them back in two years.

After they got back from a fishing trip last year, Donald Kiehl and his son, Don, 732 N. Kaspar, had such a good time they decided to do it again. They are back from a week at the lodge at Bear Lake, Wis., where they fished every day. The weather was warm and conditions were just right for this vacation strictly for the men.

The Les Gleasons, 1020 N. Kennicott, are back from a trip south, where they visited her family in Arkansas. All of her brothers and their families gathered at the sister's home for what turned out to be the first family reunion in several years.

Dr. P. D. Mustric, New Pastor Of First Baptist Church

Dr. P. D. Mustric has been called as pastor by the First Baptist church of Arlington Heights and has already assumed his duties.

Dr. Mustric was formerly an optometrist practicing in Highland Park and Park Ridge, having received his training at Lake Forest college, Northwestern university and Northern Illinois College of Optometry.

Three years ago he began his preparation at Trinity Seminary in Chicago. June 5 he received his bachelor of divinity degree from Trinity and June 7 assumed his present duties as pastor of the First Baptist church.

DR. MUSTRIC'S experience in church work is varied and extensive. During the past 12 years he has been at various times a board member, trustee, youth director, associate pastor, choir member and song leader.

In accepting the call to Arlington Heights, Dr. Mustric has said that he feels the tremendous challenge of a growth area such as this and realizes the great opportunity present to reach many families. His ministry will stress youth work and personal evangelism with a sincere invitation to those of a like mind to enter into the fellowship and work if they are not already active in another church.

DR. MUSTRIC was born and

raised in Highland Park and graduated from Highland Park high school. Following service in the Air Force he entered Lake Forest college and began his pre-optometric training. After receiving his doctor of optometry degree in February, 1951 he was engaged in private practice until 1956 at which time he entered seminary and began preparing for the ministry.

At the present time the first Baptist church is meeting in the Arlington high school, but the group is negotiating for property and soon hopes to have its own church building. (A/P/Ph/M

YMCA Offers Summer Fun

Three popular summer activities are being offered by Northwest Suburban YMCA to boys and girls in the area who want to spend their vacation time in active constructive program. The local 'Y' is featuring a "Swim and Gym" class, "Trips and Dips" program and a bowling class, all beginning the last week in June.

"Swim and Gym"

Boys and girls 8 to 13 years of age are welcome to join this 'Y' class which guarantees that they will learn to swim. Those passing the water adaptability tests on the first day will be entitled to a "guarantee" that they will learn to swim at least 25 feet in the 10 lessons or continue indefinitely in the regular 'Y' swim classes free of charge until they do. Swimming classes are for all levels of ability with one instructor for each 12 youngsters.

A physical program will also be conducted emphasizing physical fitness, teaching of skills and fun with games and sports. Boys classes are held Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning June 30. Girls will meet each Wednesday and Friday beginning July 1. A chartered bus will pick up youngsters throughout the northwest suburban area.

"Trips and Dips"

Boys and girls 8 to 14 years of age may still enroll in the YMCA summer fun program which features five exciting trips, each followed by a recreational swim at Maine high school pool. Monday is "Trip and Dip" day, beginning June 29 through July 27. Youngsters need not be members of the 'Y' to participate, and a chartered bus will pick up children at the following points: 'Y' office in Des Plaines; Mt. Prospect village hall; Arlington Heights village hall, Rupley school, Elk Grove; Palatine rd. and Northwest hwy., Palatine.

Bowling

Seven bowling classes will be conducted at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights for boys and girls 10 to 14 years of age. Instruction on fundamentals will be given the first day, and practice through league competition will continue throughout the sessions. Awards will be presented to individuals on the winning team. This program is on Fridays, beginning June 26, and continues for six lessons. Transportation is furnished from Mt. Prospect.

Registration or further information on these or any of the summer 'Y' programs, may be had by calling the 'Y' office, Va 4-4156. (B8

Q. Do you think it is proper for a person to keep urging another person to pay a visit, without every specifying any particular date?

A. There is nothing improper about this — but I should say the invitations would appear more friendly and sincere if they were more definite.

Jet Age Has Created An Impatient America

The speed of jet airliners has created a new impatience in Americans. They want to move faster—whether it is a thousand mile flight across country or a 20-mile trip between an airport and the heart of a city it serves.

This is the observation of C. Wesley Moore, executive vice president of Chicago Helicopter Airways, who credits part of a big upsurge in his company's business to the jet impact.

"We're finding that people who fly from New York to Chicago's O'Hare Field in 75 minutes are rebelling at taking almost the same length of time to taxi from the airport to downtown Chicago," he says. "Their desire for continued speed can be met only by the helicopter, which leapfrogs congested highways and flies them to the Loop in 11 minutes.

In April, the first full month of jet service to Chicago's O'Hare Field, CHA's five Sikorsky S-58 helicopters carried an estimated 2,000 passengers to and from the jet planes. This total was increased to an estimated 5,000 passengers in May.

THE POST OFFICE department is displaying the same impatience shown by the public. Unhappy because airmail moves faster from New York to O'Hare Field than it does from the airport to the main post office, a study is under way to determine the feasibility of having helicopters lift the mail directly from the jets to the post office roof. For almost 10 years, CHA has been flying mail from Midway to the suburbs.

The acceptance of helicopter travel by both the public and the "fixed wing" airlines has combined to give Chicago Helicopter Airways a spectacular growth. Although the youngest of the world's four scheduled passenger airlines—it started service in November, 1956—the line is expected to carry its 250,000th paid fare in June.

"In addition to customer convenience," CHA president John S. Gleason Jr., says, "helicopter transportation offers dependability. In its 10 years and 4,000,000 miles of mail and passenger operations, we have never had an accident or a passenger injury." The line was founded under the name of Helicopter Air Service, and mail flights were started August 20, 1949.

ALTHOUGH THE BULK of the company's business comes from carrying passengers to and from airline connections, daily trips to Winnetka and Gary's municipal airport have started to generate some commuting and shopping business.

A Winnetka executive with a plant adjoining Midway Airport makes from two to five round trips a week. "I'm just fed up with driving," he explains, "and this is a welcome relief." The pilot for a Chicago firm's private plane rides the line to work almost every day. "It saves me about 10 hours a week in commuting time," he estimates.

Further expansion of the suburban routes is planned. The opening of service to Gary in May, 1958, and to Winnetka in July, 1958, were the first moves. "We think that suburban flights, when tied in with downtown Chicago, will begin to develop commuter business," Moore explains.

The big breakthrough on this type of service is expected with the introduction of the 25-passenger Sikorsky S-61, a multi-engine, turbine-powered helicopter scheduled for its first flight early next year.

CHA, WHOSE helicopters fly under the fixed wing air lanes and do not add to the congestion, is the only airline authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board to go into all three Chicago fields on the same trip.

The public's acceptance of helicopters and the appreciation for their future is a far cry from only a decade ago. Old times around the Chicago office still recall the frantic telephone call received 10 years ago when a helicopter flying a route survey hovered over an isolated farm house.

"Do you have a helicopter out here?" shouted an agitated farmer. Then without waiting for a reply, he pleaded: "It's stuck up there; come on out and get it down!" (BB

Roadside Sleep Areas Planned

Roadside sleeping areas for motorists on the tollway system ringing Chicago are expected to be available within 60 days.

This was announced Thursday by Charles M. Burgess, chairman of the Illinois State Toll Highway Commission at a news conference in Chicago.

The commission plans to establish three parking areas for catnapping — one each on the East-West tollway, the Northwest route, and the Tri-State tollroad, Burgess said. "Eventually, we expect to have five," he added.

THE "SPECIAL rest areas," as Burgess called them, will be blacktopped and placed near toll plazas, where motorists will be near telephones and toilet facilities.

More truckers than automobile drivers are expected to take advantage of the rest areas, based on types of motorists now found to be pulling off the tollroad system at isolated places for 40 winks.

Toll highway police have observed as many as 14 trucks parked west of the Aurora plaza, for example, Burgess said.

POLICE NOW find trucks and cars parked on shoulders of the toll highways.

"The police stop," Burgess reported, "thinking the motorist is in trouble. Instead they find he's taking a snooze. The police are waking the drivers up and instructing them to park at the next toll plaza and sleep there."

Dr. H. W. Norton, 256 S. Elm st., Palatine, will address the conference Saturday afternoon, June 27, on "The Evangelical Free Church and Christian Education." Dr. Norton is president of the denomination's Trinity Seminary and Bible College, located at Berteau and Hermitage on Chicago's north side.

The Rev. Arley L. Bragg, pastor of the First Evangelical Free Church, N. Ashland at Berwyn, will close the conference on Sunday night, June 28, with an address on "Forward in the Gospel of our Fathers." Bragg also serves as chairman of the group's board of education.

Morris Faugerstrom, 123 S. Greenwood, Park Ridge, has been named as conference organist. He is a professor of music at Trinity Seminary and Bible College.

Delegates and ministers from 33 states and provinces and seven foreign countries are expected to attend the conference.

To Continue Branch Bank Campaigning

To Continue—1 Tempo

The campaign to bring limited branch banking to Greater Chicago "will go forward with increased v-i-g-o-r," according to Charles H. Kellstadt, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Limited Area Branch Banking, and president of Sears, Roebuck and co.

In a letter to the committee's 223 members, Kellstadt expressed disappointment over the defeat, in the House, of a bill (H. B. 1041) that would have created a legislative commission to study the whole question of branch banking.

"On the positive side," the letter continued, "I am genuinely encouraged by the evident progress of our efforts to date. The people have been awakened not only to the benefits of branch banking, in terms of increased facilities and greater availability of credit, but to the Greater Chicago area's increasingly acute need for some form of such banking.

"We know from experience that an alert and informed citizenry will take appropriate action on its own initiative. Therefore, the Citizens committee crusade will go forward with increased vigor. As you know, we are already embarked on an expanded, grass roots, long-range educational program. Our presentation, as in the past, will deal entirely with the factual truths of branch banking — truths that the opposition will find increasingly difficult to suppress.

"Thus, our legislative target becomes the 1961 session of the General Assembly. Our objective is unchanged: To put the limited branch banking proposition on the ballot, where it belongs."

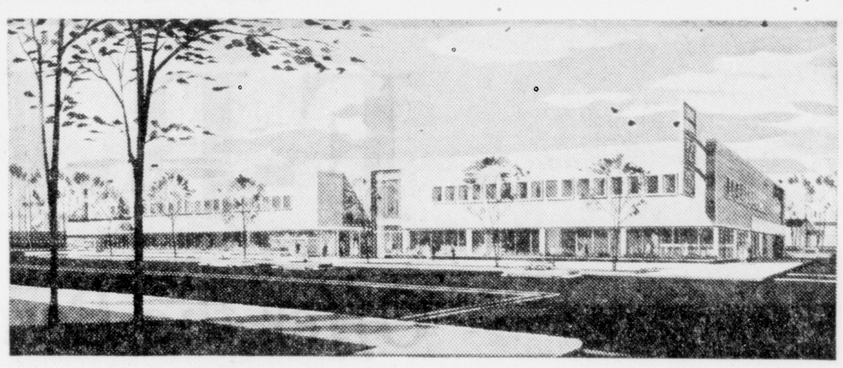
St. Paul Federal Plans Mammoth New Addition



ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of new addition that will more than double facilities of St. Paul Federal Savings and Loan association at 6720 W. North ave., Chicago.

St. Paul Federal, sixth largest savings and loan association in Illinois, will more than double its existing facilities at 6720 W. North ave., Chicago, in a building program announced by Frank P. Kosmach, president.

Plans call for the erection of a 2-story building that will provide an additional 45,200 square feet of floor space to the present 31,500 square feet. The new building will triple the number of teller cages, including three for drive-in service, and one specially scaled for youngsters. New vault space, office area, and conference rooms also will be provided.

Rapid growth of St. Paul Federal since it moved to the North ave. location in 1953 prompted the new building program, Mr. Kosmach said. Current assets of more than $99 million represent an increase of $77 million since 1953.

DESIGNED BY Holabird and Root, Chicago architects, the new structure will harmonize with the existing building of grey Roman brick, lannon stone, limestone, black granite, and painted aluminum. The combined structure will extend to Normandy street and occupy a full block on North ave. In addition to the entrance on Normandy, there will be a new center foyer on North ave. with a vestibule for after-hour deposits. Drive in facilities will be on the north side of the building.

The addition will occupy the present site of a parking lot and home improvement office building. Free parking for 175 cars will be provided at three nearby lots on North ave. at Nashville, Normandy and Euclid streets.

Ground floor facilities will include a two-level record vault, a safety vault connected only to the teller area above, closing rooms, addressograph room, dumb waiters from the vault and stock areas, and provisions for a future elevator. A 30'x120' meeting room on this level will be available for neighborhood civic groups.

THE NEW MAIN floor will at least double alll banking facilities, and will have a supervised area for small children.

The second floor will have approximately 7,000 square feet of open office space, 2,000 square feet of sound-proofed posting area, locker rooms, lounges, and a new board of directors room.

The building will be completely air conditioned. Interiors will be of walnut and white oak paneling, and will have vinyl tile floors, ceramic tile columns, and terra cotta and art marble stairs.

FRANK P. KOSMACH

St. Paul Federal was founded in 1889 to help the people living in the area of St. Paul Catholic church, on the near southwest side, to save for homes. For many years the office was located at 2116 W. 22nd st.

FRANK P. KOSMACH, one of the Chicago area's outstanding financial executives, marked his 46th year with St. Paul Federal Savings and Loan Association by announcing the building program that will more than double the association's present facilities.

Kosmach was born in Yugoslavia, and came to the United States at the age of eight to live with an uncle. In 1913 he became a bookkeeper and salesman for St. Paul Savings and Loan. Working at all phases of the savings and loan business, he rose through the ranks to become elected secretary in 1938. He was elected president in 1945, when the organization's assets were $3,000,000. In 1959, assets exceeded $99,000,000, and St. Paul Federal is ranked as the sixth largest savings and loan association in Illinois, and the 58th in the nation.

He received the Slovenian Award in 1955 for outstanding civic leadership and business achievement. He is a past director of the Cook County Council of Savings and Loan associations. He has served as vice president of the Brighton-McKinley Lions club, and was chairman of the Red Cross drive, and finance chairman of the Boy Scouts in the Frontier district. Kosmach is a past president of the Cermak Road Businessmen's association and served as finance chairman for the War Loan drives in 1945 and 1946.

A member of the Oak Park club and the Olympia Fields Country club, Kosmach resides at 73 Longcommon rd., Riverside.

White Collar Workers Are Hope of Future: Official

America's white collar workers are the best hope to preserve the political and economic system that has made this nation great, Leighton A. Wilkie, chairman of the board of the DoALL company, told 250 eminent business men at a dedication of the company's new Hall of Progress in Des Plaines.

The occasion was a dinner sponsored by the Newcomen Society in North America, an organization dedicated to commemorating men and companies for outstanding contributions to economic and material progress. Wilkie and the DOALL company were honored for their contributions in the field of basic machine tools.

AFTER discussing the events of the Industrial Revolution, which has brought the American workingman from a meager, uncertain existence to a life of abundance and leisure and a high level of security, Wilkie uttered a warning. In the vast land mass of Eurasia, he said, there have been consolidated the basic ingredients for the development of a powerful industrial empire.

"There, behind the iron and bamboo curtains," he said, "are great natural resources and huge populations. There, too, they now have accumulated the world's technical knowledge. We know that their machine tools embody the best features of those produced anywhere in the world. Furthermore, they understand that without an abundance of heavy industrial equipment there can be no productivity on a major scale."

AS CONTRASTED with the Russian system, where power is generated by pressure from a central source, Wilkie stated that the American system of private enterprise is the dynamic force of millions of free men, each of whom is a center of initiative.

"The private enterprise system works better than any other system that has ever been devised," Wilkie continued. "But let there be apathy or misconception about the basic principles that have made us prosperous and strong — and we stand to lose all that we have gained!"

"Currently," he cautioned, "there is a disturbing drift toward government-controlled economy — which runs counter to the principles which have created our prosperity. Also the politically vocal group in labor is using political action to an increasing extent to achieve ill-considered economic ends.

"But there is another dynamic segment of our population which comprises over 25 per cent of the electorate. It is the group of white collar workers who are fast increasing number and importance under today's advances in technology. It is this group that can now provide a solid leadership, if sufficiently alerted to the dangers that confront us. The urgent thing is to recognize that in a free society such as ours only the awakened conscience of responsible men and women can bring about a wholesome renewal and reaffirmation of our basic beliefs — without which we may not hope to attain our highest achievement as a nation." Industrial Revolution Hall Opened in Des Plaines

A spacious new Hall of Progress, housing a permanent historical presentation that traces the events of man's most exciting epoch, the Industrial Revolution, has been opened in Des Plaines, by The DoAll Company, leading distributor of machine tools, cutting, gaging instruments and industrial supplies.

The exhibit is designed to promote easy public understanding of the complex forces that created our present age of abundance. It depicts for the first time anywhere the developments which in only two lifetimes enabled man to scale the ladder of material welfare farther and faster than in all the million years in which he was preparing for this great burst of progress.

Assembled in the hall are many authentic, historically-significant inventions, such as man's first practical power plant, an original James Watt steam engine, which played vital roles in this swift climb to the high level of material welfare Americans now enjoy.

The Hall of Progress, dedicated June 11, will be open to the public. It will be available for meetings of technical and educational groups. Student groups at all levels will be welcome.

The historical presentation occupies one side of the hall. The other side is a Demonstration-Test Center. Here the most modern machine tools are used to conduct machinability tests on all types of materials to solve production and cost problems for industry.

Art Fair June 27 At Edens

Edward Walaitis, 1179 Margaret st., Des Plaines, will be one of more than 100 artists and craftsmen who will display and offer for sale paintings and handmade craft items at the third annual Arts and Crafts Fair at the Edens Plaza shopping center, Lake ave. and Skokie blvd., Wilmette, June 27 and 28. Rain postponement dates are July 11 and 12.

Walaitis was born in Bayonne, N. J., but spent the first seventeen years of his life in Lithuania, where his parents returned when he was one year old. Upon returning to Chicago, he studied at the Art Institute for awhile, and also took some advertising courses.

HIS COMBINED interest in art and advertising enabled him to get a position in the art department of an advertising firm; this was his first introduction into the commercial art industry. He later joined the Chicago Tribune staff in 1945, where he is now art director in charge of the layout department. Among his regular duties is the designing of the newspaper's Sunday Magazine.

Walaitis is married and the father of three children. His main hobbies are fishing, hunting, photography, and fine art painting. The subjects in many of his paintings reflect his outdoor interests. He has exhibited at various shows including the local Des Plaines art shows. During the month of June Walaitis is showing eight paintings at the Ontario Key club in Chicago. (BB

Milwaukee Road Freight Cars Take on New Look

Freight cars of the Milwaukee road are taking on a new look, with much larger lettering of the company name, as part of an intensive car repair and painting program now under way at the railroad's modern car shops in Milwaukee. In the new size the word "Milwaukee" alone extends more than 13 feet across the side of the most familiar type of rolling stock - the box cars - and will be used in varying sizes on other equipment.

The tilted rectangle emblem is also being enlarged to a length in excess of five feet on box cars and other cars offering sufficient space to carry the bolder identification.

THE Milwaukee Road's freight car fleet includes 2,649 pieces of new equipment, costing $26,296,000. Most of these cars were delivered in 1958 and the others are scheduled for delivery this year. This fleet of conventional and special purpose cars is currently rated as one of the country's best in terms of percentage of units in good condition. It is being further improved to meet the growing demand for freight equipment of high quality.

The Milwaukee Road increased its car shop force in Milwaukee to a full complement of men early this year and is currently doing heavy repair work on several hundred cars of various types each month. The program is expected to continue indefinitely.

The purchase of new equipmnet and the stepped-up program of car repair are combining with fast freight schedules to provide a popular transportation service for shippers and receivers of freight.

MANY TYPES of the newly stenciled cars will be seen on high speed Milwaukee Road trans-continental freight trains now operating between Chicago and Seattle-Tacoma via St. Paul-Minneapolis, and also between Chicago and California points in conjunction with the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

Larger stenciling of the Milwaukee Road name will be applied to the cars as they are put through the shops in Milwaukee for heavy repairs or for routine painting. (BB

Bowling Center Opens in Skokie

A $2,500,000 bowling center, the largest and most elaborate built to date anywhere in the country, was opened today in Chicago. The new building covers an area of 65,000 square feet.

Called Orchard Twin Bowl, the new 64 lane center is located in Skokie.

Neison Harris, president of U.S. Bowling Lanes Inc., builders and operators of the center, said Orchard Twin Bowl will be the first bowling center to have a full time sociologist on its staff to take charge of a youth activities program. This position is being filled by Donald E. McClintock, from the staff of the University College, University of Chicago.

Orchard Twin Bowl is the first of three bowling centers being opened by the group headed by Harris. Founder of the Toni Company of "Which Twin Has The Toni" fame, Harris recently had served as president of The Paper Mate Company, both divisions of the Gillette Company. He is presently a member of the Gillette board of directors.

U.S. BOWLING Lanes Inc., will open their two centers in Skokie and Rolling Meadows by late this summer, Harris said. The corporation's total investment in the three centers will exceed $5,000,000.

The second Skokie center, to be named Oakton Bowling Plaza, is being built at a cost of $1,250,000 and will cover 40,000 square feet at the intersection of Oakton, LaCrosse, and Kirk streets. The third center, named Rolling Meadows Bowling Plaza, is located across the street from the city's main shopping center and will also cover 40,000 square feet and cost $1,250,000. Both the Oakton Bowling Plaza and Rolling Meadows Bowling Plaza will feature 36 lanes with automatic pinsetters and the latest bowling equipment manufactured by Brunswick.

Orchard Twin Bowl is located at 9426 Skokie blvd., one block south of the Old Orchard Shopping Center. A lighted parking area accommodates more than 500 cars. The center's 64 lanes are arranged "tandem" style with 32 lanes sunken on either side of the main concourse. Each lane is equipped with Brunswick's latest bowling equipment, including automatic pinsetters, subway ball returns, electronic Tel-E-Foul indicators and Tel-E-Score scoring devices. A unique bowling ball storage facility and coat hanging section has been built-in conveniently next to the bowler's seating area at each lane.

THE CENTER features a new concept in bowling center interior and exterior design. A spectacular fireplace graces the entrance of the center. A copper funnel hangs above the fireplace. Large boulders are grouped around a gas jet in the fireplace and, when ignited, the colored gas flame shoots upward into the funnel.

The ultra-modern furnishing of the center—including thick carpeting throughout—provides a plush, year-around country club atmosphere. The fully air-conditioned building provides four special features for bowlers and non-bowlers. These include a playroom for youngsters featuring television, educational toys, and adult supervised play; a large community meeting room; a snack shop; and locker rooms for convenient storage of personal belongings.

The exterior design of the center features an unusual hand-sculptured sand frieze with inlayed colored glass.

ROBBY Robinson of Chicago, nationally known professional bowler, and his staff, will be available at Orchard Twin Bowl for free instruction. Robinson is the originator of the bowling farm league program—patterned after baseball's training system.

Robinson's farm league began on Chicago's south side last year and was an immediate success. Last month, Robinson began his program at Orchard Twin Bowl, thus bringing the unique program to the north side for the first time. Farm league instruction by Robinson will continue twice each week throughout the summer. The farm league participants, men between the ages of 17 and 31, next September will be grouped into teams and will become the nucleus of a new league. Top farm league scorers will be selected to join Robinson in the famed Chicago Classic League in the fall.

Neison Harris, who is 44, was named in 1948 by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the 10 outstanding men of the year in the nation. A native of St. Paul, Minnesota, Harris is a graduate of Phillips Andover and Yale University. He was a football player and wrestler. Harris is married and has three children—a boy and two girls. He resides at 225 N. Deer Park dr., Highland Park.

Do You Have A Maid? Leaflet Title

"Do You Have a Maid?" and "Good News for Household Workers" are the titles of booklets that are available, without charge, for household workers and their employers, the Northwest District Office of the Social Security Administration announced this week.

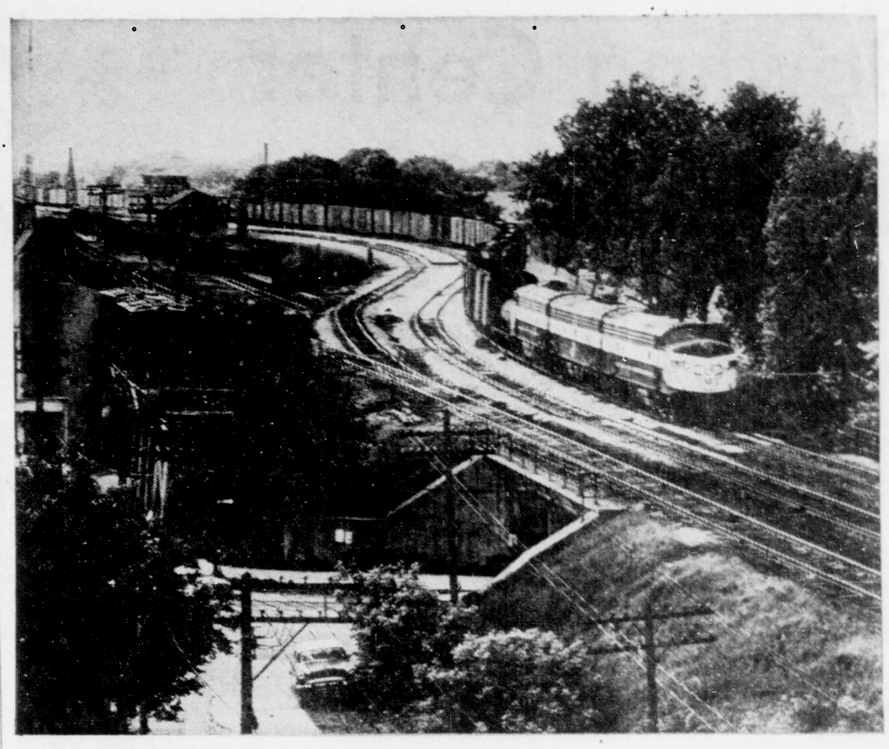
Leaflet 21, "Do You Have a Maid?" should be very helpful to all those employers who have recently hired domestic help as well as for others who are not familiar with their reporting obligation. It contains a clip-out registration card for employers of household workers to mail to Internal Revenue Service for tax reporting forms.

Booklet 24, "Good News for Household Workers," contains 16 pages, in color, with easy-to-read text and cartoon-type illustrations. It was designed to inform cooks, maids, laundresses, and other domestic workers about old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits.

Employers paying their domestic help more than $50 in a calendar quarter of the year must make quarterly reports to Internal Revenue. The report must be accompanied by the payment of 5 per cent social security tax on wages paid. This tax is shared equally by employee and employer.

Copies of these booklets are available upon request. You may get your copy by phoning or writing any social security office.

The Northwest District Social Security Office is located at 4255 Milwaukee ave., Chicago 41, and the phone number is KIldare 5-8844.



A TEMPORARY LINK in the otherwise straight mainline tracks of the Chicago and North Western Railway's lines to the northwest suburbs went into service this week to allow construction of a new underpass for both the Northwest Expressway and Milwaukee avenue at 4900 North Milwaukee. More than 70 daily commuter trains, through passenger trains and freight runs will use the new zig-zag tracks for the next twelve months to by-pass the construction area. The intersection is at the railway's Jefferson Park station. New platforms, lights and a station shelter had to be built before the by-pass tracks could be used by suburban trains. When completed, the three-tiered intersection will be—from top to bottom—the C&NW tracks, Milwaukee avenue, and the expressway. The temporary, run-around trackage will then be removed. B. B. Meyers, vice president and chief engineer of the railway, said the temporary tracks will cause a minimum of delay to commuter trains to and from the suburbs.

Qualifications For Greatness

By LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

June—and graduation. During the first 10 days of this month, hundreds of thousands of youngsters throughout the nation received their diplomas, congratulations, parties in their honors, and advice for the future. They were haranged on the virtues of hard work, honesty, perseverence; on the importance of higher education, specialization, and preparation. Here and there, an educator stressed faith in God; and in Christian schools, the importance of keeping Christ in their lives, their business or profession, received special emphasis.

These orators: college presidents, lawyers, or local clergy, wish to save all of the sheep who were protected and fed information during the past many years; but unlike Christ's parable in which the shepherd sought the one sheep which had gone astray while the rest of his herd were safe in the fold, only one out of 100 youngsters will be safe. He, alone, will be the really great one of the future; the leading scientist, the president of the United States, the heads of the great corporations, the great lawyer, statesman, minister, soldier of his age.

LIKE ALL GOOD seed, which contains a fertile germ, the germ of genius is inherent in each of these young people; but few there will be who will have the emotional characteristics, the inner drive and sense of direction which will nourish the growth of that genius. Without such nourishment, genius dies, and he who could have been great, will remain commonplace.

As in success in statesmanship, business or profession, so it is with our personal lives. Each of us has within him the power to love and serve; to hate, and destroy.. Each can develop his own personality, build his own character, or become weak and without character. Each of us can be warm and helpful and friendly, and thus win the friendship and love and cooperation of others; or can be a stumbling block and a snare to others, or a nonenity. Each can so live that the reality of Christ is reflected in his expression and life, so that he becomes the light of the world that truly can not be hid.

Underestimating Audience Is Common Fault of TV

Please pardon me if this sounds Eleanorian, but I am going to have to talk about "My Day." This is true because I usually write on Sunday nights and this week that deadline has passed; second, an incident on Sunday night held (for me at least) uncommon interest and provided a basis for some reflections on religion and mass media.

The setting was provided by a hurried round trip to New York and an appearance on David Susskind's provocative television show "Open End."

Six of us conversed on camera for 3 hours and 20 minutes (and then, off camera, for another hour.)

The topic was "Religion in America" and the six were Dr. Paul Ramsey (Protestant) of Princeton and Dr. Walter Kaufman (agnostic) also of Princeton; Arthur Cohen (Jewish) publisher; and two poles-apart Roman Catholics, publisher William F. Buckley III, a late-day McCarthyite, and John Cogley of the Fund for the Republic and Commonweal magazine and myself (Protestant). We were surprised, at camera time, to hear the subtitle announced "Fear and Prejudice."

Kaufman asked Susskind, on camera, Why that subtitle? The answer: the man who runs station WNTA thought Religion in America, treated one way, would sound too dull; treated another, it would be too controversial. So we were to discuss the bearing of religion on certain issues in American public and political life. What interested us all was the ginger attitude of the urbane moderator toward religion. The producers never wanted us to wade into the deep waters of personal religion. Kaufman was the gadfly. Again and again he tried to steer the topic toward specific religious themes. He wanted to know how those of us who represented the churches felt about classic themes, about hopes of heaven and fear of hell; about the churches' varying conception of their mission in America.

DURING EACH commercial, whenever Susskind was finished wincing over the necessity to introduce the sponsor, Helena Rubenstein, we came back to the point: shall we discuss the "metaphysical," the more profound aspect of religion as it touches human life, in simple terms? His answer was double-sided: if you treat it routinely, you will bore; if you really go at it, you will shock. If viewers are bored they will turn the dial; if they are shocked they will have it in for the program.

I certainly don't blame the moderator, who has the most creative show going around New York right now. He simply believes everything he hears. But what he hears is an underestimation of his audience. He wanted us to assume religion and then talk about its relation to a Catholic President and Sunday closing laws and inter-religious tensions about birth control and blue laws. But stay clear of God!

ISN'T THIS TYPICAL of a serious underestimation of widespread concern for basic questions? They tell us that Time magazine receives by far the greater proportionate response in its religion section. Sixty per cent of our people are church members certainly, some of them are interested in what the churches talk about and exist for. Yet on the national level as on the individual, the basic hopes and fears of all the years and many of the people are conventionally not to be discussed. Harper's magazine introduced a series of four articles with the comment that they dealt with "the normally taboo subject of religion." Taboo?

So we talk, with considerable profit, about "Religion and . . . " or "Christianity and . . . " I think we are ready to talk religion or Christianity more directly than this. That could make some of the issues that now provoke us seem remote and irrelevant. Try it some time. Set up an "Open End" conversation on your block. I'd be interested in hearing about "Your Day." Carelessness Is Cause of Wrecks

Northwest suburban area motorists were apparently showing considered regard for traffic laws, according to District 3 state police reports covering the past week.

Accidents were at a minimum; the few which occurred were:

June 6: Police cited Alfred B. Olson, 54, of 21 S. Glenwood st., Palatine, for making an improper left turn after he attempted to turn onto Palis rd, off U. S. 14, colliding with a car headed west in the opposite lane driven by Raymond L. Grap, 25, of 755 Wright st., Elgin.

Grap's wife, Eleanor, 26, was taken to Sherman hospital in Elgin for treatment of injuries suffered in the crash. Police said that Olson stopped in the wrong lane of traffic while attempting to turn. Damage to both vehicles was estimated to be $550.

June 5: Issued a traffic citation for improper passing wa Randolph Cottongih, 40, of 135 Gulf view, Carpentersville, after he attempted to pass an auto making a left hand turn off of Illinois 72 onto Mt. Prospect rd. and collided with it. Driver of the other car, also proceeding west on Illinois 72, was Ernest S. Mohelski, 40, of 3540 Elder lane, Franklin Park. Damage was set at $650.

June 3: Cited for disobeying a traffic signal was Jose A. Rodriguez, 25, of 1045 Higgins rd., Elk Grove, after he was involved in a collision at the intersection of Illinois 83 and Oakton st. Police said that Rodriguez, who was heading west on Oakton st., ran a red light and was hit by a car going north on Illinois 83 driven by Joseph A. Rohay, 24, of 1030 W. State rd., Arlington Heights. Damage was estimated to be around $900 to both vehicles. (B8

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Probably one of our oldest foods is soup — it has been the mainstay of man's diet since the beginning of time. The French are the most famous soupmakers. In France it is the custom to have the 'soup pot' on the back of the stove — into this the French homemaker tosses odd bits of meats, fowl, gravy, vegetable water, etc. and concocts soups that are a pure pleasure to eat.

Remember soups should never be served alone — let your imagination and good judgment add glamour to a good soup — Here are a few suggestions . . .

Pep up crackers by sprinkling with melted butter and cheese, poppy seeds or onion or garlic salt, heat in oven. With onion soup try rounds of toast with Parmesian cheese.

For the children — float pop corn on top of the soup and see how they go for it. Packaged Values, Backyard Barbecues Plague Suburbs

by TED SMART

"A student asked me as I was framing a large abstract water color, 'Hey, how come you're framing that big pelican?' I had shown the painting to perhaps two dozen people, but that student was the only one who recognized it for what it was."

Speaking was William J. Gallagher, an art instructor at Arlington high school.

"Which is the point I'm trying to make," he continued. "It's all a matter of perspective. A lot of us can't get the picture, and then along comes someone who stands in the right spot, and then—bang."

Gallagher, whose further remarks would scorch the ears of the suburban organization man, is in the position—the right spot—to get the picture in the field of suburban art participation. He is a three-year resident of the northwest suburbs, a graduate of the Chicago Art institute, an art teacher for the past seven years, and president of the Arlington Art center.

"THERE HAVE been a lot of books written recently about the suburbs being a 'culture vacuum,' and, believe me, it's all true. Our community is missing the boat in placing an emphasis on material things. People living here are paying the price of living near the big city, but they are not taking advantage of it.

"Why, did you know that there are many kids in high school who've never been to Chicago—who've never taken advantage of the cultural activities there. Right at their doorstep, an hour away by train, are museums, the Museum of Science and Industry, the art galleries, the concerts,... Man, to get the most out of life, should not restrict his interests to backyard barbecues."

Instead of getting the most out of life, Gallagher said, suburbanites are mortgaging themselves to false values, "packaged values," he calls them.

"I think people here are more interested in their lawns, in buying bigger homes, in acquiring showy furniture. Consequently, we live over our heads. We're all guilty of this. People are living with packaged values. They buy a painting or a plant or an evergreen according to group taste dictates.

"You have to respect the right of a person to be individual. This is what art does."

GALLAGHER'S lament on the lack of culture in the suburbs is not true of American society at large, he is quick to explain. There exists, he said, flourishing art centers in many eastern communities, but the Arlington Art center is the only one of its kind in the seven communities in the area around Arlington Heights.

"The level accomplishment is relatively the same here in the suburbs as in eastern communities, but there is not the degree of participation; there are not the great numbers of people who are active in creating," he said.

What is art?

"Art is the expression of something new, some creative and sincere expression of the person," Gallagher explained. "It is this creative expression that is being crushed by standards imposed, adopted, and followed by suburbanites," he said.

The art center held a show this spring, the instructor said, and it was "well received." There were big crowds—from 400 to 500 people attended.

"But an indication of the cultural level here is that only one picture was sold, despite some really good works displayed there," he said.

The art center has a membership of 80, among whom, according to Gallagher, are amateur painters, commercial artists, housewives, businessmen, students, teachers, and "art enthusiasts in general." Ages range from 17 to 66, said Gallagher, and the group includes a "recognized" artist now in Europe exhibiting his work on a state-department-sponsored trip.

The center grew out of the Arlington Art guild last January. Both the park district and public library have donated space and facilities for the group. The park district gallery, said Gallagher, " is better than any private or commercial gallery in Chicago." Yet, he said, there are certain space limitations at Pioneer park, and the ultimate goal of the center is to acquire a gallery and workshop of its own.

ONE OF THE main purposes of the center, its president said, is to give people who have an interest in art a place to meet and trade ideas "at all levels."

The group holds a monthly meeting, conducts classes several times a week, and reserves a workshop period once each week.

The center has planned a program in the fall to step up interest in art and recruit interested artists and patrons. Included will be a series of lectures and exhibits by "recognized artists, with artists from all over the United States in the November show," Gallagher said.

The next article in the series will discuss music interests of suburbanites, and the preference in music shown in the six area music groups.

Bowling party

Single young adults in the northwest suburbs are invited to a bowling party Sunday, June 21. The Young Adult Fellowship will meet at Rand-River Bowling lanes in Des Plaines at 7:30 p.m.

The YAF is a newly-formed group of young protestants from various churches in this area. The group held a picnic June 7 at the Methodist Camp Grounds, and in the evening heard a talk given by Rev. R. Norman Herbert of the Community Presbyterian Church of Mt. Prospect.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Young Adult Fellowship or in need of transportation may call VA 7-5561; College students who are home for the summer are especially invited.

Suburbanites Are Invited To Waukegan's Centennial

If there is a common denominator in Waukegan, it's a state of anticipation.

The community is on the heels of the biggest shindig in its history.

The event is the Waukegan centennial celebration, the town's 100th birthday party.

"We have a piece of the birthday cake reserved for everyone from northwest suburbs and hope they come to help us celebrate our community's 100th birthday," said Mayor Robert Sabonjian.

"Our celebration spans 10 days and we think it will be one of the biggest things in the Midwest this summer," said general chairman Richard F. Kennedy.

Jack Benny?

"We're 99 per cent certain he'll be here," Kennedy said.

He said that Sabonjian has been in contact with Benny by phone several times and Benny has indicated he will make every effort to return to his hometown's birthday party. "We're all hoping he can. We've a great celebration planned and his presence here as our most famous and favorite son will be the frosting on the cake," Kennedy said.

THE FESTIVITIES begin June 19 and continue through June 28.

"Our biggest attraction will be a spectacular stage show tracing Waukegan's history. This is not the usual 'pageant' however. We've got a cast of 1,000 local people rehearsing under a capable professional Hollywood director and the show will be produced on a stage 450 ft. long.

"Our show has lots of music and dancing and is liberally spiced with humor," Kennedy said.

Waukegan is making its bid as a major St. Lawrence seaport and waterfront activities are among the major events of the centennial.

THE Flying Boatmen of Knoxville, Tenn., 22 men who pilot high speed boats in intricate maneuvers, will appear June 20 and 21. The women's world champion water skier, Nancie Rideout, of Winter Haven, Fla., will present a water skiing demonstration June 21.

The famed Cypress Gardens, Fla., water ski troupe will appear June 27 and 28. It will be their only Midwest appearance during the summer.

The annual Chicago-Waukegan Columbia Yacht race has been made part of the centennial celebration. One hundred large sailing yachts participate in the race each year and will begin to arrive in the Waukegan harbor the afternoon of June 27 to spend the night. That night there will be a pageant and parade of lighted and decorated boats in the harbor.

"We anticipate that several hundred boats will take part in the water pageant," Kennedy said.

THREE PARADES are scheduled, the longest of which will be the centennial float parade June 20. It is four hours long and is growing, Kennedy stated. A youth parade will be held June 22, which is Young America Day, and a military parade June 24, Armed Forces Day.

There will be three major dances. They are the Centennial Queen's Ball June 19, a period costume ball June 20 and the big Centennial Cotillion Ball, June 25.

Archbishop Albert G. Meyer, leader of the Chicago Archdiocese of which Waukegan is a part, will celebrate a Pontifical High Mass June 18 at Weiss Field, which also is the site of the pageant.

Nationality groups that reside in Waukegan will conduct a singing and dancing festival June 23 at Weiss field. Participating will be Finns, Lithuanians, Mexicans, Slavs, Danes and Puerto Ricans, the chief cultural groups in the community.

James H. Douglas Jr., secretary of the Air Force, will be the chief speaker at "International Friendship Night," June 24. Officers of the armed forces of 30 Allied nations will be honored at the dinner-dance along with members of foreign diplomatic corps, high-ranking officers of the United States armed forces and civilians from Waukegan and Lake and Cook Counties. The dinner is sponsored by the Lake County Council of the Navy League.

"Anyone who wants a specific schedule of events can have it by writing Waukegan Centennial Headquarter, P. O. Box 5, Waukegan and we'll send one immediately," Kennedy said.

HEADING a star-filled cast in Howard Hawks' "Rio Bravo," exciting Technicolor western drama for Warner Bros., are Ricky Nelson, John Wayne and Dean Martin. The picture opens Friday it the Des Plaines Theatre, and also stars Angie Dickinson, Walter Brennan and Ward Bond. (Bill

State School Chief Orders Segregation Investigation

George T. Wilkins, state superintendent of public instruction, announced his office is making "an independent, factual and detailed" investigation of charges segregation is practiced in certain Illinois public schools.

Wilkins said he has ordered his supervisory and legal staffs to investigate complaints of racial segregation made by Dr. L. H. Holman, of Joliet, president of the Illinois conference of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

THE SCHOOLS chief said he received a letter from Holman in which the latter submitted information about alleged racial segregation in schools located in fifteen counties.

The NAACP head singled out 24 cities and villages and one township where he charged segregation is being practiced in elementary and secondary schools.

Wilkins explained Holman's summary was in reply to his request for specific instances of segregation.

In announcing a full-scale probe of the charges, Wilkins stated:

"Members of our supervisory and legal staffs have undertaken an independent, factual and detailed investigation of allegations by Doctor Holman and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that segregation is being practiced in certain Illinois public schools.

"When such an official inquiry is concluded, we will present our finding to local and county school officials. If we determine that segregation actually exists, we will request officials to halt such practices.

"If local officials fail to act and make no effort to eliminate outright segregation, then we will enforce our previously announced policy of withholding state aid funds, including school lunch funds."

WILKINS' VIEWS contrast sharply with those of his predecessor, Vernon L. Nickell. The latter claimed he was powerless to withhold state funds from a school district if the county superintendent of schools filed an affidavit declaring there was no segregation of pupils because of race in a particular district.

At his first press conference February 9 Wilkins said "the major responsibility for enforcement lies with this office."

He also suggested "the legislature should create a commission to investigate alleged cases of racial segregation in districts where we still have problems of integration."

"In all fairness," Wilkins declared, "we expect school districts to present a plan that will eliminate segregation."

He announced the investigation will be conducted during the current summer vacation period and before school re-opens in September. (B13

Do not say, "I expect she is right every now and then." Say, "I SUPPOSE she is right," and omit "every."

Avoid the use of "when" to begin a clause defining a noun; as, "A hurricane is when a very high wind blows." Such usage is as careless as it is senseless. "A hurricane is a violent storm."

Do not say, "She bought the car unbeknownst to me." "Unbeknownst" is a provincialism, and should be avoided. Better say, "She bought the car without my knowledge."

It is better to say, "Those WHO attend the meeting," rather than, "Those THAT attend the meeting."

Do not say, "His plan corresponds with mine." Say, "corresponds TO mine."

Do not say, "This is different than that." Say, "different FROM that."

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

CONCILIATE; to obtain the friendship of. "He tried to conciliate his employer by arriving at the office an hour early."

DIAPHANOUS; thinly or finely transparent. (Pronounce die-aff-ah-nuss, accent on second syllable.) "The dancer's gown was made of a diaphanous material."

CONSENTANEOUS; with consent or by agreement; agreeing. "The two disputants acquiesced and are now consentaneous regarding the matter."

REPUDIATE; to refuse to acknowledge, or to accept. "The plan was repudiated by members of the opposing party."

INERADICABLE; ineffaceable. "The permanent ink proved to be ineradicable."

RECONDITE; complex; difficult to understand. (Pronounce reck-un-dite, accent on first syllable.) "Only the learned men of science are qualified to probe into the recondite functions of the mind."

Q. Is there any excuse at all for a girl's appearing on the street or in public with her hair done up in pin curls?

A. I think this in very poor taste. If she absolutely must appear this way, she can try concealing her lack of preparation with a scarf of some kind over the pin curls—but even then, she can hardly be classed as a "well-groomed girl."

Q. When the folded napkin is laid on the left side of the plate, should the open edge be toward the plate or away from it?.

A. Toward the plate.

A Yale Man at Vassar? Heavens No! We Goofed

Are Paddock Publications well read? If you ask Quartus P. Graves, he'll reply with an emphatic "Yes!"

telephone that he had a son who attended Vassar, an exclusively woman's college.

Graves' son, Quartus Jr., saw his photograph run under a headline entitled "At Vassar" in the Campus Capers section of Paddock Publications last week.

This was an unforgivable mistake since this happened to a Yale man, no less.

The story which was to have appeared with Quartus Jr.'s photograph was to have told of his graduation from Yale university June 8 where he majored in American studies. He also was commissioned a second lieutenant and is scheduled to report for Army duty at Fort Gordon, Ga., next March. In the meantime, he will start in the training program of the Sealtest company in Philadelphia.

Accompanying Quartus to Philadelphia will be his attractive wife, who was the one at Vassar. Oddly enough, it was she who attended Yale university on a special MAS program this past year, rather than he who attended Vassar. Mrs. Graves was graduated this month from Vassar with honors. She majored in sociology.

Betty Fiene Becomes Bride Of William F. Rudolph

Baskets of white carnations, snapdragons and mums decorated the altar of St. Peter Lutheran church in Schaumburg April 19 for the marriage of Betty Ann Fiene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Fiene of Schaumburg, and William F. Rudolph of Cary. Rev. Fredrick Hertwig officiated at the 6:30 p.m. service during which Mrs. Florence Heinke and Mrs. Blendena Rittmueller were soloists. Organist was Walter Gerth and accompanist was R. C. Engebrecht.

Large white satin bows marked the pews as the bride approached the altar with her father. She was preceded by six attendants, including a flower girl and ring bearer.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Janet Fiene, sister-in-law of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Bernice Freise of Palatine and Miss Pamela Rudolph of Cary. Sandra Brogmus of Des Plaines was junior bridesmaid. All wore identical ballerina gowns of organza in white, pink, aqua and white respectively. The gowns featured blue embroidery and blue taffeta belts with large back bows. All wore tiny hats and carried bouquets of carnations to match the blue in their gowns.

FLOWER GIRL WAS Lynette Mueller, 3, of Schaumburg, who wore a short white dress with tiny yellow daisies sewed on the skirt. Her belt was yellow and tied in a large back bow. A small bouquet of yellow daisies were her flowers. Three-year-old Clyde Kreutter of Schaumburg was ring bearer.

The bride's gown was of pure, silk organza fashioned with traditional, long, tapered sleeves and petal-edged, portrait neckline of Schiffli embroidered medallions. The gown was over tulle and de-lustered satin and the bouffant skirt with butterfly bustle ended in a chapel train.

Her veil was fingertip, held in place with a crown of tiny pearls and her bridal bouquet was of white roses with white orchid center.

(Bak Studio

MELVIN GARMS of Glenview was his brother-in-law's best man and ushers were Nowell Fiene of Schaumburg and Kenneth Brogmus of Des Plaines. Junior usher was Delbert Fiene of Schaumburg.

A reception with buffet supper for 450 guests was held in Bensenville fireman's hall where Mrs. Fiene received in a pink lace dress and Mrs. Rudolph in blue lace. Both wore corsages of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds honeymooned for a week at Niagara Falls and are now at home in Cary. Mrs. Rudolph was graduated from Palatine high school and was formerly employed at Benjamin Electric Co. in Des Plaines, where her bridegroom is presently employed as a foreman.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

This Is Moving Day!

Dear Peg:

Today is moving day. Correction: today would have been moving day if it were not for Herb Strauss. Herb and Midge are better known to you as Susie's Dad and Mother, Susie being Megan's best friend. Of all the reasons we regret leaving the neighborhood, the most important one (and the saddest) is that we are moving away from a wonderful family who has never failed during the year and a half that we've lived there to help us in innumerable ways. Moreover they've never waited for us to ask them—they seem to have always anticipated our needs and offered their service before we even thought of asking for it. We'll always love them and no doubt continue to see them—friends such as these, like precious jewels, are too valuable and too rare to lose through neglect or thoughtlessness.

Herb is one of those unusual people who can come home from working in the loop, eat dinner, change into old clothes and be on your doorstep ready to move furniture, while you are still planning the project and making neat little lists of things to move. When Herb appears, you might just as well throw the lists out and get ready to go, go, go! By making two or three trips with the filled station wagon and the truck brought down from the farm, every evening — Monday through Friday—Bob and Herb were able to move everything except the stove, refrigerator, washer dryer and piano and on Thursday night, when George and Jack (Bob's brothers) were there, I had to all but sit on these items to keep Herb from talking the others into moving them. I felt that they were just too heavy and besides I'd called the movers, several weeks ago, and asked them to come and move these particular pieces.

On thusday night they took the beds to the new house and it we weren't a sight arriving in the middle of the night by truck, Bob carrying Patrick, I carrying Joseph—and the girls trying to move under their own power. It's so thrilling to be in our new home at last, that none of us even minds moving around the inevitable jungle of packing boxes and even though we are still digging down into the boxes to find a shoe to wear or a skillet to cook in, we already have the feeling that we have "come home"—to the home that has been standing here waiting patiently for us ever since our little family first started growing.

My love,
Patty.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

How long has it been since you got up and went out of doors before breakfast? Well, set a date, invite the neighbors on both sides of your home; in case of noise, this is good insurance against a disturbing of the sleep arrest. Also include as many friends as you can manage and have a Ham 'n Egg Patio Party.

Invitations

For the invitations, cut black frying pans from black construction paper. On double fold white paper cut two circles and place them on the pan to represent fried eggs. When these are closed place orane-yellow yolks in the center of each. Inside the fried eggs write the following verse on one:

Wake up, Wake up, you friends of mine,
Saturday morning we'll rise and shine.
Sleepily appear at our back door,
The aroma of bacon will chase any snore.

On the other egg write:

For we're frying a couple of eggs for you,
Cause you're a couple of good eggs too,
So, set the alarm and don't be late,
The skillet and coffee's at half past eight.

BE SURE AND STATE the exact time the breakfast begins and ends or you may find yourself with dinner guests. A "pitch-in" breakfast is a lot of fun too with everyone bringing their part of the "Big Feed." Plan plenty of food as you will be surprised how appetites are whetted by the smell of coffee perking over a fire. By the way, toast goes fast, so have plenty of butter, jam and two toast tenders to avoid charcoal burned bread instead.

Menu

Naturally, little can be said for the menu as your invitations tell what you are planning to serve: ham and eggs, or bacon and eggs, just change your title.

If you are giving the party yourself, however, you can let your imagination soar on the fruit, coffee cake and array of jelly, jam and honey spreads. If you need help call Cl. 3-3996 for information regarding party counseling, at low cost.

For an eye-opener, have orange baskets filled with fresh fruit salad, or broiled grapefruit topped with connamon sugar and a cherry on top. Cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon balls heaped in a chilled glass sherbet get ohs and ahs from most everyone.

PREPARE THE MENU, table, and assemble everything for the chef with heat proof pads, mitts and condiments. Above all have the charcoal ready to ignite and ignite it at least 45 minutes before your guests arrive; otherwise, they will be dinner guests.

Sweet rolls made in advance, or coffee cakes, frozen and popped into the kitchen oven when the main course is served, brings them to the table piping hot and butter melters they truly are.

Make gallons of coffee as you will find everyone coming for their seconds and thirds.

Decorations

Since it is a Ham' Egg theme, you will want to dress up the table accordingly with a farm or Early American table decor, which is both appropriate and eye appealing. Use any rooster and hen figurines with a wicker basket filled with miscellaneous garden flowers.

Use a checked tablecloth, paper ones are available in red and white, blue and white and red and pink checks with matching napkins and paper plates. If you eat out often invest in several red bandana handkerchiefs and use them for place mats—cut them to place mat size and make a silverware pocket with the excess part, or sew them together for a picnic tablecloth.

Use white dinnerware if you have it or any that is bright and will add to the table theme. Use iron trivets, baskets for breads and cakes, anything that will blend in with the farm idea.

NAPKIN RINGS make conversation pieces. Make them from construction paper carrying out the hen and rooster motif and use them for place cards also by placing each guest's name on each one.

If you have children invited, cut out colored eggs or even hard boil several, paint happy faces on them and have an egg hunt. This keeps the small fry busy while breakfast is cooking. Award the prize after the meal as you will undoubtedly make it cookies or candy.

Who wants to play games so early in the morning? Just be content with contentedly stuffed adult conversation and relax over your fifth cup of coffee.

There is just one warning, if the weather man decides not to cooperate, be ready for inside serving. Cook in the garage and get the same cook out flavor.

Have an early morning Ham 'n Egg Patio Breakfast party. It's a wonderful way to start your day!

Don't Rely on Intuition When Selecting Curtains

Don't just depend on woman's intuition when selecting curtain fabrics. K. Virginia Seidel, University of Illinois home furnishings specialist, says you have to "know" fabrics to select one that will hang well, be easy to care for and wear well.

There are many fabrics on the market. Your choice depends on what you need and want.

Miss Seidel gives the following advantages and disadvantages of the popular curtain fabrics:

Cottons, through manufacturing processes, may be colorfast, sanforized or preshrunk. Most cottons are washable and come in a wide color range. Cotton drapes fairly well.

RAYONS RETAIN their whiteness but require careful washing.

Solution-dyed acetates have good resistance to sun-fading and drape beautifully. But sunlight causes most of these fabrics to lose strength.

Fortisan is strong but does not come in all colors. Frequently it is used as the warp thread and combined with another fiber. Fortisan deteriorates more slowly in sunlight than many fibers. All fibers in a fabric should be considered in making your selection.

Nylon is resistant to abrasion, but deteriorates in the sun. A nylon curtain requires little ironing.

DACRON HAS excellent abrasive resistance and is sun-resistant behind glass. It washes easily and requires little ironing. When ironing Dacron, use a low heat setting. Once creases are heat-set, they are difficult to remove.

Curtains made of glass fabrics can be washed and hung up again in a matter of minutes. Ironing or pressing is not recommended. Glass resist heat and are sunproof, but they are less flexible than some fibers and are not resistant to abrasion.

Look at the fabric in folds before purchasing for curtains, suggests Miss Seidel. Also, learn to read labels to find out what special qualities the material has and how to care for it.

Leyden Reunion

Leyden high school graduating class of 1949 will hold a reunion July 11 at River Forest golf club, Elmhurst. The evening will include a prime rib dinner and dancing. Former class members and interested parties may call Robert B. Anderson at Cl. 5-1555.

A STAR PIE for the Fourth of July is decorative, delicious and easy as pie. Stars are cut with small star-shaped cookie cutter from rolled pastry, moistened and pressed into place. When the star-edged shell is cool add the filling made from a 15-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup hot water and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Cook milk, chocolate and salt over rapidly boiling water until mixture thickens, then gradually stir in water and cook again until mixture thickens. Then stir in vanilla, pour into pastry shell and cool for ½hour; refrigerate for at least 3 hours and top with whipped cream when served.

Quite Contrary by Mary

The Stars Are All Wet

I wish someone would explain to me what the stars have to do with my destiny. Every day I read my horoscope to find out how to act for the next 24 hours. But, it just occurred to me that maybe the stars are all wet. Things just don't seem to work out the way they say.

Believers in horoscopes and horoscopers always have an out by saying that through mischance or a flow of adverse cosmic rays, Venus did not enter the house of Jupiter on the day she was supposed to or some such thing. I feel that the fact that Venus is in the fifth house instead of the sixth house where she belongs, certainly should not affect my getting along with associates the way I should.

Anyhow, every day I read my horoscope. I am Libra which may be good as far as I know. We are artistic, it says. If so, why then did the geranium I oil painted remind my father-in-law of a petunia? The two are not even related except they are both flowers which is like being an eighth cousin sixteen times removed.

Today I was supposed to spend much of the morning getting my appearance at its best which isn't too good even then. I can't tell you how terrible I feel that, as the baby has tonsillitis and has decided that he must cling to me at all costs, I have not got around to that facial and nail do that I had planned. I was also not supposed to be afraid to add that individualistic touch.

I hadn't really planned to be too individual. Just a little something like wearing my eyebrows under my eyes for a change. Maybe then my family would notice me.

Under general tendencies which seem to apply to all the signs of the zodiak, everyone is to start the week right by plunging into conversations. It seems that this is the week for exact understandings and cordial relationships. So let's just keep talking and talking and, while we may be friends, I'll bet you get tired of beating your gums before I do.

Garden Club Lunches While Touring Gardens

For their June meeting, members of Scarsdale Estates Garden club enjoyed a walk through several of their own gardens. First on the walk was the home of Mrs. Robert Platt where the first course of a luncheon was served at 11 o'clock. The group then toured the Ballard and Pedersen gardens and were served the second luncheon course on the Schaff patio.

Members then journeyed on through the Strathearn, Hassell, Richter, Phol, Hornbostel and Nodorp gardens to Raicherts where the outdoor luncheon was continued. The Garofalo and Kirp gardens were cut short because of a shower, so, at the Ray MacDonald home, the group settled down for their meeting and dessert. Sunshine again permitted them to view the gardens of Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. James Legge, who were in charge of all arrangements.

NEXT MEETING of the group will be in September with the president, Mrs. John W. Schaff, presiding. Mrs. Schaff's officers are Mrs. Edward Raichert, secretary; Mrs. Edward Haedike, secretary; and Mrs. Everett Ballard, treasurer. Mrs. George Kirp, immediate past president, is now a member of the board.

Garden Club to Hear Hubert A. Fischer

Hubert A. Fischer will be the guest speaker at the next regular meeting of the Arlington Heights Garden club at 8 p.m., Monday, June 22, at Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights.

Fischer of Hinsdale, who is a member of the American Hemerocallis society, will show colored slides and speak about newer Daylilies, Iris and Peonies and many of the specialties that are grown in this area. Members are invited to visit his gardens on 63rd st., Hinsdale.

Refreshments will be served by the hostesses of the evening following the program.

New members to be welcomed at the meeting are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Alger G. Johnson and Otto Lisec.

Mrs. E. Saunders Reinhard, was awarded a blue ribbon for the Arlington Heights Garden club for her club entry in the table setting, "Wedding Breakfast for four," using "Woodsy" materials at the Garden club of Bensenville's Wedding House and Garden Walk.

The club extends an invitation to gardeners interested in any phase of gardening to attend this meeting. Membership is open to both men and women. Anyone desiring further information may contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Theodore L. Archibald, CL 3-5124.

Climax Art Week In McHenry

Art Week will reach its climax in McHenry this weekend with the Country Art fair. The exhibit will feature fine arts by eighty of McHenry County's artists and a loan show by Exhibit "A" Gallery of Chicago. The schedule includes artist and visitor workshops and an auction of fine arts on Saturday night.

The Fair is being held at McHenry Junior High School on Park Street, three blocks south and one-half block west of the traffic light at Elm and Green sts. in McHenry. Signs along the road will guide out-of-county visitors to the fair.

Though most of the works for exhibit are paintings done in a variety of media, a considerable amount of sculpture has been entered and some works in ceramics.

Committee members have added the workshops and the art discussions to the show schedule in an effort to stimulate visitors' interest in fine arts and to help in their understanding of it. They will maintain a sales booth for original art works at all times and conduct an auction of donated original art pieces Saturday night at 8 p.m. (S

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU BY Powder Puff SALON DE COIFFURE

Marcel, a French hairdresser, about 1872 introduced the wave called Marcels. This was a flat wave made with a grooved iron. It became the most popular form of artificial hair curling and did much to start the business of beauty shops. Beauty treatments now became available to women of all classes.

Permanent waves were invented by Charles Nestor, of Germany, in 1905. Thru heat hair was curled and baked to last for several months. Bobbed hair became popular and women became even more interested in having their hair curled. Later the cold wave was discovered. Through this process hair is curled by the use of a chemical compound. This produces a more natural looking curl and is easier to handle.

Cooks Can't Resist Tasty Fruit Bread

TASTY FRUIT BREADS are ideal with coffee as these smiles testify. Savoring the delicacy offered by Food Editor. Lois Seiler this week are Mrs. John Venning, Mrs. Charles Kessler, and Mrs. Carl Fortner, all of Arlington Heights.

By LOIS SEILER

Although most housewives curtail their baking activities during the summer months, you'll find it hard to resist the delicious Fruit Bread we are featuring today.

Homemade bread makes a hit with the family no matter what the season, so we suggest you try today's recipe on some cool summer day, then make it often during the winter months.

The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. Carl L. Fortner, who had it handed down to her from her grandmother. She used to have difficulty with yeast breads and rolls until she tried her grandmother's recipe, which always proves successful.

THIS FRUIT BREAD is not cake-like such as a banana or date and nut bread, but is a regular yeast bread which goes thru several risings. It is chock-full of prunes, raisins, currants and nuts, and is spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg. The recipe also includes mashed potatoes in the ingredients.

A flavorful, tasty bread, it is delicious served warm with butter. It freezes well, too; just reheat to serve.

Mrs. Fortner suggests serving this Fruit Bread with a meal or as a dessert, as it is sweet enough to be used for this purpose. It is excellent for a luncheon or coffee party, too.

THIS VERSATILE recipe has several variations. By omitting the fruit and adding a few other ingredients, it may be used to make a plain white bread, coffee cake or rolls.

The recipe will make six 8-inch round coffee cakes, and various toppings may be used. Mrs. Fortner suggests a cinnamon-sugar topping with or without nuts or a streussel topping. She also likes to use different fruits, such as raspberries, peaches or prunes topped with streussel. This makes a more moist cake.

This good cook bakes her coffee cakes and then pops them into the freezer. Thus a variety of delicious coffee cakes are available at a moment's notice, and need only be re-heated and served.

The Fortners moved to their home at 112 Reuter in Arlington Heights four years ago. They have two children: Karen, 2, and Carl David, who is 1.

Fruit Bread

Step 1:

15 or more cooked prunes, seeded
½ cup chopped black walnuts
½ cup raisins
¼ cup currants
½ cup sugar
3 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Combine the above ingredients and set mixture aside.

Step 2:

2 medium-size potatoes
1 heaping tablespoon flour
1 pint hot potato water
Scant tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 packages dry yeast
¼ cup warm water

Boil the potatoes and mash in a large mixing bowl. Add the flour and the hot potato water. Stir until mixed together.

Add the salt and sugar and mix well.

When the mixture is lukewarm, add the dry yeast which has been dissolved in the ¼ cup warm water.

Cover and set in a warm place (85 degrees) to rise until very bubbly, about 30 minutes.

When bubbly, add approximately 1 cup flour to mix to a pasty consistency.

Set to rise until bubbly again, about 30 minutes.

WHEN THE DOUGH has risen, add fruit mixture and enough flour so that the mixture can be worked into a dough that is not sticky.

Place in a bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk.

Step 5:

Punch down, knead for a few minutes and form into three loaves. Place in greased bread tins.

Let loaves rise until double in size.

Step 6:

Bake in a 325 to 350 degree oven for 50 to 60 minutes. Do not let bread get too brown.

When done, butter tops of loaves and cover with cloth until cool.

Plain White Bread

Use above recipe, omitting the fruit mixture and adding:

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Coffee Cake and Rolls

Use above recipe, omitting fruit mixture and adding:

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2 eggs, well-beaten

Before baking, sprinkle the tops of the raised cakes with a streussel topping or a mixture of cinnamon and sugar and chopped nuts, if desired.

Cakes may also be spread with fruit, such as frozen raspberries, peaches or prunes and topped with streussel.

Assessment Bill Bad News for All

BY REP. JOHN W. CARROLL

The 55 per cent assessment bill passed the House — and that's not good news for taxpaying home owners concerned over adequate funds to support our public school system. At least, I voted against the bill because I believe it will make it possible for public utilities, railroads etc. to escape footing a big part of the education costs. The bill would fix a 55 per cent ceiling on assessments of property in the state.

Currently, local assessors are required to assess up to 100 per cent, after which an equalization yardstick is applied. Under our current system, the utilities, railroads contribute considerably toward the tax rolls, and the high quality of our public school systems in suburban areas is due to this substantial financial support via the tax route. But, as I see it under the 55 per cent assessment lid legislation, our tax structure would be dislocated and a large part of the tax burden would be shifted to home owners and other private property holders.

OUR SCHOOL costs would go on the same, but rails and utilities would pay less. It could mean one of two things, if this bill is passed in the Senate and become law: (1) Home owners would have to pay more to help support schools (2) The quality of public education would have to be cut because obviously home owners are not financially able to make up the taxes that would be lost.

Rep. Simmons (R-Skokie) and Rep. Peskin, the Democrat, voted as I did—against the bill, joining the Chicago Democrats in the opposition. But the downstate legislators pushed it through nevertheless. I hope senators see the danger in this bill and give it the death it deserves.

THE CONTROVERSIAL CTA bill is going to be killed in the Senate. That is my prediction. It's not a good bill, because it asks the suburbs in Cook County to support a transit body controlled by political machine boss Mayor Daley and his cohorts.

We will not receive enough benefits from such a bill to justify increasing gasoline taxes one cent in Cook County and taxing property owners in all of Cook County an extra 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. I believe that if we're going to solve this transit problem, we're going to have to tackle it on a sweeping metropolitan basis, drawing up a master plan which would provide unified transit facilities which would link the city and all the suburbs in three or four of our counties with a modern up to date system. I don't like the idea (and neither do other suburban legislators) of our communities being assessed to rescue the Chicago mayor's transit baby. And I have liked the idea less since I read the quotation attributed to Mayor Daley after he was told that State's Attorney Adamowski may indict the mayor in the traffic ticket fixing scandals. The Tribune quoted Daley as saying in comment, "And Daley laughed heartily."

Thinking citizens must have been shocked as they realized the significance of such a quotation. It means the man is so firmly entrenched and so supremely powerful that he can laugh at the will of the people—and at a scandal which would horrify a mayor of any other American city.

No, we certainly don't want any part of the CTA, as it is now constituted, in our suburban areas, or any part of the influences which are breaking down law and order in Chicago now.

I HAVE INTRODUCED House Bill 1187 which would set up a commission of nine members to make a thorough study of the judicial system as it relates to local justices of the peace and police magistrates in Illinois. Three members would be selected from the Senate, three from the House, and the governor would name three non-legislators. Under the bill, the commission would explore many phases of the problem and come up with recommendations to present to the next Legislature. Such a commission would promulgate a uniform traffic ordinance, salary schedules, establish a uniform court system and a standard set of rules and practices for justices of the peace and generally devise a court system designed to standardize Judicial procedure and step up dignity and decorum in all local courts in the townships.

Rep. Burhans of Peoria has what I believe to be a good bill dealing with fixed salary schedules for local justices. It would set salaries based on population and the volume of work handled, and also limit the number of local justices.

I call mine a "salvation bill." In the event no action is taken on justices of the peace legislation at this session, I feel my bill will keep the issue alive and start us off in the right direction toward eliminating the lopsided fee system in local courts. (B8

ICC Cancels Hearings On Express Agency

Illinois Commerce Commission has cancelled hearings on complaints by two Barrington publishing companies over the closing of the Railway Express Agency in Barrington.

The publishing houses — Technical Publishing co., 308 James, and The Barrington Press, Inc., 200 James — apparently were assured by the express agency of no substantial cut in service, a commission spokesman said.

UNDER A CONSOLIDATION plan aimed at cutting overhead, Railway Express is now serving Barrington from the agency in Arlington Heights. Closing of the Barrington office was allowed under terms of an ICC order, entered in January. The order spells out conditions under which consolidation of express terminals is not considered abandonment of service.

The ICC said the record shows Railway Express served 881 communities in Illinois with agencies at 761 towns, or 86 per cent of the total. By comparison, the commission noted, one large motor carrier served 909 communities in the state, but maintained agencies at only seven points, or less than 1 per cent of the towns.

The Way We See It

Uniformed Wee Folk In Organized 'Fun'

Parents of a Cub Scout pack in Winnetka polled themselves last week and found they didn't give a hoot about Cub Scouting. They banded together to save their children from the "treadmill of overorganization." Declared one father: "It's time kids started their own baseball games or just went outside and kicked a tin can. The children have too much organized activity already; we don't need any more organization."

I seemed to awake — and yet, was it consciousness? — the trampling of thousands of tiny feet. The cadence reached out and echoed off the walls of my bedroom — "Have fun, have fun, have fun." Up over the rise I saw them coming, the endless procession of uniformed midgets, their left feet beating the earth on "have"; their right feet crashing down on "fun."

Four abreast, the column stretched up and down the seven hills of my unconsciousness, its tail lost in the mist and darkness of the infinite horror. On they came, platoons — no, brigades — of the wee folk, uniformed for the dance, the swim, the march, the game.

"Have fun, have fun." Leaders shouted the cadence, leaders uniformed in wash-and-wear walking shorts and putter pants. There was determination on the leaders' faces, a grim kind. It was mirrored on the faces of many of the midget marchers, but on most there was uncomprehension, bewilderment, obedience.

A banner fluttering over the advance column obliqued as it reached my bureau. "Den 119, Cub Pack 57," the rippling gold letters identified the marchers. Another banner, held aloft on two poles by a pair of sepia-clad girls, proclaimed "Brownie Troop 23 — We Will Not Fail."

On they came, boy scouts, girl scouts, explorer scouts, sea scouts, camp fire girls, blue birds, and then came the bill-capped little leaguers, pony leaguers, and American legionnaires.

What appeared to be a group of dervishes approached. A bronzed young man, whose T-shirt bore some reference to "Christian . . . " (I couldn't get the rest), shouted: "Your park district brings you . . . "

In tempo, the struggling mass shouted the answer out: "Healthy bodies, healthy minds."

On they came, the baton twirlers, the divers and learn-to-swimmers, the tumblers, the trampoliners, the modern dancers, the aqua-peddlers, the drama students — all in a confused mass of organization, all performing their various acts.

Marchers from church and civic groups were interspersed throughout the endless line, placards thrust aloft enjoining all to join "The Vacation Bible Class," "The Youth Activity Program."

Then wakefulness . . . wakefulness to the awareness that this is reality, not a nightmare.

Stratton Needs Help For Jobs Legislation

Two equal job opportunities bills already passed by the Illinois House were voted out of a Senate committee last week and scheduled for consideration this week.

The bills are generally expected to be facing a dubious fate in the Senate, which has consistently defeated such measures.

The Senate industrial affairs committee reported House Bill 495 without recommendation. This is the bipartisan bill supported both by Governor Stratton and Mayor Daley. HB 2, the Democratic bill, was also reported on the same basis. HB 495 differed only from HB 2 in that it contained a provision that bars discrimination on account of age. The Senate sponsor of HB 495, Sen. John P. Meyer of Danville, and the Illinois Committee for Equal Job Opportunities, agreed that they would accept an amendment which will provide that HB 495 will not adversely affect any pension-retirement programs. This is an equitable amendment and was gladly accepted.

Paddock Publications has already indicated its support of HB 495 and urged its passage by the state legislature and its support by employers.

This law would prohibit discrimination by securing equality of employment opportunity to all persons—regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry or age.

It is important to Illinois because of the current widespread discriminations which have been verified in many sections of the state. These discriminations tend to expand the relief rolls, instigate crime, and add to the public costs of welfare and indigent medical programs. Illinois will soon undergo an even greater expansion when the Seaway is in full operation and water traffic with the world fully established. All sources of manpower will need to be utilized. This law will assure that Illinois achieves its maximum potential of employment, production, sales and construction.

A leading opponent of equal job opportunities laws is Sen. John A. Graham of Barrington, who has urged a program of education to solve the problem without legislation.

Education will help to eliminate prejudice which is the basis of the overt act of discrimination, but it will not stop discrimination. The Bureau on Jewish Employment Problems has spent more than $1 million in Illinois; the Chicago Commission on Human Relations spends $250,000 per year. But they have not succeeded in overcoming discrimination.

The EJO legislation has the endorsement of such groups as the Diocese of Chicago, Inland Steel co., Illinois State AFL-CIO, American Civil Liberties Union, City Club of Chicago, Democratic Federation of Illinois, Young Republicans of Cook County, Young Democrats, Illinois NAACP, Chicago Urban League, League of Women Voters, Illinois Council of Churches, American Jewish Congress, and Peoria Council on Human Relations, among many others.

Passage of this legislation will enable Illinois to continue to go forward to greater progress in the future by protecting the fundamental rights of all its citizens.

If the bill is to be passed in a hostile Senate, some real pressure must be applied by Governor Stratton. He must have citizen support to back up such action. All residents of northwest suburbs are urged to write the governor, supporting his position and calling on him to use all of his persuasive powers to win Senate approval of the Equal Job Opportunities bill.

For Sensible Auto Licenses

The Illinois legislature is considering a bill to change the Illinois auto license numbering system.

The long seven number plates that are now necessary in Illinois would be eliminated. All plates would carry three numbers and three letters which would be easier to sight and remember. The letters would designate specific registration areas made up of a county or counties, to be set up by the secretary of state. This is of help to police and other public officials in quickly tracing a vehicle.

The advantages of the change are obvious and it should be quickly enacted into law by the legislature.

News of Home

I hope you have sent our Rolling Meadows Herald on to us in Germany. We would like all issues including May 14. There is nothing like news from home.

The children and I had a very interesting 10-day voyage from New York May 14 to Bremerhaven May 23 on the USNS Darby. We spent a two and one-half hour pass in England while the ship docked overnight in Southampton. From Bremerhaven we were on an all night train arriving at Butzbach at 7:30 a. m. May 24. It is about 40 miles north of Frankfort.

My husband, SFC James Lambert met us and took us to our beautiful government quarters in the American housing area. We have a beautiful 3-bedroom apartment completely furnished except for our personal things.

The American school is a one-story rambling type building five blocks away with a medical and dental dispensary next to it. We are living next to the Community Center house where AYA (American Youth Association) has all the activities a child could want.

Our son, Teddy, 11, immediately joined troop 317 of the Boy Scouts of America here at Butzbach Community House. Ted leaves June 14 for Europe's famous Camp Freedom for a week of fun near Giessen, Germany.

Our daughter, Kathy, quickly became acquainted with many little friends of a variety of nationalities whose fathers are all serving their country and protecting the allied nations.

It is wonderful for Jim to come home after weeks in the field and have his family with him.

This tour to Europe will be the greatest event in our lives.

However, we will never forget all our wonderful friends in Rolling Meadows who made our stay there so pleasant.

Plant Sale

The Arlington Heights Garden club would like to express their appreciation and thank you to their many friends and neighbors who supported the fourth annual plant sale. Also a "Thank you" to Paddock Publications, Marianne Scott, Bill Dulaney and staff, to the merchants who cooperated by donating gardening accessory prizes for the drawing held at the close of sale. To the village of Arlington Heights, the water and the police departments, to Boy Scout troop 157 of Hatlen Heights for the use of a tent. All of whom were most cooperative and played an important part in the success of the plant sale.

Use of Pools

It has recently come to my attention, as well as that of my neighbors, that the Arlington Heights park district is issuing a "limited number" of season passes for the swimming pools to non-residents of Arlington Heights. The rates are no higher than those charged the residents.

It is hard for us to understand why these passes are not sold exclusively to the residents of this village, inasmuch as the people within the village alone are supporting the park district. Many of us moved to this community because of the excellent school system and the well-equipped parks for our children. Our taxes are among the highest in the entire metropolitan area. We could pay them without complaint, realizing the funds went to finance these enlarged facilities. But why live inside of the village if some of these facilities are filled to overcrowding by non-residents, who are not paying to support them? If the purpose of issuing these passes to non-residents is to supplement needed funds, I'm afraid it is defeated. Many residents are not going to purchase a season pass because of the obvious overcrowding.

I was told by a park district employee that outsiders are limited to 100 admitted to any one session. However, no effort has been taken in the past to question the residency of those admitted on a day-by-day basis. In other words, the pool could be filled to capacity by citizens of Elk Grove, Rolling Meadows, etc.

This is not a problem in our surrounding suburbs. In Palatine season passes are issued to residents for $12, and to residents of other communities for $25, which discourages overcrowding. In Park Ridge and Mt. Prospect, no season passes are sold to outsiders.

I am not suggesting we can or should prohibit the surrounding communities from the use of our pools, but I do feel we should preferably admit them on a day-to-day basis at higher rates than residents. If a "limited number" of season tickets must be sold to them, they should, in all fairness, be at a comparably higher price. Then we, the citizens, may have some assurance of being admitted, not turned away, on the miserably warm days ahead.

Springfield Sidelights

Odds Favor Hike In Sales Taxes

by REP. PAUL SIMON

The biggest undecided issue of this legislative session is whether there will be a sales tax increase — and the odds now strongly favor the enactment of that increase.

The half-cent sales tax hike already has passed the Senate and its big battle will be in the House. To pass the House the Stratton proposal will have to receive some Democratic support in addition to his own party, and there are indications that he may have that support.

The battle will be a long and wordy one; and there is a possibility that some kind of compromise may be worked out.

If it is worked out it probably will be done soon since Governor Stratton will be leaving on a trip to Russia beginning June 20. The man who will be technically acting as Governor during his absence will be Lt. Governor John William Chapman, but the man who will be making the major decisions for the Governor will be his administrative assistant, William "Smokey" Downey. If things are not worked out ahead of time, Stratton will leave word with Downey as to what things he should accept and reject. In addition, a phone call from Moscow to Springfield costs only about $20, so consultation will be possible on any emergency decision.

What Democrats will be joining the Republicans on the sales tax issue is not clear yet, nor is it clear how many Republicans will not go along with the Governor's sales tax increase.

The House has passed a bill introduced by Representative John Morris of Chadwick which calls for an increase in corporation taxes rather than a sales tax increase.

Morris argues—and I think correctly—that since our present state tax structure already hits the man hardest who has the low income, we should not increase his burden with another sales tax increase.

The corporation tax has stayed the same since 1917 and is one of the lowest in the nation. Under the Morris proposal the tax, known technically as the corporation franchise tax, would increase so that the average Illinois corporation would pay an $82 tax (some much higher, of course.)

If a compromise is worked out, the Morris tax increase will unquestionably be reduced, but I feel he is basically correct in trying to get a fairer tax structure.

In speaking to the Rockford chamber of commerce last week, I pointed out to them that one of the tendencies of legislation is to swing from one extreme to another whenever laws are too far to one side. Right now the tax laws in Illinois hit the man with the low income harder than any other state with the exception of West Virginia. If business interests and those with higher incomes do not want the tax laws in Illinois to swing to the opposite extreme, they should be among those who are working for a fairer tax structure in Illinois.

At the present time Illinois receives roughly one-fifth of one per cent of its total state income from the corporation tax. This is $5.7 million compared to $258 million in New York and $72 million in California. Illinois ranks 34th in the amount of taxes paid to the state by corporations.

Since 1917—when the last hike in the corporation tax was made—the property tax has risen 1200 per cent.

All of this makes me feel that the corporation tax increase is more sensible than the sales tax increase.

At the same time it is important that we don't go overboard in the opposite direction. Illinois has a very favorable tax climate for industry and it is important that we keep that. While an increase in the corporation tax at this time is justified, we cannot expect to give corporations continual tax increases any more than we should constantly increase the sales tax and property tax.

Which way we go this time, you'll discover soon.

A Glorious Tax... A Vanishing Face

by ERIC WARDEN

Blue-faced Governor Clinton will soon disappear.

The Federal government—in one of its rare economy measures—has decided to eliminate the rectangular stamp that signifies advance payment of the tax on each package of cigarettes. After June 24, the Treasury will collect its due from manufacturers after the cigarettes are sold. Hence: exit former New York Governor DeWitf C. Clinton, whose frowning face adorns the century-old tax stamp.

The Treasury will save about $5 million a year in printing and distribution costs, and the cigarette industry will save much more.

This economizing is very nice, but we'll miss the bucolic features of the old gent.

For one thing, the stamp has always been a reminder to us that the federal boys had taken their eight-cent bucket of blood from the 30-cent purchase. As long as Governor Clinton is there, we can be sure this isn't one of those "hidden" taxes so many editorial writers can be so concerned about.

The stamp is functional, too. No matter what the cigarette makers invent, we're sure nothing will support the open end of a flimsy pack half so well as the honorable Mr. Clinton. With him gone, there'll be just one less service from the government.

What's more, Governor Clinton's stamp has the distinction of holding the number of cigarettes in each package down to 20. Now we can expect king-size cigarettes in king-size packages. Pack-a-day men will be able to up their quota with no one the wiser. Cigarette companies—no longer able to use medical pitches—will vie to give the biggest "bonus" in smoking pleasure.

But what we know we'll miss most of all will be that secret little thrill, that certain feeling of open rebellion we could get by deliberately NOT breaking that little blue seal as required by law. Leaving Mr. Clinton's visage intact is one of the few flagrantly defiant acts seen nowadays. It could place us in adventurous, imaginary parallel with the Stamp Act rebellion—or it could let us hear the lapping waves swallow a chest of tea dumped in Boston Harbor.

Oh, there's no glory in paying this tax any more—not with Governor Clinton gone!

Job Equality

Some Senators in our General Assembly have expressed concern over enforcement provisions contained in Governor Stratton's bill (HB 495) which passed the House, to provide equal job opportunity for all Illinois residents. They indicated interest in getting information as to why an enforcement provision was necessary to successfully administer such a law. It was their belief that voluntary procedures would be satisfactory instead of a law in which sanctions could be invoked.

As a citizen interested in good government and the welfare of all peoples, and at the specific request of our legislators, we undertook to study the experience of Indiana and Wisconsin which had fair employment laws without enforcement procedures. On June 1st we forwarded the following findings to each Senator.

As recent as May 28, 1959, the Indiana Fair Employment Practices Commission Director summarized their experience in operating under a voluntary law. He said that although some progress is noted by means of conciliation, "I am sure you are aware that the efficacy of law is lost in the absence of enforcement power and I am sure you realize enforcement procedure is the desirable goal of all FEP commission administrators."

In a 1957 report to the Indiana Governor, the Commission evaluates the status of discrimination after 12 years of voluntary methods as follows:

"The experiences of the Indiana Fair Employment Practices Commission Executive Director and its field consultant staff reveal that less than four out of every ten firms do not discriminate in any way against any group in hiring workers for unskilled jobs. Furthermore, nearly half of the establishments impose no restriction on employment in semi-skilled occupations. This commendable showing is not sustained or is it in the least mitigated, at the skilled job level or in such "white-collar occupations as sales, office, supervisory and engineering jobs. Two-thirds of the firms discriminate in hiring workers for skilled jobs and approximately nine-tenths raise barriers to the employment of members of particular groups in office, engineering and sales occupations."

The Indiana Commissioner in 1956 reported: "Here in Indiana, the voluntary approach has not measured up to success, primarily because the law lacks enforcement provisions. Employers and unions both have conveniently avoided compliance and in general evaded the laws. The General Assembly in other States, after considering the impotency of the voluntary approach have amended their laws to include the sanction of enforcement."

Wisconsin's Director of the Division reported that FEP "was viewed as an educative measure in which there was no provision for enforcement." However, because of the rule making authority granted to the Industrial Commission of the State, it was assumed FEP recommendations could be enforced in the court. In 1957, the Wisconsin Supreme Court decided otherwise. Thereupon, the 1957 legislature unanimously agreed to enact an enforcement provision which provides for a compliance procedure.

The Director summarized their situation as follows:

"At first organizations felt somewhat secure and confident in the knowledge that in the event they failed to abide with our recommendations we had no recourse. However, cooperation and compliance was accelerated when we cited a different viewpoint. After our position was affirmed this function was afforded more serious concern and treated less slightly by those with whom we deal. Results were easier to obtain.

"The presence of penalty in a law has a therapeutic effect even though, as in our case, it has not yet been utilized, since it was written into law in 1957. It is there though, to be invoked, in the event it becomes necessary."

In addition, we also forwraded to our Senators, a pro and con FEPC argument prepared by the Indiana Commission.

These findings show experience with so-called voluntary procedures is unsatisfactory.

Studies of FEP laws in 15 other states show conclusively that unless laws have "teeth" in them they are unable to cope effectively with the problem of job discrimination. For these compelling reasons, we have urged the Senators of our General Assembly to support a bill which contains enforcement provisions.

Accidents of Children Keep Hospitals Swamped

Our fast-moving mechanical age is hard on kids. At least they are getting hurt more often than they used to. The increase in deaths due to accidents in children under 14 has been nothing short of appalling, nearly 30 per cent since the turn of the century.

This has occurred in spite of better surgical and medical facilities. Nearness of a modern hospital with a properly manned emergency department and adequate facilities for handling children who have swallowed poison is important to every parent.

IN THE northwest suburbs, Resurrection hospital has carried a heavy load of children's accidents. Fortunately, this load will be shared with Northwest Community hospital and Lutheran General hospital when these hospitals open later this year. Both are planning emergeny departments with an eye to helping take care of highway and home accidents in the northwest area.

The peak of children's accidents comes in July and August. The low point of the year is February-March. Power lawnmowers have added a serious hazard. Mower accidents have become common in the emergency departments of suburban hospitals. Safety leaders urge parents to keep children away from rotary mowers that may throw stones or metal objects and not to permit children to operate power mowers. Other new hazards are smothering of children playing in old ice boxes and of infants playing with thin plastic film such as used to cover clothes coming back from the cleaners.

MOST COMMON causes of injury to children at home are still falls, burns and accidental poisoning. Motor vehicle accidents cause some 30 per cent of children's accidental deaths but only about six per cent of the non-fatal injuries. Boys get hurt at least twice as often as girls.

Every home is urged to have an emergency plan in case of accident and to instruct all members of the family in its use. It should include posting of the telephone number of the family doctor and an emergency call service in a conspicuous place. It should include names of trusted neighbors who can be called to help, and the family doctor's preference of a hospital. Most accidents can be handled by first aid at home, followed by the trip to the doctor, but in case of serious accident the doctor or hospital should be called immediately for advice. Quick work may save a life. (B8

"ANYTHING WITH TWO ENDS"
SINCE 1882

Abrahamsen Co., 6952 W. Summerdale Ave., Chicago, are well known Bonded and Insured Building Movers with complete facilities for Raising, Lowering, Leveling and Moving of Buildings, anywhere in this territory.

There are big things going on in the Northwest Area, and right in the middle is Abrahamsen Co.

There is always a time element involved where houses are being moved, and for this reason Abrahamsen Co., employs the very latest methods to move structures.

The "Wheels of Progress," so to speak, are being used to move buildings, because of the safety and speed afforded, wheels with pneumatic tires absorb shock and prevent even the slightest jar when employed in the moving of houses. Through the use of these dollies, a greater degree of apt-ness and speed is obtained.

The process of moving a house or structure involves painstaking care, in addition to Trucks, Equipment and Skill. It is quite a feat to raise a house . . . Move it . . . and place it on its new foundations without damage, but Abrahamsen Co. have been doing it since 1882 — to the complete satisfaction of their many patrons. Guaranteed satisfaction is assured because of thorough organization — watchful care — and careful, detailed planning in advance.

Estimates will gladly be submitted on any type of Underpinning, Raising, Shoring, Lowering, and Moving of Steel, Brick, Stone or Frame Buildings (as well as Roof Raising). Industrial Farm and Residential Buildings are moved any distance. All insurances are carried for protection of customers' interests.

Keep Children Off the Streets

We have noticed several times during this balmy spring that the children in our suburbs are becoming increasingly careless while playing, walking, and riding bicycles on and near the streets.

A trip down some of the residential streets in any of our villages will substantiate our observation.

We know that all of our school districts have safety programs, many of them backed and supported by PTA groups and village governments.

For some reason these programs are not reaching home. Parents are not paying attention to the instructions their children receive regarding safety.

Many of the children we have seen have been of preschool age, it is true. But even these toddlers can be taught that the street is unsafe.

We urge all of the parents in the area to take their children aside and impress upon them the dangers of playing near streets or automobiles.

With summer coming this danger will grow. A child may be struck down, injured, even killed.

Make sure now that it won't be your child. (FP

VACATION AS A RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE
When Jesus was weary and wanted to be by himself awhile, it was to seek inner renewal and a closer relation to God. Our vacations are not all planned to renew the inner man. They should bring better health, greater understanding of our great America and a new appreciation of our churches.

Meadows Nine Hurt by Lack Of Players

Rolling Meadows' American Legion junior baseball team received some help this week from the ninth district office.

Meadows manager Charles Kelly received word that his team would be able to recruit players from unincorporated areas around Rolling Meadows and that this would not interfere with other ninth district teams.

Reason for the recruitment is that Rolling Meadows has forfeited two of its first three games due to a lack of players. The only game the team played, it was beaten 13-0 Wednesday, June 10, by Mt. Prospect.

Friday Meadows forfeited to Elmwood Park when only six boys appeared in the west suburban community. Sunday they forfeited again, this time to Franklin Park.

Kelly attributed the lack of interest to the number of boys who had difficulty in obtaining transportation to the game and to the fact that many boys work. He added that many work in order to support a car which they deem more important.

The authorization to go into unincorporated areas has paid off with the addition of two boys, Dave Zimmerman from Wheeling and Dave Beckman from near Arlington Heights.

Rolling Meadows has two games scheduled for this week. The Meadows nine will host Park Ridge at 6:15 p.m. Friday at Salk field. Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Rolling Meadows will clash with Palatine on the diamond behind Palatine high school. Kelly hopes to have enough boys to play both these games.

Sigwalt Defeats Bluebirds

A tightly fought game with a final score of 11 to 9 climaxed play Sunday morning of the Rolling Meadows Men's softball league. The two league-leading teams — Sigwalt and Bruns & Payne Bluebirds—kept every minute of their game full of tense excitement with Sigwalt gaining the final victory.

Heartbreak of the loss was the fine pitching of the Bluebirds Ray Geimer who went eight innings and allowed only eight hits. The fine defensive play of Sigwalt's Jim Johnson and the hitting attack of Phil Maher, Bill Casey and Ed Jaske turned the tide for Sigwalt.

The win of the Hawks over the American Legion team with a score of 15 to 12 was another tight contest and hard-fought to the last. Defensive star of the day was Hawk Bob Zimmerman with Frank Skittone, Tom Strass, Tom Hand and Dick Schar each gaining three hits and Schar credited with bringing in five runs.

A carnival of errors lost the game for the Owls with the Garden Liquor Saints with a final score of 24 to 10. A secen-run rally in the last of the ninth for the Owls, with Don Heicken credited with both a home run and a single, failed to surmount the 15 run lead the Saints gained in the first inning. Hitting star for the Saints was Bill Weir who included a home run in his hitting attack.

Games scheduled for 11:15 a.m. Sunday at the Arlington high school field will put the Garden Liquor Saints against the Hawks, Sigwalt against the American Legion and the Bruns and Payne Bluebirds against the Owls.

League standings this week are:

Kickin' It Around On The Bonus

Another Illinois Prep Inks Handsome Contract

by BOB FRISK

And so another Illinois boy has made the big decision for the big money in baseball. Who's next? Some feel Bobby Klaus of Fox Lake, Ill., brother of the Baltimore Orioles' infielder, will sign though not in the cash bracket of the Kellys, Taylors, Hooks, and Hallers.

Klaus, former Grant high school star who was an All-Big Ten shortstop for three years at Illinois, was expected to sign after his sophomore year but held off. Then a junior slump all but sent the scouts away for good. But Bobby turned in a brilliant senior campaign and they're interested again.

BOB KLAUS

But in Klaus' case it's a matter of good-field, good-hit but so what! It seems the prize catches involve the outstanding pitchers and catcher and the boys who can rock a baseball out of sight. It's often been said that if a father wants his son to work for a Major League career, he should hand him the catcher's equipment and pu him behind the plate.

And so the bonus boys continue as the Major Leagues hand out amazing sums for an athlete's services. When did it all start?

In 1950 the Pittsburgh Pirates paid a record—at the time—$100,000 for an eighteen-year-old southpaw right out of high school, Paul Pettit. This initiated the big money bidding.

This unprecedented prize at that time for a schoolboy rookie focused on Pettit the spotlight of the baseball world. In his prep pitching career, including summer ball, the 6-2, 205 pounder had won 73 games with six no-hitters.

The payments are interesting in regard to Pettit. They provided $10,000 on signing of the contract; a bonus of $50,000; a three-year-salary of $18,000; $5,000 for his father; $1,500 for his attorney; and $750 for honeymoon expenses if and when he married.

As one sportswriter put it at the time: "Three baseball players will each be paid approximately $100,000 this year. They are Joe DiMaggio, one of the greatest outfielders of all time; Ted Williams, the finest natural hitter of this generation; and Paul Pettit, who is eighteen years old!"

Bonus boys come and go—mostly go. Pettit didn't burn up the baseball world. What about Dick ($52,000) Wakefield, Frank ($75,000) House, and Ted ($100,000) Kazanski among others?

Besides Kelly, several other boys inked impressive contracts last week with the Phillies handing a Texas pitching phenom $100,000, while the Cardinals dished out $135,000 to two bonus babies in chunks of $75,000 to a left-handed-hitting catcher and $60,000 to a Santa Clara College outfielder.

Some corners, including Bill Veeck of the White Sox, are against the bonus for economic reasons. Six million dollars have been paid out in bonuses and only one of ten bonus boys makes it in the Majors and rarely are they stars; rather just names in the box scores.

In addition, the minor leagues are failing in the process as they used to have three major sources of revenue: gate receipts, TV and radio receipts and sale of players. Now it is pointed out that the bonus has killed the sale of players and radio and TV receipts have also been taken away to a great extent. Gate receipts aren't enough for adequate survival.

And what about the mental effect of the large bonuses on the good, young players? An eighteen year old loses something when he gets a lot of money—and we don't mean his slim bank book!

Veeck feels that a series of bonuses should be given as the boy improves through the minor leagues.

It was about forty-five years ago that one of these eighteen-year-olds was being signed by Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

"I'll pay you $600 for the season," Dunn told the youngster.

"You mean I'm gonna get paid for playing baseball?" the amazed boy asked.

That boy was George Herman (Babe) Ruth.

Yes, times have changed!

MP Legion Nine Wins Two Tilts

By BETTY KIRCHHOFF

The Mt. Prospect Junior Legion team opened the season in fine style, June 10, by soundly whipping Rolling Meadows 13-0. George Bork, ace twirler for the Mt. Prospect nine, gained his first victory with an almost flawless performance. He fanned 13 of the 21 batters that faced him and allowed only two hits, singles in the first and final rounds.

While Bork was mowing down the Rolling Meadows batsmen, his teammates were busy fattening up their batting averages. Thirteen men batted in the victor's big eight run first inning. They collected three additional tallies in the second, and a final pair in the fifth when Bork sent a long triple to right center.

MT. PROSPECT'S big bats were silenced, however, when they met up with Palatine, June 14, in a game guaranteed to provide managers with ulcers

A scoreless deadlock prevailed as Palatine came to bat in the sixth inning. After Billy Baumrucker was retired on a deep fly to left, Bill Dietrich then walked and scored the winning run of the contest when Bill Phillips drove a 3-bagger to left center.

Mt. Prospect tried to bounce back in their final time at bat, but all hope was lost when Rich Christensen was cut down attempting to steal third. Both hurlers turned in a creditable afternoon's work. White, the winning twirler, gave up but three hits, two of which were due to bad bounces, and Fritz Peterson allowed only three safe blows also.

In an exhibition match against Shabbona Park Friday, June 12, the local boys brought home a 5-1 victory with a four run splurge in the seventh round.

Jim Blake, in his debut on the mound, had trouble locating the plate, working four in the initial two rounds. One pass accounted for the loser's lone run. He was relieved by oJhnny Lind who eventually retired in favor of George Bork.

After their somewhat shaky beginning, the Mt. Prospect mound crew set down Shabbona Park in order for the remainder of the game. Going into the seventh, Mt. Prospect had collected a total of six hits and had knotted up the score. They then broke loose with four runs, the big blow being a home-run clout by Bork.

Arlington To Battle Mt. Prospect

Saints, Seals Head Arlington Intermediates

Bill Hotze's Saints and Al Seidel's Seals rule Arlington's two intermediate leagues again this week.

The Saints are pressed by Don Hutchin' Bruins and Bert Van Duzer's Comets but still hold a game lead in the Northside division while the Seals are a game in front of Steve Donchess' Huskies.

Both races have been tight all season with no club ranking as a definite titleholder. Any of four or five clubs in either loop could claim the crown.

HOTZE'S SAINTS picked up a win over the week's play but were also tagged with their first defeat, a 4-2 decision with the Comets. The victory was a 13-9 slugfest over the Broncs.

Pushing over 12 runs in the fourth and fifth innings, the Bruins had little trouble dumping the Hornets, 13-5, and the Comets, behind Tossi, routed the Doves, 14-6. Tossi had a grand slam homer in addition to pitching a creditable game.

Scholl fanned 12 and walked only two in hurling a three-hit masterpiece as the Mohawks topped the Hornets, 7-1, and Hawley picked up the mound triumph in a 5-4 Redbirds victory over the Broncs. Herrity absorbed the loss.

A 17 HIT ATTACK in three innings produced 18 runs as the Hornets rolled over the Lancers, 18-2.

In final Northside play the Redbirds and Bruins battled to a 8-8 tie and the Comets edged the Lancers, 16-15.

A 13-12 Solons' victory over the Seals highlighted play in the Southside league. Trailing at one time 9-0, the Solons bounced back with a seven run third, two counters in the fourth, and four deciding tallies in the fifth. The defeat was the first for the Seals in league play.

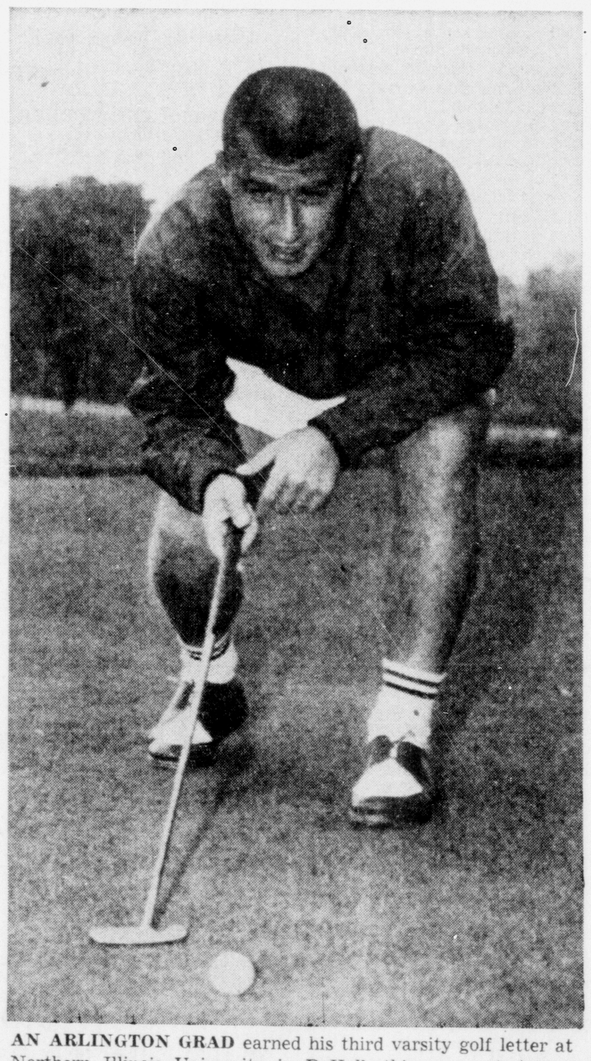
HUGH SMEED slapped a homer and triple to spark the Seals to a 14-7 triumph over the Dons with Johnny Meyn turning in another impressive pitching chore.

Brown's two homers and five runs batted in paced the Terriors to a 10-8 decision over the Rangers as Peterson picked up the victory, and Bozee yielded 14 hits but still held on for a 13-6 Stars' win over the Ravens.

Arcardo fanned eleven, allowing only six hits, as the Stars bounced the Terriors, 6-5, although Brown continued his heavy-hitting for the losers with a homer and triple.

In a contest played under protest, the Dons blasted the Huskies, 14-8, with Ainslie hitting two homers and driving in six runs. Price had four safeties for the losers.

In the final report the Rangers blasted the Ravens, 18-9.



AN ARLINGTON GRAD earned his third varsity golf letter at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb this year. A junior, Mike Spinello of Mt. Prospect was Midwest amateur champion in 1958 and junior champ in the Chicago district golf association the same year. He was Cook County amateur champ in 1957.

Jr. Legion Nines To Clash Friday

by BOB FRISK

Jr. Legion baseball prestige goes on the line Friday at Lions Park in Mt. Prospect.

Dave Lynk's Arlington nine and Fred Peterson's Mt. Prospect club will battle at 6 p.m. in a feature game of the ninth district's opening round.

Although both squads have tagged with defeats in the initial stages of the campaign, Friday's contest shapes up as a match with all the ingredients of a championship tilt.

The prestige angle is the big one to consider and both clubs should be keyed for the contest. Players who were teammates in high school are opponents this summer and this factor may even hold the center of attraction Friday.

RIGHT HANDERS Gene Dahlquist and George Bork, who manned the same positions in football, basketball, and baseball at Arlington high their junior years, may face each other in the legion contest.

Dahlquist toils for Lynk's club, sponsored by Fernstroms Storage and Van Co., and Merle Guild Post 208 and Bork works for Mt. Prospect. Lynk indicated earlier this week that Dahlquist would definitely start though he has been bothered by a blister, but Peterson was undecided whether to use Bork against Arlington or Park Ridge, the latter affair slated for Saturday.

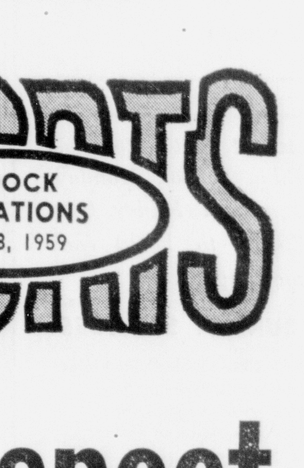
BOTH BORK AND Dahlquist were quarterbacks in football, sharing the top signal-calling slot. The pair manned guard berths in basketball with Bork getting an All-WSC position, and they both hurled for Dick Kinneman's varsity nine, Dahlquist getting the all-conference selection this time.

Saturday Fernstroms will travel to Palatine for a 2 p.m. contest and Sunday they will host Franklin Park at 2:30 p.m. at Recreation Park. Mt. Prospect will host Park Ridge Saturday at 4:15 p.m. at Lions Park, then travel to Northlake Sunday and Franklin Park Wednesday.



GEORGE BORK
May Face Arlington

LYNK IS satisfied with the defensive play of the Arlington club but stresses that it is in need of some offensive punch. In addition, the squad received a setback before the campaign opened when Gregg Beckway, who was slated to be one of the top hurlers, broke his ankle in a sophomore practice.

Mt. Prospect appears to have the stronger hitting club of the two with such swingers as Fred Boedeker, Bill McMillan, Jim Blake, Bill Zadel, and Bork among others. Boedeker, who captained Arlington's varsity nine this spring, led the high school in batting and McMillan ranked third among the regulars.

NINE TEAMS are playing in the ninth district this summer, including Arlington, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Portage Park, Park Ridge, Elmwood Park, Northlake, Franklin Park, and Rolling Meadows.

The first round terminates June 30 and the second on July 19 with the Cook County preliminaries July 25-27 and the county finals August 1-4 at Arlington Heights.

Fernstroms' Legion Nine Bows, 3-1

Checked with two hits and plagued by nine strikeouts, Arlington's Jr. Legion nine dropped its 1959 opener Sunday at Northlake, 3-1.

Sponsored by Fernstroms Storage and Van Co. and Merle Guild Post 208, Manager Dave Lynk's Arlington squad only hit five balls out of the infield in their seven inning offensive efforts.

Gene Dahlquist and Don Gerken, top two hurlers for the high school squad this spring, shared mound duties for Arlington with Dahlquist giving way to a blister on his pitching hand in the third.

CATCHER FRED Empkie and second baseman Lee Nelson delivered the only hits for Fernstroms and Northlake slapped Dahlquist and Gerken for just four hits but they were bunched in two frames.

First baseman Mark Thorne was hit by a pitched ball in the first and he came around to counter Arlington's only run of the game. Empkie slapped out his hit in the initial segment.

A single by Cielinski and double by Lenberg sent Northlake's first run across in the home half of the first, and Lenberg tripled in Cielinski and Fandel in the fifth.

Boyd Fans 19 Falcons, Wins, 6-1

A brilliant mound performance by the Vikings' John Boyd highlighted the week's action in Arlington's Varsity League.

Boyd fanned 19 and allowed only one hit in the Varsity loop as the Vikings bounced the Falcons, 6-1.

Despite a loss to the Phillies, the Vikings still held on to a slim lead in Varsity play. But after two weeks of play only one team, the Orioles, is set far off the league-leading pace. Only 2½ games separate the Vikings from the fifth place Falcons.

ERUPTING FOR five runs in both the third and fourth innings, the Eagles pounded the Orioles, 12-8. The loser's Jarms had the game's long blow with a two run homer.

Grote's strong pitching for four frames enabled the Eagles to stop the Falcons, 11-9. The winning hurler fanned nine to account for all but three of the outs on his stint.

A thirteen-hit attack good for 20 runs pushed the Phillies past the Orioles, 20-6, and the Phils coasted to a 16-7 triumph over the Rams thanks to a nine run third inning.

Ruhnow drove in the two deciding runs and Lauterburg had four hits as the Rams edged the Orioles, 13-11. Wronlinski stole five bases for one of the game's highlights.

Lauterburg had another big day with three hits and a theft of home in the Rams' impressive 8-4 victory over the Falcons.

Badgers Stop Owls, 10-8 Padres Increase Margin

The traffic jam around first place in Arlington's Northside Juniors league is a result of the Badgers' come-from-behind 10-8 victory over the previously-unbeaten Owls.

Now three teams, with a fourth coming strong, are bunched around that top rung with Bill Gunnison's Gophers boasting a 6-1 mark, good for a half game lead.

Jim Millay's Padres have moved out to a two game lead in the Southside Juniors loop with Fred Daneke's Spartans in second.

IN THE BADGERS' 10-8 victory, Steve Shawhan hurled the full five innings, fanning seven, to top the Owls' Bob Edgerton.

Pat Loughman had 3-for-3 for the winners and defensive credits belong to Rickey Loner, who made a diving catch of a well-hit ball late in the game to kill off an Owls' rally, and Pete Van Brunt, who had two fine catches in centerfield.

Edgerton picked up the victory as the Owls scored in every frame to down the Blues, 12-9, with the loser's Mike Brown and winner's Jeff Miller and Vetter slapping homers.

A TRIPLE PLAY was to no avail as the Millers fell to the Badgers, 6-4, but Bob Wallace's nine came back to stop the Bisons, 7-4.

McNamara and Gunnison twirled good games with the Gophers' Gunnison getting the win in a 6-4 decision over the Robins. Wayne Crockett, Gary Harting, and Tokoph supplied the offensive power, Harting slapping a grand slam homer, as the Sox routed the Bisons, 16-2.

In the final reports the Robins belted the Sox, 19-9; the Larks topped the Sox, 18-12; and the Gophers whipped the Gulls, 17-5.

SCHUENEMAN AND Kasl worked the victories as the Padres picked up two decisions in the Southside Juniors loop.

Scoring at least three runs in every inning, including nine in the third, the Padres rocked the Wrens, 19-10, and three tallies in the final frame gave Millay's outfit an 11-10 victory over the Oaks.

Husty of the Oaks compiled an outstanding mark by reaching base safely twelve straight times over a stretch of games, Husty collected seven hits and walked five times.

CROSSIN LIMITED the Beavers to one hit, fanning 12, as the Wrens won, 13-5, and the Spartans scored eight times in the second segment in coasting past the Wrens, 11-4.

Although blanked in the final two innings, the Buckeyes piled up enough runs in the opening trio to stop the Buckeyes, 11-5, and the Angels dumped the Atoms, 7-5.

An eight run fourth was enough for the Beavers in an impressive 10-6 victory over the Buckeyes.

A seven run rally in the home half of the fourth fell three runs short as the Buckeyes held on to stop the Spartans, 13-10, and a 16-strikeout performance by Hodgkinson of the Oaks was too much for the Atoms, 11-7.

Northwest Suburban 35 Years Old

THIS SPRING MEL EIDE, assistant principal of Ela-Vernon high school, compiled a complete list of the champions of the Northwest Suburban Conference for the 35 years the league has been in existence. We are publishing this record elsewhere in this week's sports section. Palatine has the distinction of having won the most varsity championships though not a member of the league the past two seasons. The Pirates have won 29 titles including 13 in track, eight in basketball, six in golf and one each in baseball and football. Libertyville, which left the league in 1938 is second with 20, followed by Glenbrook (Northbrook) 19, Ela-Vernon 17, Antioch and Barrington 14, Bensenville 12, Arlington Heights 10, Grant and Grayslake 8, Warren and Leyden 7, Lake Forest 6, Wauconda 2, and Niles 0.

The conference began March 17, 1925, when the principals of seven northwest suburban schools met at Barrington to plan an organization for athletic competition. As Mel Eide points out, the Northwest Conference was really taking the name of a league by the same name which includes such schools as Moline, Rock Island, Galesburg and others. Since the establishment of the South and Southwest Suburban conferences and the North Suburban, the Northwest has come to be known as the Northwest Suburban Conference. That first spring in 1925 the conference engaged in an abbreviated baseball schedule with two divisions in which the champs met for the title with Wauconda winning. Strange to say it took 35 years before Wauconda won another championship, taking the wrestling this past winter season. That first spring Libertyville won the first track meet, a feat they were to repeat seven times in the following 12 years before they left the conference, including five in a row from 1929 through 1933. Libertyville was also to be the most consistent football winner, taking seven titles from 1925 through 1933. Jack Martin directed football and Larry Crawford the track in those successful years. Rip Watson, who this year retires from teaching at Leyden, directed Antioch to six championships in three sports before moving to Leyden where he helped produce six more to become one of the leading coaches in Northwest history.

Erman Smith First Chairman

THE ORIGINAL NORTHWEST Conference included Antioch, Arlington Heights, Barrington, Libertyville, Palatine, Warren, and Wauconda. First chairman of the group was the late Erman Smith of Barrington who was connected with the conference until his retirement in 1944. The other founding principals were H. E. Underbrink (Libertyville), L. O. Bright (Antioch), V. I. Brown (Arlington Heights), D. W. Thompson (Warren), Guy Varner (Wauconda), and G. C. Butler (Palatine). Underbrink was president from 1925 to 1930 and later a leader in the shift in membership of the league in 1938 when it became too large and unwieldy for good operation.

In the spring of 1926, Leyden High of Franklin Park became the eighth member of the league. Bensenville was admitted to membership in the fall of 1927 and when Ela Township high was built at Lake Zurich it became the 10th member. Among other leading coaches before the 1938 membership shift were Bob Kelton who won six championships at Warren, Jack Grose who took five track titles and one in football at Arlington Heights, Paul Clark with three basketball titles at Barrington and the late Harrison Kincaid and Carl Megellock directing two cage champs at Palatine.

In 1935 the league voted the new Lake Forest and Grant high schools into membership and once the precedent was established felt bound to vote favorably on the applications of Niles in 1936 and Northbrook in 1938 making the league so large that in 1938 the first three teams in the basketball standings had not met each otherr during the season.

League Transfers Begin in 1938

THE RAPID GROWTH OF the larger schools brought about a situation where a number of small schools including Antioch, Palatine and Bensenville dropped out of competitive football. In 1938, Arlington Heights, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Leyden, Niles, and Warren left the league and formed the Northeast Conference along with Crystal Lake and Woodstock. This new circuit lasted nine years and then left Arlington, Niles, and Leyden high and dry and formed the North Suburban along with Grayslake, Warren, a charter member, left the Northwest to join the Northeast because of football tradition under Bob Kelton who was afraid the remaining Northwest Conference schools would not have the sport. On the contrary the Northwest, with eight remaining members, all small schools, found it possible to engage in all sports on a more even basis than previously.

In the late thirties and early forties after the shift of the large schools, Palatine enjoyed a run of good athletes and took four basketball and three track championships in a row from 1939-40 to 1942-43 taking 38 victories in 40 conference basketball games in their best streak and 20 home games in a row. Ela had some great years in basketball and baseball. In the period 1943-47 Ela won three league cage championships in four years and had an overall record of 45 wins in 48 games. H. L. Wesner, present superintendent; Dick Warfield now superintendent at Wauconda; and Bill Lehmann, present athletic director; each coached a champion Ela cage team in this series. Wesner had an undefeated team also in the 1937-38 season. Ela has won 10 baseball championships under Wesner and Mel Eide with the latter piloting the Bears to seven first place trophies. Your writer, at Palatine, had four in basketball, three in track and four in golf. Dick Welty coached 10 champion track teams for Palatine and one football title winner.

Bensenville had its period of great teams in the period 1944 to 1948 with Tom Meneguin directing champions twice in football, twice in basketball, and three times in football. John Trapp got a track championship in 1944 to go with two in a row in 1939 and 1940.

Barrington's Good Years 1948-52

BARRINGTON HAD FOUR straight in basketball and football and two in baseball for 10 in the four year period 1948-52 just before they left the conference. Les Harmon directed the basketball and baseball and Fry and Tom Frederick the football. Bill Lutz at Northbrook won football championships five times in the period 1940 to 1947. Then in 1954-1956, Walter Sherman, who was one of the stars on teams coached by Lutz, came back to direct Glenbrook to three unbeaten seasons.

After 1938 the Northwest went on 14 years until in 1952 Barrington shifted to the North Suburban in exchange for Grayslake. Also in 1952 Northbrook went out of existence and a year later Glenbrook appeared in its place. Meanwhile, Northbrook students attended Palatine for a year and aided the Pirates in winning their only football championship.

Grayslake in the new setup has prospered, winning baseball championships under Paul Subject's coaching in 1954-55-56 and again this past season. Antioch had a good streak in basketball just as did Barrington, Palatine, Bensenville, and Ela as they took three in a row 1952-1955 just after Barrington left the conference. Grant also won three basketball titles in recent years in 1952-53, 1956-57, and this past season with the last two under Ray Collier.

Conference Never Really Disbanded

BY THE MIDDLE FIFTIES the growth of suburban schools increased at such a pace that new conference alignments were needed but few were willing to act. The Northwest took action by adding Lake Forest and Warren who had been in the league years before and Round Lake, a newly formed school. Bensenville (now Fenton), Glenbrook, and Palatine left the conference in 1957 and the league became for the first time an all Lake County loop with schools ranging from 300 to 600 enrollment.

According to Mel Eide, the Northwest Conference really never disbanded for after each shift in members there was always a majority left to carry on the traditions and practices of the group. At the present time six of the eight members of the league are schools which were members in the late thirties, the only exceptions being Grayslake and Round Lake, which organized schools since that time. The league has sponsored many events in addition to athletics. Most important has been the music festival. This event was sponsored from the beginning of the league to 1935 and then after a 10-year lapse has been held every year since. College days, vocation days, G. A. A. play days, and monthly principals meetings have been on the calendar for urban Conference has had a long and colorful history. It has es- years. Quoting from an article by Mel Eide, "The Northwest Subtablished a number of traditions and practices which have made for strong and friendly relationships between schools. School authorities, students, and fans can well be proud of being a part of such an organization."

Park Ridge Legion Falls To Palatine

Palatine opened its American Legion baseball season Saturday by dumping defending Champion Park Ridge, 2-1, at Palatine high school.

Post 690's pitcher, Jack Nelson, scattered three hits through the first six innings and it wasn't until the seventh that Park Ridge reached Nelson for two singles and their lone run.

Park Ridge Manager C. O. Michaelson tried desperately to stop Coach Claude Bailey's nine in the last half of the seventh and final inning but was unsuccessful.

Dick Kunkel, Park Ridge's starting pitcher, after yielding a run on two singles and a walk in the fifth, loaded the bases in the seventh. Bob Barr opened the Palatine attack with a single. In an attempt which failed to get Barr at second, Nelson was safe at first.

Fred Barr, pinch hitting for Harry Krass, laid down a perfect bunt, beating the play out and loading the bases. Michaelson then brought on Jim Humay, who pitched Maine township to the state high school baseball championship.

First to face Humay was leadoff batter Lenny Rose. Rose took two balls and then saw Humay uncork a wild pitch which allowed Barr to score the winning run.

Rose scored Palatine's first run after he advanced to second on a walk to Bill Baumrucker from where Dietrich's single drove him home. Rose got on on a fielder's choice after Nelson led off the inning with a single.

Park Ridge's lone score came in the seventh after pinch hitter Fred Ianella singled, stole second and scored on Hamman's single.

Tight Races In Two AH Divisions

There's no breathing room in either the American or National leagues as Arlington's Little League program prepares for its fourth week of action.

Mike Wadzita's Red Sox are ruling the AL but only 1½ games separate them from fourth. Joe Mader's Pirates are a half game in front of NL teams but only 2½ tilts out of fifth.

So the championships are still up for grabs in the two six team divisions and anything can happen from here on out.

UNLEASHING AN explosive 23-hit attack, Frank Frohne's Athletics buried the Tigers, 27-2, in the American loop. Splittorf picked up the win with a yield of only three hits for six innings. He also slapped a home run.

In a key division battle the Yankees and Red Sox battled to a 9-9 tie with Fink and Brunner working for the respective teams. Witter cracked a home run.

Scoring single runs in the first and third, the Red Sox, behind Rosholt, held on to edge the White Sox, 2-1, and the Tigers erupted for 11 runs on seven hits and five walks in a big fifth inning for a 12-7 victory over the Yanks.

BOBBY ANGELOFF bested Cook in a mound duel as the A's stopped Ed Kabat's Senators, 3-2. Angeloff was aided by Fulle's homer.

The Senators had no trouble disposing of the White Sox, 14-2, in the final league report.

In the National loop the Cardinals' Curtin bested Jim Loughman for a 3-2 victory over the Giants, and Jakubiec's 11 strikeouts and three-hit pitching enabled the Pirates to turn in an impressive 6-0 victory over the Dodgers.

HAMILTON OF the Dodgers and Gary Brown of the Braves hooked up in one of the top games of the season as the Braves finally pulled out a 3-2 victory. Hedberg was the winner as the Braves edged the Cubs, 6-5, with Ewert getting the loss.

In final NL action the Cubs topped the Giants 4-2, behind the two-hit pitching of Michalski; the Pirates dumped the Cardinals, 10-9, and the Braves edged the Dodgers, 3-2.

AH Indians Top Senior Division

With two weeks of play already in the record books, Russ Walters' Indians have moved out to an impressive lead in Arlington's Senior League.

The loop pace-setters have four victories and a tie in five games for a comfortable margin over the two squads deadlocked in second, Henry Haiduke's Bears and Bill Heitz's Hawks.

A tight game for five innings turned into a rout as the Indians clubbed the Bears, 9-2. Two walks and a hit batsman got McDonald into trouble, then successive singles by Mutti and Walters cleaned the bases.

THE INDIANS' Murphy and Hawks' Berg turned in a pair of impressive pitching performances, June 11, as the two clubs battled to a 2-2 tie.

A bases loaded triple by Bobby Gray keyed the Browns to a 5-4 victory over the Lions, June 8. Spencer tested Osterman for the mound decision.

Back-to-back singles by Quackenbush and Walters scored Bob Vosskuhler with the first run in the fifth frame June 13 and the Indians went on to gain a 2-0 victory.

Stahl hurled a five-hitter as the Browns slipped by the Redlegs, 3-1.

Only the scores were included in the final reports: Hawks 8, Redlegs 1; Hawks 7, Browns 5; Bears 8, Lions 2; and Redlegs 4, Bears 4.

Schwans Captures Three Little League Victories

In the National League of the Mt. Prospect Major Little League teams, the Schwans had a good week in which they won three of their games. On Sunday, June 7, Ronnie Moehling pitched the Schwans to a 4-3 victory over the Builders. Richard Froemling was the winning catcher. The losing pitcher was John Selle and his catcher was Mike Zadel. Zadel hit a double and a homerun for the Builders and was the outstanding hitter of the game.

With Jerry Besenhofer as pitcher and Richard Froemling as catcher, the Schwans took an early lead over the Indians on Tuesday, June 9, winning the game 12-6. Bill Webster and Ron Mullineaux were the pitchers for the Indians while Bob Fox was the losing catcher. Both Mullineaux and Webster had extra base hits for the Indians while Ronnie Moehling and John Christiano had doubles. John Christiano also hit a home run.

No runs were scored for the first four innings of play between the Schwans and Bankers on Thursday, June 11, but both teams scored in the fifth inning with the Schwans winning the game, 3-2. Pitcher Ronnie Moehling allowed four hits for the Bankers while losing pitcher Dave White allowed five hits. Winning catcher was Richard Froemling and losing catcher was Ronnie Anderson.

THE BANKERS won their game on June 5 at Owens Park against the Indians 16-14. The Bankers had 16 hits while the Indians made only seven. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the fifth, when the Indians threatened by scoring six runs.

The high spot of the games was a triple play by the Bankers, which took place in the third inning. Dave White made an excellent catch in shallow left center and caught the runners from second and third base before they had a chance to return to their bases. Dave White, Jim Theroux and Ralph Kaspari were the pitchers for the Bankers while Chuck Engelson caught. Bill Webster and Bruce Fox were the losing battery.

On June 7 the Bankers beat the Lions with a sixth inning rally of four runs. Winning pitcher Ira Goldstein struck out 13, winning his second game of the season. Dave White had a perfect day at bat with a walk, single and home run. Chuck Engelson was the winning catcher. Ken Traversone did an excellent job of pitching for the Lions until the sixth inning and he was relieved by Ken Neukranze. Bobby Anderson was the losing catcher.

THE ROARING Lions came to life on June 10 and scored 14 runs to beat the Builders 14-1. The winning battery was Marty Ryan and Ken Traversone while the losing battery was Bob Bach and Greg Brooks. Leading the Lions were the following boys: John Jantac with a double and a triple, Andy Starck with two singles, and Rick Durgan with a double.

The Indians unleashed a 12 hit, 12 run first inning attack on Union Realty which saw a bewildered Realty pitcher face 18 Indians before retiring the side. This all took place at Fairview Field, Friday evening, June 12, in a game which ended 19-18 in favor of the Indians over Union Realty. The winning pitcher was Ron Mullineaux while the winning catcher was Bob Fox. Steve Carponelli was the losing pitcher and his catcher was Ron Froemling. Because of eligibility Ron Mullineaux left the game at the end of the third inning and Bill Bill Webster took over. Realty greeted Webster with an eight run barrage in the fourth inning on four hits, errors and walks. Many runs by both sides.

In the American League of the Major Little League, the Merchants won two games to tie for first place in their league. They have four wins and one loss. On Sunday, June 7 at Fairview, the Merchants beat the Professionals 4-2 in a tight ball game. Tom Wilkes, pitching for the Merchants, had 12 strikeouts and allowed only four hits. His catcher was Tim Bryne. The losing pitcher was Gregg Kowal, who allowed eight hits and also had eight strikeouts. Losing catcher was Allyn Schuldt.

ON THURSDAY, June 11, the Merchants again triumphed, this time over the VFW 6-2. Tom Wilkes and Tim Bryne were the winning battery again while Dick Krein and Charles Steifhold were the losing battery. Tom Wilkes contributed much to his win by striking out nine players as well as hitting a home run. Allan Koehler also hit a home run for the VFW.

In the same league, the VFW won their June 9 game against the Yankees at Owens Park, 4-3. The winning pitcher was Tim Rogers and his catcher was Charles Stiefbold. The losing batterys were Al Smith, Bob O'Keefe and Fred Garlach. Homeruns were hit by Tim Rogers of the VFW and Craig Stevens of the Yankees. Extra base hits were hit by VFW players. Dick Krein, Don Jernberg, and Yankee Scott Koopman.

On Sunday, June 7 at Fairview the Country Club Team beat the VFW in a close game 8-7. The Country Club team had 15 hits while the VFW had 10 hits. Starting pitchers were Allan Kaehler and Paul Swanson but as the game went seven innings relief pitchers had to be used. VFW replaced Al Kaehler with Dick Krein while Country Club used two men, first Scott Paris and then Barry Sauter to replace Paul Swanson. Donnie Jernberg was the losing catcher while Rick Lytle was the winning one. Homeruns were hit by two VFW players, Dick Krein and Don Jernberg. Triples were hit by Country Club players Rick Lytle, Scott Paris, and Paul Swanson, as well as VFW man Larry Grundt. Doubles were hit by Keith Bergen, Jim Larocco and Jeff Wolff of Country Club and Eddie Weigt of VFW. The losing pitcher was Dick Krein and the winning pitcher Paul Swanson.

COUNTRY CLUB played another game the next day against the Brunings, winning 13-9. The winning pitcher was Jim Larocco and his catcher was Gregg Lankus until the fifth ending with Rick Lytle replacing him. Wayne Kuklinski pitched for the Brunings and Al Gibbons caught. The Country Club used four pitchers, starting Rick Lytle, then Barry Sauter, then Scott Paris, then Jim Larocco. Fine hits for the Brunings were by Billy Arnold who hit a double and home run, Wayne Kuklinski hit a double and Bob Payne hit a home run. Extra base hits for Country Club were two homeruns for Rick Lytle, one for Keith Bergen, and two home runs for Jim Larocco. Country Club is tied for first place with the Merchants.

At Owens Field on June 10, the Professionals beat the Country Club teams 18-3. Chuck Heinrich was the winning pitcher for the Pros and Allyn Schuldt caught the game for the Pros. For Country Club, Keith Bergen was the starting pitcher. He was relieved in the fourth by Barry Sauter who in turn was relieved by Scott Paris in the fifth. Rick Lytle caught for Country Club.

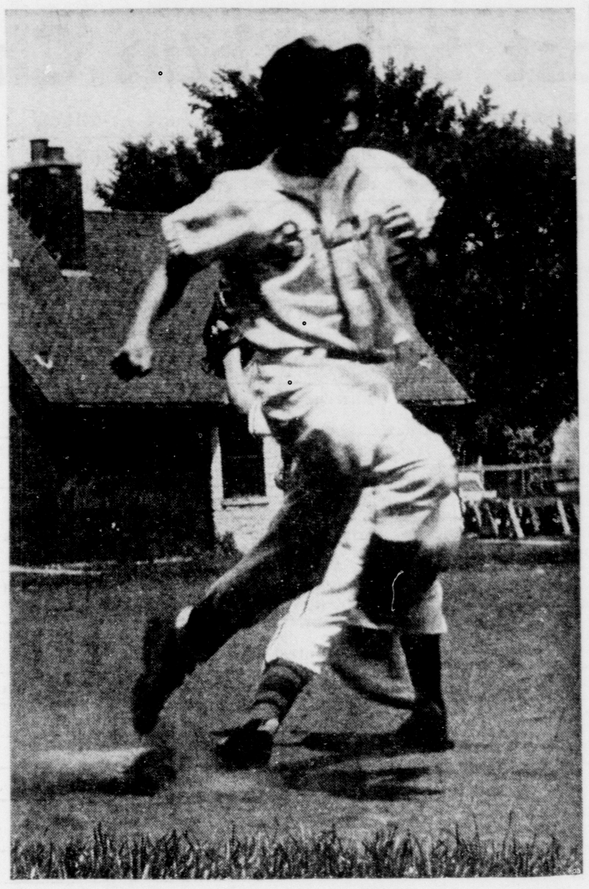
FOR COUNTRY Club, Jim Larocco and Paul Swanson both had perfect days at the plate, each going two for two.

On Friday, June 12 the Yankees overpowered the Brunings Sox in a real slug fest 31-24. The Yankees garnered 25 hits, while the losers had 21 hits. The winning pitcher was Craig Wagner with Ed Lauing as his battery mate. Bob Grady was the losing pitcher with Wayne Kuklinski catching.



WITH A BURST of speed, the Braves' Gary Brown beats out an infield roller in a recent Arlington Heights Little League game at Recreation Park.

MP Braves Gain Four Victories In Pony League

Both the Cardinals and the Braves have won four games in Mt. Prospect Pony League baseball but the Cardinals have lost one game to the Braves.

The Cardinals played the Dodgers on June 6 and beat them 14-2. Pitchers for the Cardinals were Jerry Erbach and Dick Smith while Dennis Mitchel was their catcher. The losing battery was Jim Gay and Wayne Gebhart. Highlights of the game were home runs by Russ Barger and Pat Hogan when two men were on base each time. Jerry Erbach not only pitched five innings of two hit ball, but had four hits at four times at bat.

At Lions Park on June 8 the Cardinals beat the Tigers, 7-1. The Cardinals used Dick Smith, Russ Barger, and George Gaiser as pitchers with George Gaiser getting credit for the win. Gaiser came in on relief with two men on and only one out and retired the side without a score. Winning catcher was Dennis Mitchel. Both Allen Stoike and Dennis Reinol pitched but Stoike is credited with the loss. Dick Jenkins was the losing catcher. In addition to a fine three inning pitching job, George Gaiser got two hits for three times at bat.

SATURDAY, June 13, found the Cardinals beating the Sox by a close score of 11-10. George Gaiser, the winning pitcher, allowed 12 hits, while losing pitcher Jim Hogarty only allowed 8 hits.

June 11, the Cardinals played the Giants in another close game, this time the score ending 8-7 in favor of the Cards. Winning pitcher was George Gaiser and losing pitcher was Bob Geller. The coach tells that there was outstanding field play by shortstop Dick Smith and second baseman Phil Collins.

The Cubs of Mt. Prospect Pony League beat Wheeling 7-3. The winning team had eight hits while the losing team had seven. This was Ron Aukamp's first start as a pitcher and he struck out 13 men. Aukamp also hit a home run to aid his own lead. The losing pitcher was Marty Mielke.

IN OTHER action the Braves came from behind to score four runs in the last half of the seventh inning to register a 10-9 win over the Cards in the first game of the season, and Danny Schmitt led the Braves to a 8-2 win over the Sox with a no-hitter June 4. Schmitt fanned 16 for his masterpiece.

The league leaders collected 15 hits in winning their third game, 16-9 over the Yankees. Jack Gehl had three hits for the winners and Schmitt rapped a homer with a man on.

Schmitt was the key man again as the Braves blanked the Cubs, 5-0. Alan Blomquist slapped a homer and triple.

Illini Forming Possible Cage Power for 1960-61

Watch out for Illinois in Big Ten basketball in 1960-61!

That's the word circulating now as the Western Conference relaxes for three months in preparation for the fall term and another athletic program.

It appears Illinois has done the top job in landing cage standouts with three prize preps signing tenders and indicating they will matriculate at the Champaign-Urbana campus.

THE THREE boys are West Aurora's Bill Small and Canton's Dave Downey from Illinois and 6-8, 240 pound Bill Burwell of Boys high in Brooklyn, one of the East's top performers.

Small and Downey were labeled the best players in Illinois for 1958-59, some observers going as far as to tag them the best pair of cagers ever produced in the state at their respective positions.

Burwell was voted the metropolitan area's most outstanding player and was an all-city center in a section highly-regarded for its prep basketball performers.

THE TRIO would give Illinois an outstanding frosh cager at three positions, a rarity on a plebe outfit. Usually a team is loaded with boys at one or two positions but rarely equipped with an outstanding player at three slots.

Now consider the facts that other boys back for that 1960-61 campaign will be 6-7 Johnny Wessels, product of Rockford West who had an outstanding soph campaign at center; and current frosh Edgar Searcy and Jerry Colangelo. Searcy is a 6-5 product of Crispus Attucks in Indiana who should be a starter next winter while Colangelo of Chicago's Bloom is an excellent outshooter who figures into Harry Combes' type of offense.

Combes could then put the following lineup on the floor: 6-7 Wessels, 6-4½ Downey, and 6-5 Searcy from which to pick two forwards; 6-8 and still growing Burwell at center; and 6-2 Small and 6-3 Colangelo at guards. What a fancy shooting outfit that would be!

More Racing Highlights

Modified stock car racing at the Waukegan Speedway will move into its seventh week Sunday, June 21.

General track manager Michael Kaishian and track promoter John Kaishian announced that another large field of cars will be on hand to compete in the nine event program.

Time trials will begin at 7:15 p.m. with the first of the racing starting at 8:30.

IN ADDITION to the regular running of the modifieds, another large spectator race will be held. As a special added attraction and to help celebrate Waukegan's Centennial, the Kaishian brothers will stage the biggest demolition race ever seen at the speed plant.

Among the top competitors for the evening will be Eddie Stillman, current 1959 point leader; Jack Frost, Zion; Bobby Ratajczyk, Milwaukee; Erick Johnson, Highland Park; Milt Curcio, Racine, and Paul Bell, Waukegan.

Stillman sped to victory in the 25 lap feature Sunday night, marking his third feature win in six starts. The 1958 track champion, Stillman managed to take over the lead position on the 18th lap from Fran Seamars of Milwaukee.

JACK FROST of Zion copped the 15 lap semi feature event by managing to outrun Harry Langfeldt of Milwaukee. His speed of 47.57 mph erased the old mark of 46.19 set by Dominic Sacremento of Waukegan last season. Roy Martinelli of Half Day placed third, driving a modified 1956 Chevrolet.

Over 70 cars and drivers were on hand for the evening events, the largest total of cars and drivers ever to compete at the speedway. Over 50 modified drivers shared in nearly $1,200 in prize money.

Suburban Area Drivers Impressive at O'Hare

The west and northwest suburbs continue to receive a top share in the victory columns in the New-Late Model and Cadet stock car races which will be roaring around O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds., again this Saturday and Sunday nights. First race each night is at 8:30 p.m.

Leading suburbia's representation in the New-Late Model division currently in action with many of the nation's top drivers is Gene Marmor of Schiller Park who ranks second in point ratings behind Bill Lutz of Louisville, Ky. Formerly of Pompano Beach, Fla., Marmor was O'Hare champ in both 1956 and '57.

Never to be discounted, of course, is sensational Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst who has gotten a slightly late start in racing this year. He set an all-time O'Hare record in victories as he emerged as O'Hare's titlist last year and also went on to become National stock car champion.

OTHERS right up near the top from the suburban area include, Kenny Paulsen of Stone Park, who has already won two main events this season; Al Warfield, Forest Park veteran; Tom Cox of Villa Park, always a top threat; Bob Schultz of Elmwood Park, a hard-driving colorful performer, and numerous others.

The Cadet division which serves as the proving ground for newcomers in stock car racing is currently being dominated thoroughly by suburbanites. Top man to date has been rookie Al Rak of Berwyn who is receiving top competition from last year's division champion, little Eddie Patrone of Melrose Park.

Also always tough and rough in Cadet motor mayhem are such as 300-pound Jo Laznick of Des Plaines, Gene Grace of Des Plaines, Jerry Vandermeir of Park Ridge, Dick Clavey of Arlington Heights and several others. Fifty or more cars are in action each Saturday and Sunday at O'Hare. Gates open at 6 p.m.

Each program, unlike any other midwest speedway, is highlighted by two 25-lap main events at O'Hare—one for the fastest New-Late Models and the other for the most torrid of entries in the Cadet division. There is ample policed parking just outside the main gates.

Short Irons Aid Golfer In Cutting Down Strokes

This is the fourth in a series of golf columns by Chuck Pedersen, Class A PGA professional at Rolling Green country club.)

The short irons are the best clubs in your bag to cut strokes off your game. These clubs will get you out of troubles of all types, sand, water, roughs. When you find yourself confronted with these obstructions, these are the clubs that will get you out of the trouble. For these shots accuracy and loft are the major considerations.

The short irons number 7, 8, and 9 are primarily used for accuracy and not distance. They should never be used for a shot more than 150 yards.

THE STANCE for the short irons is the same as you would use for a five iron. The left foot is drawn slightly away from the line of flight and the body is turned a bit toward the cup or the hole. The hands are held close to the body, with the grip about one inch from the top of the shaft.

Because the shaft of the club is shorter, the head and eyes are directly over the ball. The body must be in a relaxed position to assure control and accuracy. The back swing is started in an upright manner with the club face clear to the line of flight. The wrists are not cocked deliberately but are the natural result of an upward momentum of the club.

DURING THE downswing, the right arm is held close to the body and the wrists begin to cock. Here again the uncocking of the wrists is not a deliberate action but a natural result of the momentum created by the arms and the club. At impact the hands are forward of the ball creating a straight line from club through the left arm to the left shoulder. The body is in a perfect balance throughout the swing and the head is motionless.

In the follow through, the club head has followed out on a line towards the target as far as the natural swinging motion of the arms will permit. This follow through will then pull the arms upward and around, at the same time causing the hips and shoulders to turn. The head now has turned toward the target as a result of the hip and shoulder turn, so that the eyes can follow the ball.

The hands will finish high to insure a stroke free from stabbing or a lunge.

In tournament golf the short irons and the putter are the payoff clubs!

WITH THE USE of short irons, the back swing is started in an upright manner with the club face clear to the line of flight. Here Chuck Wrobel, who lives at 616 W. George in Arlington and is co-owner of Excel Inc. in Franklin Park, demonstrates the proper position.

Identification of horses by their coloring is sometimes a tricky business for a beginner. Occasionally one will call a bay horse "brown" or a brown horse "black." Others will call a grey a white or a buckskin a dun.

The most common color found in horses is bay; that is, brown body color with a black mane and tail and black on the lower legs. A horse that looks black but has brown hairs on the muzzle and flanks is technically a brown horse. A black horse has no brown hair on his body at all.

Any white horse, excepting an albino, is technically a grey. An albino is easily recognizable because of the pink skin and pink or "glass" eyes. Most horses have black or dark skin excepting under white markings.

A CHESTNUT is another color which is very common. In this case the horse is brown with mane and tail of the same color or slightly darker brown. A chestnut with a flaxen mane and tail is called a sorrel. Chestnuts may range from a light golden brown to liver or very dark mahogany brown and all shades in between.

Most people recognize palominos as being golden with white mane and tail. A horse which is of all over cream coloring is called a dun. A buckskin has a golden or dun body color but has a black mane and tail and black lower legs and in true buckskins, a black dorsal stripe.

Another less common color is roan. A horse with mixed chestnut and white hairs is a strawberry roan and a horse with mixed white and black or dark grey hairs is a blue roan.

THE TERMS applied to pintos, paints, piebald and skewbald horses are more complicated and will be dealt with in a coming article.

Markings on horses are simple to identify. If the horse has white on the legs extending to the pastern it is called a boot; if the white extends to the knee and hock it is called a sock and if it goes above the knees or hocks it is a stocking.

White on the face, if a small dot, is called a spot; if larger and placed on the forehead between the eyes, a star; if it is an even marking extending the full length of the face it is a blaze. An irregular white marking extending the length of the face is a stripe and if there is a splash of white in the muzzle area it is termed a snip. A horse, which has the entire face covered with white is called a bald faced horse.

It is the mark of a good horseman to know and be able to identify horses using the correct terms, instead of referring to a bay with a stripe and snip and two hind socks as being "a brown and black horse with a white mark on the face and white on the back legs."

NU Hosts Net Finals June 22-28

A field of 72 players from 27 schools will compete in the 75th National Collegiate Tennis Championships to be held at Northwestern University June 22-28.

Every section of the country is represented in the tournament, the oldest of the NCAA championship meets, which started in 1883 at Trinity College. Trinity, Harvard and Yale, who competed in the inaugural meet, are entered in this year's tournament.

During its 75-year history, the meet has produced many players who have gone on to stardom in Davis Cup play. The latest is Alex Olmedo, last year's singles champion, who sparked the United States to victory over Australia in the Davis Cup.

A WIDE OPEN battle for the 1959 singles title is in prospect following the departure of Olmedo who won the championship in 1956 and 1958. Barry MacKay of Michigan, also a Davis Cup player, was the 1957 winner.

Koops Mustard Increases AH Twilight Lead

Koops Mustard turned in a sterling performance Friday night in the Arlington Heights twilight league at Mt. Prospect country club to pick up 10½ points for a strong hold on first place.

Lauterburg and Oehler and Dahl-Olson are in the contending slots but still off the pace set by the leaders. The rest of the pack is spread in the thirties.

Eight birds were posted: Cecil Jamison, Jack Makinson, Gordon Ward, Len Haines, Ted Fonfara, Ed Labo, Don McGowan, and Ed Pool.

Don McGowan and Jean Mack turned in a bird combination on the fourth hole in the two ball tournament last Sunday. All the net scores were based on the Peoria system. From the looks of some of the gross scores, some of the wives of our league could give their husbands a lesson or two!

Pharmacy Falters in Golf League

Keefer's Pharmacy saw their lead diminish in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight League as they lost a tough match to Wille Lumber & Fuel 7½-2½. The defeat, which marked their second loss in seven starts, cut their league lead to four points and moved their worthy opponents into a tie for second place.

Nelson Realty, second place incumbents, racked up another victory, this time over Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes, but the 6½ points gained versus the Bowling Lanes' 3½ was not enough to give them clear possession and they were forced to move over in their berth to make room for the surging Wille Lumber boys.

In other matches Golden's Food Shop eked out a 5½-4½ victory over Kersting's Garden Center, Licht's Paint Store outscrambled Mt. Prospect Elec. Constr. 6-4, and Carl's Food Shop was clobbered by Geo. O'Day Realty 7½-2½.

ANNEN & BUSSE Realtors renewed their basement lease for another week after Mt. Prospect Jewelers subdued their bids for a better location 6½-3½.

Birdies were reported by G. Adams No. 3, W. Welky No. 9, C. Robinson, No. 16, and Long Ball Stofft "mammied" a deuce on No. 7.

League president Fred Jilek announced last week that all plans for the Husband and Wife Tournament have been completed. The annual event will be held this year on Sunday, June 28, at Mt. Prospect Country club. Tee-off time will be 2 p.m. The tourney will be a two-ball foursome with husband and wife hitting alternate shots. Prizes will be awarded the winners based on the Peoria handicapping system.

PH Team Moves Into First Place

June 16, was a position round in the Rob Roy Tuesday League. While the first two teams were battling to a 4-3 decision, the third place team, Prospect Heights Service Station, slipped into first place with a 5½-1½ win over the fourth place team. The J. L. Stearns team was also a 5½-1½ winner over Borchards.

Low net for the front nine was shared by four players and Wayne Rolfs took low gross with a neat 37. There were no players to break 40 on the back nine, and C. Peterson was low net with a 35. The team standings after play June 16, are as follows:

Neubauer, Gertenrich Check Tilers' Surge

James Neubauer and John Gertenrich combined their efforts to repel the Peterson Tilers' attempt to reach the first place position. The hot Peterson Tile team was cooled when Jim Neubauer put together a birdie, 7 pars and a bogey to score a par 35 and defeat the Tilers No. 1 golfer, Jim Keane, who despite losing the match, just narrowly missed an attempt for another eagle on the par 5 fifth hole. John Gertenrich had his fine bird on the hard par 4 third hole and then proceeded to break John St. Germaine's six match victory streak. The Jim and John combine were good enough for a 5 point victory over the Petersen Tilers.

Another winning combine stood their ground when Al Griffith, Ken Fuhr and E. Tabor clicked to carry their Griffith Insurance team to a 5½ point margin over the Webber Painters. Al Griffith put together a fine 35 to best Don Hamburg while Ken Fuhr easily won over Magnusen. The other decisive match was in itself strange for although Howie Kamps beat Tabor's score by two strokes he lost the match by one hole. The only bright star for the brushmen was Gene Doyle who salvaged 2½ points for the Webber Paint five.

ARLINGTON PHARMACY attempted to rally back into contention but were stilled even though Len Arnold's fine 37 bested Big Dan Musser in their match. Arnold was two under par until the last two holes when he picked up birdies on No. 11 and the long 540 yd. par 5 fifteenth. Musser's pillrollers rallied together and wins by Joe Lohr, Ed Spacapan and Eller carried the team.

Gordon Otto came in two over par on the back nine to muster enough ammunition for a 5-3 victory over the Arlington Rest Home quintet. Otto had a big assist from John Andrup while the three wins in matches for the Rest Home team were just that and only worth three points.

Roto Mercury hung tenaciously on to third place by splitting the points with the L'Nor Cleaner team. The victories were Wayne Rolfs over Don Hager. Shelby Stewart over Prellberg, Carl Berlin over Hornbostel, Matyas over Til Foy and J. Smith over Virgil Rolfs. Virgil is one the L'Nor Cleaners sponsors and was kind enough to donate six golf balls that were used as a special event prize. The special events committee extends its thanks for the co-operation of Virgil.

Haut's Gross 36 Sparks Friday Golf

Arlington country club's Friday night golf league had a good change of standings last week with Webber Paints jumping from fourth to first by virtue of their seven point sweep over Prospect Heights Pharmacy.

Low putts honors went to Bud Haut who coupled his 12 putts with a one-over-par 36. Haut, always on the apron or slightly off due to the gusty winds, one putted seven greens, two putted one, and three putted the 18th for his only bogey of the day.

Low gross honors went to Haut's 36 followed by John Karbent's 37 and Bud Barnett's 39. Low net honors at 33 were shared by Ray Downing, Mel Vogt, Al Snell, and Haut.

THE BEST wind players were the only men posting birds: B. Brunke, E. Dettinger, H. Gallmeier, J. Karbens, and B. LeStarge, all taking their honors on the 14th.

There are still open slots for players as regulars or as alternates. Those interested may call Pro Dan Taggart at LE 7-2240.

Form Paddock Tourney To Aid Twilight Play

Fourteen twilight golf leagues are expected to compete for honors Sunday, Aug. 16, in Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap golf tournament with first place teams as of Aug. 1 eligible.

The Paddock tournament was started years ago as a method of cementing interest in twilight golf. Seven leagues were playing then, but each operated separately without area interest. Ray Sophie, then manager of Mt. Prospect country club, suggested some kind of tournament, sponsored by the Paddock newspapers, to focus attention on twilight golf.

SPORTS Editor Bob Paddock, a non-golfer if there ever was one, came through with the idea of first place teams only as a newspaper-sponsored promotion stunt. The idea was quick to catch on, with the help of golf league secretaries, with the bowling tournaments also started the following year as a result.

The tournament has come to mean sort of a "world series" of all twilight leagues in the area, though restricted solely to twilight golfers competing within the area served by Paddock Publications. It was not the intent to have as many golfers as possible in the big event, but to focus attention on the meet as golfers tried "to make first place on the vital date."

MORE GOLFERS fook up the twilight game, with more leagues entering the tourney. Paddock sports department is seeking a complete list of leagues and secretaries at this moment to verify the official list of loops eligible for the tournament. Official entry blanks and rules of the tourney will be mailed to league secretaries next week.

Leagues expected to compete in the tournament at Nordic Hills country club included five groups competing at Mt. Prospect: Two St. Raymond leagues, Arlington Friday, Mt. Prospect Monday and Mt. Prospect Tuesday; Tuesday Twilight and St. James at Rob Roy; Roselle and Hoffman Estates at Roselle; Tioga VFW at Mohawk; Wayside-Colette at Chevy Chase; Friday Night at Arlington; and Old Orchard Scratch and Arlington VFW at Old Orchard.

GREENS fees of $16 per foursome will be payable with entry from each league. This is exact cost of greens fees at Glendale country club where the tournament will be held Aug. 16 starting at 11 a.m. Playing foursomes will be paired according to handicaps with the better golfers teeing off first.

Future Farmers of America — FFA — 4H CLUB

4-H Clubbers Confer in Washington

Four of Illinois' outstanding 4-H Club members flew to Washington, D.C., on June 12, to take part in the 29th National 4-H Conference June 13-19.

These 1959 delegates are Linda Lou Smith, 20, Macomb, McDonough county; Audrey Mascitti, 20, Sieger, Cook county; Robert Bohlen, 19, Moweaqua, Shelby County; and Howard Werkheiser, 19, Kewanee, Henry County.

These young people spent a full week in the nation's capital city in citizenship training as representatives of Illinois' more than 67,000 4-H club members.

THE DELEGATES visited Congress and other governmental functions and went on educational tours to historic places in and around Washington. They heard some of the top officials in the government speak on the nature and history of our democratic system and met in discussion groups to summarize what they learned.

Selection to attend National 4-H Conference is the highest honor a 4-H member can achieve. Delegates are chosen by the state 4-H Club staff at the University of Illinois for their leadership ability, outstanding achievements in 4-H Club work and participation in project and community activities.

Mrs. JoAnn Sievers and George Daigh, members of the state 4-H staff, accompanied the Illinois delegation this year as state 4-H staff representatives and chaperons. (Fm

Elk Grove Hears Talks

The monthly meeting of the Elk Grove 4-H club was held June 10 at the home of Dale Landmeier on Landmeier rd.

Talks were given by Nancy Carlson on "California Rabbits," Judy Sullivan on "How to Plant Squash," Linda Brown on "Butchering and Skinning Rabbits" and Glenn Busse on "Hogs." One important point of interest on the talk about hogs is that some people call the large animals that roam around in the mud, pigs. This is not so. Pigs are young hogs from one to ten weeks old.

Demonstrations were given by Connie Carlson and Barbara Westberg on "The Judging of Livestock," and Barbar Brown on "Angora Rabbits."

The 4-H King and Queen delegates from the club are Sandy Zick, who has been in 4-H club work for six years, and Joe Miller, who has been in for five years.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Landmeier.

The next meeting is to be held Tuesday night, July 14, at the home of Glenn Busse on Algonquin rd. in Arlington Heights.

Keep-Fit Day Is Set For June 19

Keeping-Fit Field Day on June 19, at 9:30 a.m. is the day when North Cook County 4-H Club members put special emphasis on the health H of the four H's.

Every 4-H member who enrolls in the series of test will be weighed, measured and tested with a variety of exercises to find out how fit he is physically, says Assistant Farm Adviser James Fizzell.

After these tests of strength, flexibility, speed, endurance and organic fitness have been given, each 4-H'er will be graded against standard score tables that will tell him how he compares in fitness with others his age.

HE WILL ALSO be given a body-type growth chart that will establish his growth schedule. Years of tests have shown that many 4-H youngsters are off schedule in their growth rate and do not know it.

Strength, flexibility and endurance are very important in this age of "take it easy," Fizzell says. A recent New York test showed that more than half of the children tested between the ages of 6 and 19 years failed a simple muscular test. The research workers predict that these children will have aching backs when they get older because their back muscles are weak from lack of exercise.

While 56 per cent of these U.S. children failed the test, 92 per cent of the Italian and Austrian children given the same test passed it. The European children were stronger, more graceful and agile because they walked to school, climbed stairs instead of taking the elevator and got their recreation from active exercise rather than going to the movies.

Snappy 4H'ers Achievement Night Held

At the last two meetings of the Snappy 4 H'ers held May 6 and 27, Peggy Lightner gave a talk on safety and Nancy Cates gave a talk on the same topic at the second meeting. The members then enjoyed refreshments. On June 10 at 7:30 the Sanppy 4-H'ers held their local Achievement night at Recreation park field house before parents and friends of the members.

A dress review was presented by all the girls, modelling the clothes made during the year. Judy Henry presented a puppet show and Pat Pukszta gave an accordion solo. Barbara Brown gave a demonstration on making a cherry pie. The various handicraft projects were exhibited and judged. Refreshments were served to all.

Westgate Center Marks Its Birthday

Arlington Heights' Westgate Park and Shop center is turning the tables this week. It's the center's third birthday, but they're giving the presents.

Starting Monday, June 15 and extending through Saturday, June 20, merchants of eight Westgate stores will take their customers on a treasure hunt through the sotres.

TREASURE chests will be located in each store. Keys to open the chests were mailed to customers this week. If a person's key opens a treasure chest, he'll receive one of the many prizes in the chest. Locks on chests will be changed daily, so keys may be fried daily.

A helicopter will be on hand Saturday at 9 a.m. to drop balls containing gift certificates. (B8

Beleaguered Dads Honored with Day

The dandelion once was selected as the appropriate flower for Father's day because "the more it is trampled on, the more it grows."

That about sums up the plight of Father. Once a year we throw him a bouquet — or a tie — and chalk up another duty well done.

But the old man surely is worthy of better treatment because, as The World Book Encyclopedia points out, his name is a title of honor given to those who establish anything important in human affairs.

Take George Washington, for example, known as the Father of His Country. Washingt on shares that title with such illustrious Romans as Cicero, Julius Caesar and the emperor Augustus.

HOMER IS called the Father of Epic Poetry because of his "Iliad" and the "Odyssey." Geoffrey Chaucer, whose "Canterbury Tales" established a standard form of English verse, is known as the Father of English Poetry.

Every physician honors the Father of Medicine when he takes the oath devised by the Greek physician Hippocrates. And any man who ever baited a hook knows that Izaak Walton, author of the "The Complete Angler," is the Father of Angling.

The age of the atom has ushered in even more "fathers." J. Robert Oppenheimer has been called the Father of the Atomic Bomb, while Dr. Edward Teller is credited with being the Father of the Hydrogen Bomb. Admiral Hyman Rickover is known as the Father of the Atomic Submarine.

That's enough to put any father's head in the clouds. But lest he begin to feel giddy from these associations, let him remember that Satan is called the Father of Lies. (B8

Average 10 Per Cent Loss Annually in Grain Storage

Farmers average a 10 per cent loss of grain in storage to insects every year. In dollars and cents this adds up to a tidy sum that farmers never get.

Grain insects are always present, explains Steve Moore, extension entomologist with the University of Illinois and Illinois Natural History Survey. During winter they are relatively inactive. But when warm weather arrives their numbers increase by leaps and bounds. By summer they have mobilized forces and are ready to invade stored wheat and other small grains.

MOORE HAS outlined a program to control stored grain insects. If farmers follow this program they should have little trouble with these insects in 1959.

1. Clean up storage bins and all equipment used for handling grain. Also remove accumulations of old grain near bins. Studies show that 70 to 80 per cent of infestations arise in stored grains because insects are already in bins where new grain is dumped.

2. Spray bins to kill insects that escaped during the clean-up. Some insects, such as cadelle, bore into bin walls. Only sprays will eliminate them.

3. Store only clean, dry grain. The moisture content of stored wheat should never exceed 13 per cent. High moisture creates certain odors that attract insects and hasten their development. Clean grain is important because it seems to discourage their breeding.

4. Treat the grain as further insurance. Use a premium-grade malathion protectant spray or dust. Every farmer who stores wheat or sheltered corn for extended periods will find this treatment profitable. Even oats should be treated when past experience has indicated grain insects to be a problem. For more information on sprays and dusts to use, contact your farm adviser.

5. Reinspect grain at regular intervals. Moore suggests at least twice a month during the summer and once a month during the winter. Metal rods inserted in the grain mass are a practical method to detect "hot" spots. Moisture builds up or insects create these spots.

MOORE EMPHASIZES that all farmers storing wheat will benefit by following these control measures.

Farmers storing ear corn should follow the procedure for cleaning and spraying bins. Do it when bins are cleaned out in June or July. Oats do not require protective treatment from stored grain insects unless they were bothered last year.

Insects seldom attack stored barley, so this crop does not require protective treatment either. And, since insects in stored soybeans feed on molds and not on the beans, do not be alarmed if you find insects in soybean bins.

Hirsch Named To Delegation

Donald E. Hirsch, assistant commodity director of the American Farm Bureau Federation who resides at 316 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, has been named by the U. S. Department of State as a member of the U. S. delegation to the 15th International Dairy Congress.

Held every three years by the International Dairy Federation, this year's meeting will be in London, England, June 29-July 3.

Following the congress, Mr. Hirsch will survey governmental dairy price programs in Denmark, England, Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, and West Germany. Information thus obtained will be useful to Farm Bureau in evaluating various dairy proposals and programs in this country.

Hirsch's past experience has given him the broad background necessary for these assignments.

DONALD S. HIRSCH

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, he has been serving as a dairy specialist for the American Farm Bureau Federation in the organization's Chicago office since July 1957. He formerly was employed by the federal government as an agricultural economist for 15 years. He served as chief of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's farmer cooperative service dairy branch in Washington, D. C., from 1950 to 1957. In that post he was directly responsible for a broad dairy marketing research program. Cattle Boom Continues; Price Prospect Favorable

by L. H. SIMERL

The cattle situation is showing most of the typical indications of a boom. Although present prices are high, continuation of the high rate of build-up in cattle numbers could cause serious troubles in the future. The increase in cow numbers was not extremely large last year—only 19 per cent of the total increase in cattle numbers. Beef supplies under normal marketings from current numbers of breeding stock would not be unduly high. However, a large increase in cow numbers in the next few years could provide market supplies of beef far in excess of our population growth and could lead to a serious price collapse.

Slaughter of cows for the first quarter of the year was 24 per cent below that of a year earlier. Cattle slaughter this year has largely consisted of fed cattle and culls. Cattle that offer some possibilities of further profit have been held either for additional feeding or for calving.

WITH THE sharp build-up in cattle numbers that is occurring, the situation becomes more sensitive to range and crop condition. A drouth in the range area or adverse crop conditions could bring sharp price reactions in both slaughter and replacement cattle markets.

Since last October fed cattle prices have followed almost an identical pattern with that of the previous year, but have stayed slightly higher.

Recently there has been some decline in fed cattle prices. Last year about a $4 decline occurred in prices of choice cattle from the last of April to the first of August. Marketing of fed cattle will likely be high during this summer period, but it is doubtful whether prices will decline as they did last year.

IN THE PAST few weeks the number of cattle slaughtered under federal inspection has been equal to, or slightly greater than that a year ago. This is an increase in slaughter rate from the first quarter of this year, when total numbers slaughtered were about 7 per cent below a year ago. Average weights have also been heavier, so total beef production has been a little larger than it was last year.

Total slaughter so far this year has been less, but slaughter of fed cattle has averaged about 8 per cent larger than last year. Prices of fed cattle have been strongly supported by lack of other kinds of cattle coming to market. This lack of supply of lower grade cattle has caused a narrow spread of market prices that will be likely to continue throughout the year.

Demand for replacement cattle and movement to the country have continued at a very high level. The average cost of stocker feeder cattle for the last week in May at the ten major markets was about $2.25 above a year earlier. While the movement of replacement cattle seems to have dropped some in May, shipments to the Corn Belt in April were almost half again as large as a year earlier. For the period January through April, they averaged one-fourth more than in the previous year. This heavy movement indicates that the supply of fed cattle coming to the market will continue high. However, with small supplies of non-fed cattle, the supply of beef per person will probably be about 80 pounds, the same as it was last year.

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

By: CARL F. MEES
Farm Adviser

Down home on the farm I had my own opinion about what I thought our County Farm Adviser and assistant should be and do. I thought it would be nice if I could call him out to help as farm labor when the rush season came along. Little did I know at that time all the details day and night in which county extension personnel are involved. There is one area of extension activities I'll bet most of you haven't heard about. That is—do you have any idea how many funerals and weddings your farm adviser attends each year? It would be more than you think.

This brings me to the subject of health and safety. I'm telling you the truth when I say tears have been shed in my office on both subjects when folks tell me their story.

POLIO—all I can say is—ask your doctor to begin your shots. If you have had three, get that fourth one. (That reminds me I must get that fourth one too.)

Diphtheria—First dose at six months and a booster dose every third or fourth year to age 10.

Small Pox—First dose at 3-6 months and a booster dose every third year.

Tetanus (lockjaw)—First dose 3-6 months and a booster dose one year after first dose and every three to five years thereafter. Always get a booster dose when there is any possibility of infection.

Whooping Cough—First dose 3-6 months and booster dose one year after first dose and every third or fourth year thereafter.

Some of the above come in combined doses. See your doctor for that.

NOW FOR SAFETY—Dad always said to shut the tractor off when you get off. I've heard some gruesome stories on accidents here in the county. I've seen some gruesome pictures. Some you wouldn't want to look at.

Another thing—tell your son to slow down with the car and to drive safely. Boys under 25 are causing a higher percentage of auto accidents than anyone else. They are making insurance rates go up.

As far as health and safety goes money won't buy it. I don't expect a millionaire is much safer in his automobile than you are in yours. Nor will his health be any better. Nor will he enjoy a steak more.

While we can never measure accomplishments in safety and health education, I hope you people in Cook County will do all you can to set a good record.

I enjoy the weddings, which I can attend and hope the couple has health, happiness and success for many years to come.

As far as funerals go, I sometimes wonder who'll be next. Did Extension Service fall down along the way and not warn folks about polio shots or to teach safety judgment and awareness?

You people have the intelligence, know-how, and level-of-learning to carry out your own safety and health program. Don't put it off! Do it now! (Fm

Vertical Integration Can Reduce Agriculture Risk

Vertical integration's big attraction for the farm industry is reduction of risk, according to E. E. Broadbent, University of Illinois agricultural economist. With large-scale integration inching into the pork industry, he "Who will assume this risk?"

Broadbent listed four groups that could assume the risk. They are the credit agencies, the packers or distributors, the feed manufacturers and strong farm organizations.

ALTHOUGH THE total risk would be smaller, the integrating group would assume much of the risk now borne by separate agencies.

"The person who assumes the risk accepts responsibility for the losses," the economist explained, "but the profits are also his." This means that the integrator will have a right to a larger share of the profits in the pork industry.

Commercial credit agencies could take the lead in integration, Broadbent said, but they are reluctant to move into farm financing on a large scale. Consequently, some federal agencies have already underwritten certain forms of expansion.

Packers have begun integration by contracting to buy hogs. Many packers presently operate their own cattle and sheep feeding yards.

The large food chain stores are moving into the field of processing by operating their own packing plants or by processing carcasses for consumer distribution.

BROADBENT explained that feed manufacturers were largely responsible for the integration in the broiler industry. "If feed companies choose to cut their margins on swine rations," he added, "they could present a contract to the midwest hog farmer that would further expand integration in the swine industry."

If farm groups want more control in future integration, according to Broadbent, they will have to form stronger groups that can provide more services, at competitive prices, for their farm patrons. He added, "Integration offers a new challenge and opportunity for farm leaders to take definite steps to improve agricultural business."

No matter who assumes the risk in integration of the swine industry, Broadbent concluded, four qualifications must be met to make the integrated program function. There must be (1) a sufficient volume; (2) a standardized product, which means a better system of grading; (3) enough outlets to handle and distribute the finished product; and (4) someone to provide credit or financing. Spiders Suck Juice From Evergreen Tree

By: JAMES FIZZELL
Assistant Farm Adviser

Several species of mites that feed on evergreens are commonly called Red Spiders.

These mites are small, active creatures that look like specks running about and feeding on the leaves. They range in color from pale yellow, to red and almost black, with or without darker spots.

The immature mites have only six legs, but after molting, the adults all have eight legs. The eggs, laid on the under side of the leaves hatch in about one week in warm weather, and a generation may be completed in 2 weeks.

MITES FEED by rasping or piercing the leaves of the plant and sucking the juices and chlorophyl. A plant thus damaged will be grayish in color with leaves and even whole areas dying. This damage is due, not to the voracious feeding of a few mites, but to the feeding of the tremendous population which quickly builds up.

Red spiders feed on junipers, spruce, pines, cedars and arbor vitae, but are not found on yews.

Plants that are likely to be attacked by red spider should be inspected, frequently to detect and control the mites before damage occurs. A quick and simple way to inspect a plant is to shake a few branches over a piece of white paper. If mites are present, they can be seen running about on the paper when it is held in a bright light.

RED SPIDER can be controlled by spraying the plants with Aramite 15W at the rate of one heaping teaspoon to a gallon of water. One thorough application should give control throughout the summer.

Malathion 25W at the same rate is also effective but repeated applications are necessary, and this material will injure some types of junipers. (Fm

Be Careful In Using Farm Fuels

The fuels you use on your farm can be your servant, or they can do lots of damage. It all depends on how you handle them.

It is the vapors from petroleum products that are dangerous, according to O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. A flame, a spark or even too much heat can ignite these vapors. In some cases explosions have occurred from vapors ignited several hundred feet away from the point where the flammable liquids were being stored or handled.

Here are some precautions from Hogsett. Heed them to help protect yourself and your property.

NEVER REFUEL a tractor while the motor is running or is hot. Check fuel lines frequently to avoid leaky connections. Never draw or handle flammable liquids in the presence of an open flame or other source of ignition.

An underground tank with a pump similar to the equipment used in service stations provides the safest storage for large supplies of tractor fuels on the farm. The next best method is to store gasoline supplies in a well-constructed steel tank located at least 40 feet or more from farm buildings. If a separate enclosure is used, it should permit vapors to escape in case of a leak or spills.

When it is necessary to bring gasoline inside, use a red-labeled container of an approved safety type. Never store gasoline in a glass container. (Fm

Wilderness Horseback Trip Is Unforgettable Vacation

Want to explore the real American wilds? It is possible, by taking one of 15 pack trips which penetrate 11 of the outstanding wilderness areas in North America. Organized and directed by The American Forestry association, Washington, D. C., these expeditions, known as the "Trail Riders of the Wilderness," are conducted on a non-profit basis as part of the association's educational services. (One trip will be made by canoes), the balance on horseback.

These trips explore a land of enchantment seldom seen by Americans. They take travelers into the great roadless domains still left on our continent where lofty mountain ranges, wooded valleys and rolling meadows vie with the beauty of alpine flora and sparkling lakes. To sportsmen, to botanists, to ornithologists and nature lovers, these areas spell outdoor paradise and they cannot be matched anywhere on this earth for superb, wild and unbowed wilderness.

THE TRIPS scheduled are: the High Uintas Wilderness, Ashley National Forest, Utah, July 7 to 17; Quetico-Superior Wilderness, Superior National Forest, Minnesota (canoe trip), July 14 to 23; Wind River Mountains, Bridger Wilderness, Bridger National Forest, Wyoming, July 14 to 25 and August 4 to 15; Maroon Bells-Snowmass Wilderness, White River and Gunnison national forests, Colorado, July 24 to August 3 and August 4 to 14; Sawtooth Wilderness, Sawtooth and Boise national forests, Idaho, July 28 to August 7 and August 11 to 21; Anaconda-Pintlar Wilderness, Beaverhead, Bitterroot and Deerlodge national forests, Montana, August 3 to 12; Teton Wilderness, Teton National Forest and Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, August 10 to 21; San Juan Wilderness, San Juan National Forest, Colorado, August 11 to 21 and August 24 to September 3; Gila Wilderness, Gila National Forest, New Mexico, August 25 to September 4; Mt. Whitney-High Sierra Wilderness, Sequoia National Park and Inyo National Forest, California, August 26 to September 4 and Pecos Wilderness, Santa Fe and Carson national forests, New Mexico, September 7 to 17.

The trips begin at designated assembly points near the scenes of the various rides, and parties are limited from 20 to 25 persons each.

THE AMERICAN Forestry Association is the oldest national conservation organization in America. Its operation of the "Trail Riders of the Wilderness" since 1933 has become a promoting factor in the national plan to greater recreational opportunities. As a group, the Trail Riders represent a means by which any man or woman, in a formal state of health and with an average amount of riding experience, may, by sharing the cost, fully enjoy true wilderness country under experienced and organized leadership. For cooperating with the American Forestry Association are the United States Forest Service and the National Park Service, the two government agencies responsible for the administration and protection of the larger remnants of the primitive. Under this leadership more than 3400 men and women have participated in 215 separate expeditions to the major wilderness areas of 12 states. More than 20,000 miles of wilderness trail have been explored.

Detailed information, itineraries and reservations are available from the American Forestry Association, 919 Seventeenth st., N. W., Washington 6, D. C. (A13

Danish Group Believes Everyone Needs a Garden

By BILL DILLINGHAM

Everybody should have a garden!

This is the slogan of the Ground Allotment League of Denmark. This group is trying to give every Danish citizen a garden where he can cultivate vegetables, fruits and an interest in nature.

Thousands of families are couped-up in city apartments. They spend most of their lives "bricked-in." They never get fresh earth under their fingernails, only the fine grit of the cities.

The Ground Allotment League takes large areas of government land and parcels it out to city dwellers. In this way a family can have a full-sized garden. Children can learn that tomatoes don't grow on trees; they can watch nature at work.

MOST DANES, when and if they get their free garden, start by putting up a flagpole and hoisting the Danish flag. This is a kind of first-move for starting things in Denmark. Without a flag, things wouldn't be in order.

Then might come visits to the League center for gardening instruction. Classes are held for those who are very enthusiastic.

If the citizen so desires, he can get a garden large enough to accommodate a small cabin. In this way he can make weekend excursions out of his garden efforts.

Prizes are given for the best gardens, and to those who engage in valuable and original horticultural experiments.

There are at present 100,000 such gardens in Denmark. League authorities point out that they grow millions of kroner worth of foodstuff yearly, and that gardening is the very best possible form of realization. (B2

Officers, Directors Take New Posts for Little City

Phillip Roberts of Grayslake, newly elected president of Little City, Inc., speaking at the installation of new officers June 10 at the Palmer House, stated that "The eyes of the country are focused on our group."

"This is because now, after almost three years of struggling, the first children are about to be housed in our community. This pilot program will set the pace for similar action on the behalf of mentally retarded children in other progressive communities," he said.

IN ADDITION to the installation of Roberts the following officers were elected:

First vice president, Morris Perlman, Wilmette; second vice president, Mrs. Sylvia Goldstein, Chicago; third vice president, Robert Misch, Highland Park; treasurer, Monty Hyman Chicago; financial secretary, Louis M. Schutz, Chicago; assistant financial secretary, Irving Projansky, Chicago; recording secretary, Mrs. Janet O'Connor, Chicago; and corresponding secretary, B. Richard Goddard, Skokie.

Elected as members of the board of directors were some 40 additional prominent citizens.

Little City is a unique community which, when complete, will house 500 mentally retarded children. Now under construction, along Algonquin road (route 62) south of Rolling Meadows, the first three buildings on the 60-acre tract will be ready for occupancy in late June. At that time, the first 60 children will be admitted to the non-sectarian, non-profit center for mentally retarded children.

Suspend, Revoke Licenses

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week announced the revocation of 126 and the suspension of 451 drivers licenses, chauffeurs' licenses and driving privileges based on court convictions and police reports.

In addition, 125 persons whose licenses were suspended earlier and who did not have more than a total point accumulation of 62 have been granted probationary permits to drive.

For driving while intoxicated, three area residents lost their licenses: Joe B. Bolin, 209 W. Miner, Arlington Heights; Eugene T. Ferguson, 2105 Beechnut rd., Northbrook; and Ambrose J. Kriesse, RR 1, Roselle.

The following drivers are now licenseless for having committed three violations: Robert E. Boles, 296 Briarwood lane, Palatine; James J. Bruscato, 504 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights; Joseph W. Gale, 411 S. Oak, Palatine; John J. Garrity, 206 Sarah ct., Wheeling; Myrle H. Jones, 1440 W. Lincoln, Mt. Prospect.

The list of suspensions included William Klamorick, RR 2, Palatine; Charles E. Knapp, 616 Newbury pl., Arlington Heights; Leo A. Diana, 6 N. 665 Clover rd., Roselle; George C. Drucker, 455 N. Cedar, Wood Dale; Kathryn I. Pilliam, 338 York, Bensenville; Robert C. King, 238 Princeton, Addison. (B13

by STUART R. PADDOCK

After sitting in at an off-the-cuff interview with Vice President Nixon and members of the National Editorial Association at Colorado Springs last week, we discovered that there is not much difference in the manner in which Congress operates and the governing bodies back home.

Worth while projects often fail because of politics or pressure groups.

Nixon answered a batter of questions which covered almost every national question except one—desegregation.

It was the one subject that we did not hear discussed in the bull sessions of the editors who had come from all parts of the country.

We can not imagine a reporter missing such a controversial subject, but the interviewers were only editors!

During preceding days the editors had been given briefings on NORAD, the joint defense operation of the United States and Canada, as well as the new U. S. Air Force Academy, both located near Colorado Springs.

If an unidentified aircraft passes the DEW line near the Arctic Circle, that fact is known by NORAD in a matter of minutes.

The progress of the plane southward is checked, as well as the measures taken to correctly identify, and ifneces sary destroy it.

This watchfulness is going on 24 hours of the day. Upon a huge screen we could see why aircraft movements thousnads of miles distant is no secret to NORAD.

Electric computers greatly speed up air defense reaction and can s e m i - a u tomatically control much of the air battle situation.

When we asked a colonel how many congressmen had visited NORAD, the center of our air defense, we were told "Very few."

Evidently some congressmen consider junkets to Europe more important.

The USAF Chief of Staff, Major General J. V. Crabb, made it clear that the Air Force, the Navy including the Marines, the Army and the Royal Canadian Air Force have a fine effective working relationship on their plans for the North American Air Defense Command. Each officer of the four sections of the NORAD made it clear that branches of the armed service can and are working as a powerful unit.

Admittance to the Air Academy is now easy. Less than a third of those who apply are admitted. It all starts back in their baby days, an officer told us. He said, "The baby who is allowed to say 'no' when he is told to eat his breakfast, will not be good material for the Academy when he is a man."

The entire Nixon interview was devoid of politics and he did not request that his remarks be considered "off the record."

When asked "is there a need for the United Nations?" He countered with "Is it not better to talk than to shoot?"

Nixon said that he likes a good fight when it is in the other party. He looks for a Republican victory. He has not yet officially announced his own candidacy. It is his opinion that Russia does not want a war any more than the Allies, but preparedness is the only thing that will curb Soviet plans to conquer the world.

Giant Project Seeks Rezoning

Arlington Heights village trustees have until June 29 to decide whether to defend a suit filed against them last week or open the door to the largest apartment project ever scheduled for the village.

In a mandamus suit filed against the village Saturday morning, six plaintiffs seek court action forcing the village to rezone 5.6 acres between Euclid ave. and the North Western railroad tracks from single-family to multiple family dwelling use.

Plans call for the erection of five buildings totaling 114 one and two-bedroom apartments on the site.

The suit was filed when Arlington Heights' village board, apparently headed toward approval of the rezoning petition, reversed itself, denied the petition, and finally, by a split vote, referred the matter back to the village's zoning board of appeals where it originated over two years ago.

DURING THE long and bitter struggle to thwart proposed plans for the site, Arlingdale homeowners turned out in force almost weekly to lodge their protests with the village board.

They argue the proposed density of the project would devalue surrounding property, overload municipal facilities, and burden area schools.

Named in the suit are Mayor Edward Carlisle, the six village trustees, the village clerk, the village building commissioner, and chairman of the planning commission.

The suit cites the opinion of a Northwest Suburban Realty board committee, originally sought by the village board, that the land in contention is best suited for multiple-family dwellings. Also cited is the fact that the board of trustees unanimously passed a resolution last April 20 to rezone the land from single-family to multiple-dwelling, with the plan commission to recommend a maximum number of units for the tract. The petitioners sought 128 units, but the plan commission recommended 114, which the petitioners accepted, but which were later rejected by the village board.

PLAINTIFFS IN the suit are John V. Lizars, a New York attorney, Stuart Realty company, William Kleiner, 314 S. State rd., Leonard Roesler, 1100 W. Euclid, William Mueller, and the LaSalle National bank as trustee for Arthur R. Thiersch, 1018 N. Evergreen. Attorney for the plaintiffs is Eugene P. Meegan.

Should the village fight the suit, the case will likely appear before Judge Thomas Kluczynski, according to Village Attorney Stephen Jurco.

The controversial parcel is part of a triangular shaped tract whose apex at the railroad tracks and Euclid was the subject of a two-year battle resolved last September in Circuit court.

A declaratory judgment by Judge Harry Fisher rezoned the land from farm to commercial and multiple-dwelling classifications.

Warn Residents To Check Valves

Home owners within a block of Arlington Heights' new million gallon water tank at Thomas and Walnut sts. had better insure their hot water tank valves are set above 85 lbs. pressure, or expect flooded basements.

Filling of the tank, completed last week, resulted in at least one hot water tank in the area overflowing.

MANY RELIEF valves in the area are set at about 50 lbs., explained Bill Luehring, superintendent of public works. The necessity of pumping water from the Frederick st. well to the village tank requires 85 lbs. pressure.

As soon as a first sample of the water pumped to the tank is received, pumping will take place every evening, said Manager L. A. Hanson.

Stockholders In New Bank Set Meeting

Stockholders in The Bank of Arlington Heights will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday, July 7, 8 p.m. at Pioneer park to chose a board of directors.

The board will then elect a chairman and choose the bank's president.

The bank, capitalized at $510,000, still has a limited amount of stock available to local merchants or residents desiring to invest, according to Stephen Jurco, one of the bank's incorporators.

ALL STOCK has actually been sold. However, in a desire to broaden the base of local interest in the bank, the organizers will offer some of their stock on a local basis, said Jurco.

Construction on the bank, Arlington Height's second, is scheduled to begin July 1 at the north end of Arlington Market shopping center. Plans call for a November 1 opening.

Apply for Supplies For Emergency Use

Arlington Heights' village manager has applied for supplies to equip a 200-bed emergency hospital.

The equipment, distributed under Illinois' civil defense program, is valued at $25,000, according to Manager L. A. Hanson. It includes such items as operating room and X-ray equipment.

Keep Children Away From Spraying Trucks

Warning to parents from the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District:

Children should not be allowed to follow the spraying trucks. Inhaling of too much of the foggy fumes can cause them to become nauseated. Also, cars crossing or following behind the fogging trucks may not be able to see the children in time to avoid hitting them.

NOT QUITE READY TO fly, this baby robin seeks shelter of bushes on Park st. in Arlington Heights. One of many such fledglings found hopping on the ground these days, his best chance of survival lies in being left alone, according to Dr. L. L. Linn of the Arlington Heights Animal Hospital. The bird's parents can take better care of him than a human, says Linn, and are generally hovering in the area. Linn also dispels the old wives tale of a bird's parents deserting their offspring if he's touched by human hands, thus if endangered by another animal, the bird could be moved out of reach.

Gala July Fourth Celebration Set

Arlington Heights will celebrate an old fashioned Fourth of July with a parade, baseball game, foot races, carnival, and fireworks' display, sponsored by the village American Legion Post.

The festivities will begin at 9:30 a.m. when marchers step out from South school grounds to march through the village to Miner junior high school at Miner and Dryden sts.

Merchants are asked to enter floats and all organizations are urged to participate in the parade. Fire trucks and marching squads will be featured in the line of march.

KIDDIE DAY athletic events at Miner school will be followed by a baseball game at Recreation park between the local Legion junior nine and the Mt. Prospect Legion. team.

The carnival will run from Wednesday, July 1, through July 5 at Arlington Market, Foundry and Dryden sts. Rides will open at approximately 1 p.m. daily. A merry-go-round, roller coaster, and ferris wheel will be featured along with two kiddie rides.

A fireworks display will take place on July 4th at approximately 9:30 p.m. at the Market's parking lot.

Tickets for carnival rides, good for all days except the 4th, will be on sale at Arlington Market stores. A bicycle will be given as a prize the evening of July 1.

Merchants or organizations wishing to participate in the parade should contact Bill Green, CL 3-3255 or Les Griffith, CL 3-2487.

Village Offered $75,000 for Plant

An offer of $75,000 for Arlington Heights sewage treatment plant and the 9.5 acres on which it's located is being considered by village board members.

Negotiating for the site is John Reimberg, owner of a brick mason supply company in Lincolnwood. If obtained, the land would be used for expansion of Reimberg's business. It is zoned for industrial use.

The disposal plant, located immediately west of the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks and a quarter mile north of Central rd., was rendered useless in 1957 when the Metropolitan Sanitary district connected with the village's sewer system.

ESTIMATED COST of the plant and land in 1957 was $1 million. The Metropolitan district gave the village $350,000 when the latter agreed to drop a disannexation suit. The village, however is still stuck with paying off the revenue bond issue passed in 1952 for construction of the plant.

Reimberg's offer is the only formal one that has been made in the several months the site has been for sale, according to Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

Some trustees feel the village might be wise to retain at least a portion of the land for a future incinerator, should the village go into the garbage disposal business.

Friday Deadline For Reservations

Reservations for a testimonial dinner honoring Stuart R. Paddock, publisher of the Arlington Heights Herald, must be made by Friday, June 26. The dinner is scheduled for Tuesday, June 30, 6:45 p.m. at Prospect high school's cafeteria.

Paddock, recently named "Editor of the Year" by the Illinois Press association, is the publisher of 13 weekly suburban newspapers.

Reservations for the banquet may be made with John Schaff, Cl 3-0200.

Jealousy Blamed for Brutal Teen Beating

Jealousy over a teenage girl led to a brutal beating of a village youth Saturday night, and spotlighted what one policeman refers to as a small but hard core of "fringe delinquents" in Arlington Heights.

Timothy Lonergan, 17, 1002 Mayfair, started this week in Evanston hospital with a broken nose, a dislocated shoulder, five stitches under his right eye, a closed left eye whose future vision was in doubt, and multiple bruises and cuts about his head and face.

He arrived at this state via a party he was attending with his date last Saturday night at a friend's house at 1503 W. Miner. The party, according to police reports, was quiet and well supervised. That is, until three Arlington Heights youths and a Wheeling friend arrived on the scene.

THE YOUTHS, Albert (Bud) Millbratz, 17, 1431 N. State rd.; Thomas Acker, 18, 233 Fletcher, Wheeling; Kenneth Mueller, 16, 414 N. Haddow; and Donald Clark, 16, 129 S. Vail, told police they were attending a carnival at St. James when they got bored around 11 p. m., remembered the party, and decided to "crash" it.

Acker talked with Lonergan's date, and then had Millbratz ask Lonergan to step out into the front yard, according to police reports. There, Lonergan told police from his hospital bed, Acker, accompanied by his three friends, warned him to stop dating the girl he was with. He refused and a fight between the two followed.

When asked by police if he tried to stop the fight, Millbratz, in a signed statement, quoted himself as saying, "Hit him in the nose, hit him in the head, hit him!"

Following the fight, Lonergan was taken to Resurrection hospital for emergency surgery.

MONDAY, Mrs. Lonergan signed a complaint charging Acker with assault and battery. He was picked up by Wheeling police Tuesday morning, turned over to Arlington Heights police and lodged in the village jail until released under $50 bond, set by Police Magistrate Buckley. His court appearance is set for July 1.

Police are checking with the state's attorney's office for advice on what charges may be brought against the three youths with Acker when the assault occurred.

Police records indicate Mueller has been involved in reckless driving, speeding, and disorderly conduct cases in the past month. Acker's record includes a charge of auto larceny in Park Ridge. Millbratz's police record includes four traffic violations and two disorderly conduct scrapes. Clark has only a nuisance complaint listed against him.

A HEARTSICK father, Mr. Lonergan told the Herald he has retained a lawyer and is going to "see this thing through."

He told of a phone call from one of the boy's parents at 6 a. m. Tuesday, asking if he would forget the incident if his son's medical bills were paid.

"What's a medical bill when you see your son torn to pieces. These toughs have had it their way too long, it's time somebody stood up to them and we're going to do it. We're going to push this all the way," he said.

EDITORIAL

A Community Threat

The Herald does not like to print the names of juveniles involved with the law. Nor does it like to print the names of adults under the same circumstances.

In fact, the Herald receives no pleasure from reporting crime news. It feels, however, a responsibility to the community and to its readers to make known the names of those transgressors whose actions threaten the well-being of the community.

Such is not the case with the eight-year-old who slipped a toy into his pocket without paying for it, nor is it the case of the 12-year-old who shot out a street light. The Herald has no hard rule pertaining to the printing of juvenile's names. Each case is considered on its own merits with the thought of the community's good always uppermost.

On this page there is a story concerning four youths and their part in the brutal beating of another youth. These youths are identified. They all have had previous encounters with the law. Perhaps this is their last. We hope so. Should it prove otherwise, the Herald will see to it that they, and others who represent a threat to our community, will not operate with anonymity.

Slum Dwellings Case Continued to July 1

A hearing concerning the living conditions on property at 1404 E. Euclid, where 20 persons have been using an outhouse for several months, has been continued by Arlington Heights Police Magistrate Robert Buckley to Wednesday, July 1, at 9 a.m. in the village hall.

Summonses were served on the owner of the property and the head of one of the four families occupying the property Monday. The summonses listed complaints of violation of three village ordinances:

—Permitting waste to accumulate on the property.

—Permitting a privy to be used on the property.

—More than one family sharing a house in a single-family area.

THE ATTORNEY for T. Karavidas, owner of the property according to police records, was granted a continuance to next week when he informed Buckley his client was not aware he was to appear last Wednesday.

L. Velasquez, an occupant of the house at 1404 E. Euclid and also served with a summons, appeared Wednesday, but was granted a continuance on the court's motion.

Conditions on the property in question were revealed by the Herald earlier in the month. Four families were found to be sharing a two-story house, a shed, and a former pig barn. The only toilet facility for 12 children and eight adults is an outhouse located in the corner of the backyard. A total of $150 a month is paid for the structures, according to Velasquez.

CONTACTED BY the Herald, Karavidas said the occupants of the quarters work on his four farms in the area. He also revealed that the property is part of a 20-acre tract on which the Staltzner Construction company has an option.

Stoltzner said his company will purchase the land on July 1, tear down the buildings and subdivide the property.

Notice Anything 'Different'?

Your hometown newspaper has put on a new face!

Our new headline appearance is that "something different" you notice in this week's newspaper. Our new type face is part of Paddock Publications' expansion program to keep plant, equipment, and personnel in step with the growth of our communities. This is the first of many changes and innovations planned as part of our continuing effort to provide interesting, readable and modern newspapers for the northwest suburbs.

Our new type is known as Bodoni Bold. It was designed by Giambattista (John the Baptist) Bodoni, who was born in Saluzzo, Italy, on February 16, 1740. The son of a master printer, Bodoni learned the trade at an early age and was summoned by the Duke of Parma in 1768 to take charge of his library and printing presses. Dissatisfied with the type faces then available, Bodoni began cutting punches for new types, and, after several years, he issued his first complete book of type specimens, which contained a new design that became known as Modern Roman, the most famous and widely-used of which is Bodoni.

Its popularity as a headline type for use in newspapers has increased rapidly in recent years because it has a clear, crisp, clean-cut appearance that is very pleasing. Among metropolitan daily newspapers which use Bodoni type for headlines are the Washington Post-Times Herald, New York Herald-Tribune, Louisville Courier-Journal, and the Chicago Daily News.

Greatest Guy in the World Honored All Over the Town

At small family gatherings and at big all-out celebrations, Arlington Heighters went with the rest of the nation Sunday in toasting the greatest guy in the world and the only disagreements anywhere were about whose dad was the best. Locally, Fathers day was observed quietly by most families and other activities crowded the party schedule during the past week.

Plans for summer weddings and showers for the brides-to-be continue to keep the party line busy in the area. Miss Grace Lukes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lukes of Park Ridge, was the guest of honor recently at a pre-nuptial party given by Mrs. Myron Blum, 615 S. Evergreen, aunt of the groom-to-be, Herbert Moehling Jr., son of longtime Palatine residents, more recently of Barrington. Twenty-six family members and friends showered Miss Lukes with gifts of linen at the surprise buffet supper party.

Mrs. Henry F. Moehling, Algonquin rd., grandmother of the groom, also entertained in the bride's honor recently with a dinner party for 20 family members. Miss Lukes was again surprised to find that she was guest of honor since she knew that the date, May 17, was Mr. Moehling's birthday and assumed the family gathering was specifically in his honor. Mr. Moehling had his share of the best wishes and enjoyed the delight of his future granddaughter-in-law as she was showered with gifts for the kitchen.

MISS LUKES has more recently been feted at pre-nuptial parties given by her aunt, Mrs. Andy Lukes of Morton Grove; the groom's sisters, Valerie and Ruth Ann, and another by eight coworkers at an extended-lunch-hour-shower at their place of employment.

The nuptials will take place Saturday in Redeemer Lutheran church in Park Ridge with young Marshall Blum serving as ringbearer and the groom's sisters among the bride's attendants.

A BRIDAL shower and tea in honor of Miss Susan Klise, daughter of the Wade Klises, 645 S. Dunton, was given June 20 in the Mt. Prospect home of the Earl V. Essingtons. Mutual friends of the future bride's mother and the hostess, former residents of Norwood Park, showered the guest of honor with good wishes and gifts to begin her career of home maker sometime next fall. Ribbon ties from gaily wrapped packages were assembled into a multicolored mock bridal bouquet for the wedding rehearsal. Susan's fiance is Robert Steinmetz, son of the William Steinmetzes of Des Plaines.

Miss Ila Miller, daughter of the Paul Millers, 230 S. Walnut, was feted Friday night at an "every hour shower" given in the Albert Peters' home, 403 N. Belmont, by Mrs. Allen Peters and Mrs. Richard Quast. Each of the 27 guests, friends and former schoolmates of the bride-elect, chose an hour of the day and presented Miss Miller with a gift appropriate for that hour. The imagination and humor exercised by guests in their choice of gifts added to the entertainment of the evening, and the floral arrangement on the buffet table was a conversation piece as well as centerpiece. White stock with white and pink carnations were delicately complemented by the Sheffield epergne that contained them.

Miss Miller will be married July 11 in the Fifth Presbyterian church of Chicago to Harold Dotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotts, 600 Banbury.

FAREWELLS and welcomes have been frequent lately as the moving van has taken old friends to other homes and brought new ones here. The Robert Nesheims left early last week for a Barrington home as previous acquaintances, the Dale Galloways moved to the former Nesheim address, 737 S. Chestnut, from Shelbyville, Ind. Mrs. Nesheim was here to greet her friend and when a few neighbors drifted over to deliver their final farewells to her, an impromptu "coffee and" welcome-to-the-neighborhood developed for Mrs. Galloway.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kounanis, Carol and Billy recently of Redding, Mass., moved into the former Dr. Edward Benson home, 726 S. Walnut, a week ago Tuesday. The previous Saturday, Mrs. Benson introduced Mrs. Kounanis to a few of her immediate neighbors at a late afternoon cocktail party, then was hostess to the Kounanis family at dinner. The Benson family moved to a new home in Park Ridge early last week.

Also on the move is the Charles Mitchell family, leaving 215 Windsor dr., to make a new home in the Biltmore estates, Barrington.

Arlington Heights friends of the Charles Reiters of Mt. Prospect farewelled the couple at a dinner party Saturday night in the Douglas Thomson home, 919 S. Vail. The Thomsons' guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Keck and Mr. and Mrs. John Deitze who, with the Thomsons, were taking no chances in missing farewells to the Reiters even though the date of their move to Cincinnati has not been decided.

FOUR LOCAL couples who meet regularly throughout the year for an evening of cards, enjoyed an annual weekend vacation together, financed mainly by a "kitty" fed during their bridge-playing season. Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Dr. and Mrs. John Heinz, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Brost and Mr. and Mrs. James Howard are lately extolling the virtues of systematic saving after a delightful weekend stay at Lake Lawn lodge in Delavan.

Arlington Sidelights—Gal 2 ....

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Welter of Elkhorn, left last Thursday after a week here with the Jack Kellers, 308 N. Haddow. Their visit was prompted by the baptism a week ago Sunday of the Kellers' infant son, John Arthur and daughter, Rosalie Valiant, in First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. William Richardson of Washington, D. C., returned to her home Saturday after a week here with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stiefenhoefer, 926 S. Vail. Last Wednesday, Mrs. Stiefenhoefer entertained with a luncheon in her sister's honor for Evanston and Park Forest relatives.

DR. AND MRS. Edwin Baumann with their son, Ronald, who was recently discharged from the air force, returned to 416 E. Euclid Saturday after a month's vacation in Colorado, where they attended the graduation of their daughter, Barbara, from Colorado college in Colorado Springs. After Barbara's graduation, the family vacationed together for two weeks at a dude ranch near Pueblo, where they were joined by Los Angeles friends, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Chapman.

Miss Baumann will remain in Colorado Springs for post-graduate work this summer and will begin teaching in the fall at a Colorado junior high school. Her brother returned here with their parents, then left Tuesday to continue his vacation and visit friends in several other states before resuming civilian life in the business field.

Also recently returned from Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Hull, 713 S. Dunton, who enjoyed a 10-day vacation with their son, Richard, a University of Illinois law student. The family vacation began when the Hulls drove to Champaign at the end of the school year and were joined by their son for the Colorado trip. They returned Richard to the campus where he will attend summer classes of the university's school of law.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Scoggins, 717 S. Walnut, entertained Saturday with an outdoor barbecue supper for seven business acquaintances and their wives. Guests were the William Koehlers of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanna of Indianapolis who joined Chicago business friends for the Scoggins' barbecue.

THE ELMER SCHMIDT family, 1209 N. Dunton, attended a party in Chicago Sunday of 75 family friends and relatives honoring Mr. Schmidt's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Natzke of Chicago, on their 20th wedding anniversary. The Natzkes' son, Ray, recently graduated from a Chicago high school, was co-guest of honor. Since it was also Fathers day and the only Schmidt men who are fathers were Elmer and a brother, Ray of Meadowdale, the party also turned into a "father of the year" contest.

The local Mr. Schmidt reports that it wasn't really a contest at all as his outstanding fatherly attributes far outweigh his brother's. Brother Ray contends that it's just Elmer that outweighs him. The contest was ruled a tie when both men were crowned by their wives.

Dick Stoehr, 441 S. Prindle, was 10 Saturday but a family surprise party was held Wednesday so that big brother Doug could be in on the celebration. The next day Doug was off to Camp Napowan in Wild Rose, Wis. for 10 days of roughing it.

Mrs. Sophie Cwodzinski of Turtle Lake, Wis., returned home last Wednesday after a week here with her daughter and family, the Dr. L. D. Paajanens, 515 S. Mitchell. The day of her arrival, her daughter and granddaughter, June, celebrated their mutual birthday. June was 6 years old and had fun with nine friends at an afternoon party in the Paajanen home.

MRS. ERNEST Poulos, 1225 N. Dunton, had a birthday last Thursday and entertained five neighborhood friends at a luncheon to celebrate the day. Also among the guests were her mother, Mrs. Mable Collins, her sister and niece, Mrs. Alvin Wendis and Sarah, all of Chicago. Sarah stayed for a week's visit with the Pouloses while her parents enjoyed a vacation trip in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, returned early last week from a leisurely motor trip through the west and along the west coast. They went through the Black Hills and Yellowstone National park to Seattle, then down the coast to the San Francisco area. The next stop was Los Angeles where Mrs. Hendrickson was a delegate to the national meeting of the General Federation of Womens Clubs. The Hendricksons' return trip was via Las Vegas and Colorado Springs.

Jerry Hawkins, 721 S. Chestnut, is enjoying a western trip with former Arlington Heights residents, the C. W. Mills, now of Pittsburgh, who plan to arrive here about July 9 for a short visit before returning to Pennsylvania. Jerry left here June 13 to meet the Mills family in Kansas City and the most recent word from him came early this week from Estes park. Local friends are looking forward to the arrival of the Mills who left Arlington Heights about two years ago.

OPEN HOUSE a week ago Sunday at the John Heintz home, 518 S. Vail, honored John Jr. upon his graduation from Northwestern university with a bachelor of science degree, and his brother, Jeff, who was among the local high school graduates earlier this month. Here for the occasion were Mr. Heintz' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Langveld of Cincinnati, and his sister, Mrs. Mitzi Stevens of San Francisco.

Betty Bliss entertained 18 neighborhood friends Tuesday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bliss, 1307 E. Eastman, Betty was 10.

Apparently the sisters of residents on the 1300 block of E. Eastman felt simultaneous urges to visit their brothers last week with half of them considering moves to this area. Two sisters and their families were guests at the John Frieburg home, 1303 E. Eastman, and two sisters of Chet Smith, 1304 E. Eastman, visited him.

Mrs. R. H. Dillon and her four children of LeRoy, Ill., arrived at the Frieburg home last Wednesday and left Saturday, just missing the arrived of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shufelt, Sunday. Mr. Shufelt has just been discharged from military duty and he and his wife are looking at local homes.

Weekend guests at the Smith home were the Glen Richardson family of Minneapolis, joining Mr. and Mrs. Robert Overfelt and the children of Kansas City. The Overfelts will soon be moving to a St. Charles home and spent a week here taking care of arrangements in regard to their move.

THE NEWELL P. Crockett family, 802 S. Chestnut, returned Monday night after weekending in Ft. Madison, Iowa, where they attended the 20th reunion of Mr. Crockett's high school graduating class Saturday.

Gene White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy White, 1036 S. Vail, was honored at a buffet supper party for 28 family members and friends in his parents' home Sunday. Gene was graduated last Monday from Northwestern university and plans to go on to law school in the fall. Since the White family will be leaving in August for a new home in Florida, Gene's choice of school has not yet been determined. Among the guests Sunday were Gene's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. August Meins of Skokie.

The W. L. Vinberg home, 1047 S. Dunton, was literally ankle-deep in little girls last Wednesday night when Cindy celebrated her 10th birthday with a slumber party for eight neighborhood friends. The living room floor was converted to a dormitory and blanketed with bedding and giggly girls. Cindy didn't know she was going to celebrate her birthday in that manner or any other as Mom kept the affair a secret until the last moment from not only the birthday girl but her guests as well.

The surprise was complete, the outdoor barbecue was fun and so was the scavenger hunt that followed. Most newsworthy, however, is that at this slumber party the guests actually slumbered. It's possible that the grisly ghost stories they told made the girls close their eyes in horror and they just stayed closed. Mrs. Vinberg added to the "oogy" feeling with an invitation just before the girls bedded down and reports that there's nothing like walking barefoot and blindfolded through a trail of boiled noodles to make 10-year-old girls squeal.

A NEIGHBORHOOD street dance, once postponed by the elements, came off without a hitch Friday night in the Miner and Patton area. Individuals are hard to count when they're dancing to the music of Jimmy Hall and his Kings Men and estimates of attendance range from 100 to 150. There was a unanimous report, however, as to the complete success of the neighborhood enterprise and although everyone had a hand in it, all credit is given to the musical Jimmy, son of the William Halls, 1004 W. Miner. Late refreshments, barbecue style, topped off the affair.

THEODORE BROOKS, 204 Drury lane, and his son, Theodore Jr., spent the past 10 days vacationing in the Maritime Provinces. Their trip included a visit to Quebec, Edwards Island, the Thousand Islands and Nova Scotia, returning to spend a few days at Mackinac Island and a stopover to visit friends in Green Bay, Wis.

While they were gone, Mrs. Brooks had as house guests, former area residents, Mr. and Mrs. William Uitti of Orlando, Fla. The Uittis had been in Theinsville, Wis., to attend the ordainment of their son, Roger, as a Lutheran minister and his assignment to a parish in Fargo, Minn.

There has been a fair share of graduations and family reunions in the Bruce Rasmussen family, 202 S. Windsor. Immediately after their daughter, Bab's, graduation from Arlington high school, Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen, Babs and Dick departed for the east to attend their eldest son, Bob's, graduation from Cornell university. Can you imagine pouring turpentine on an open cut? This was the favorite way to prevent lockjaw some years ago. Naturally, we wouldn't think of doing this now. But then, we're lucky. We have tetanus toxoids and antitoxins. Thanks to medical science, lockjaw need no longer be a killer . . . previously, death occurred in 90% of the cases. Children, because of their affinity for cuts, sometimes pick up the tetanus germ. So, if there are young children in your family, be sure to ask your physician about preventive tetanus shots. It's always wise to seek your doctor's advice before using any medicines. And next time you have a prescription to be filled, think of us.

Flying Businessman Is Boon For Small Suburban Airport

by JACK MARTIN

HELP WANTED — ESTABlished company wants top-flight salesman, aged 25-35. Must have pilot's license.

If the preceding advertisement seems ridiculous, a few minutes' conversation with George J. Priester of Wheeling's Pal-Waukee airport or Abe Marmel of Ravenswood airport, on Touhy ave. near Des Plaines, will change your mind.

These two flying pioneers, who were piloting aircraft out of local fields long before World War II have watched the industry grow from cornfield landings into ever-populated airfields.

Both men agree that the future of private aviation lies in corporation and business flying, a trend which has produced the biggest boom for small airports since Kittyhawk.

GENERAL aviation, according to Priester, accounts for 90 per cent of the nation's flying. The combined airlines account for 7 per cent, and the armed forces claim only 3 per cent.

Marmel points out that only a small percentage of licensed pilots fly for a hobby as they did years ago. "The license is now more of a necessity," the proprietor asserts.

Priester agrees that private aviation today is "strictly business." With the element of time so important, corporations are finding air travel necessary for modern competition. Priester, who made his first solo flight in July, 1928, points out that over half of the 400 planes at his airfield are owned by corporations and business concerns.

"Let's face it," the Wheelingite contends, "it's only 35 minutes to South Bend by air, and the quickest I have been able to make it in any other type of transportation is two hours and 15 minutes. Companies need to buy, sell, and supply parts in a hurry. That's why they are buying airplanes."

ONE FROZEN food company, after a rather elaborate survey, reported that three airplanes does a better job for them than 15 automobiles, including consideration of expenses. Pure Oil, Standard Oil, Borg-Warner, Wrigley, Texas-Illinois Oil and many other corporations have planes "stationed" at Pal-Waukee.

Priester recently completed a new terminal building with a beautiful lounge in order to meet the demands of a "high class" clientele connected with corporation flying.

Training pilots for private and commercial flying has become a big business. Priester says there are between 150 and 175 active students at Pal-Waukee now, although some courses are short. Ravenswood has trained over 2,000 pilots in the last 12 years, according to Marmel, and "We've never had a student get hurt."

Many students make careers in flying, securing jobs on the big airlines, or as pilots of corporation aircraft.

Marmel outlined the requirements for securing a license. The Civil Aeronautics Authority requires a minimum of 40 hours' flying time, 15 hours of dual (with the instructor), and 25 hours solo. Some 30 or 40 hours are spent in ground school learning theory.

DUAL FLIGHTS would cost a student $12.50 an hour and solo flight runs $8.50 an hour. Instruction costs would total $410 for the minimum requirements. A commercial license requires 200 hours of flying.

Most students take one year to earn their private license, although those who have more time to fly can move at a faster rate. The instructor gives the final test, which is accompanied by a written exam from the CAA.

Marmel explained that it is not necessary to own a plane in order to use a pilot's license. "In fact," the former printer states, unless a person plans to fly more than 200 hours a year, he is better off renting."

Flying patrons often rent planes for hunting and fishing trips, vacations, weekend visits with relatives. "A sportsman planning a fishing trip to Canada can rent a plane for a week for $300. Split among four persons the cost would be nominal."

For those who would buy their own airplane, new single engine models start at $5600 and run to $100,000. Twin engine crafts start at $40,000. However, used planes can cost as low as $1,000.

The tremendous growth in private flying has not been without problems. Priester said the government was "shocked" in 1957 when a federal committee learned the extent of private flying in the Chicago area. The committee forecast the need of five more private airports in five years. Instead, a couple have closed since the survey was taken.

"Taxes and enticing land offers are making it hard to stay in the business," Priester maintains. "You have to be interested in flying."

PRIESTER insists that private airports should be given a tax consideration since they are providing facilities which would have to be duplicated by tax-supported airfields.

Marmel quickly agrees and claims that "old, archaic zoning rules make it impossible for new airports to be built. We need a county-owned airport such as DuPage county has. He argues that politicians are holding back private aviation.

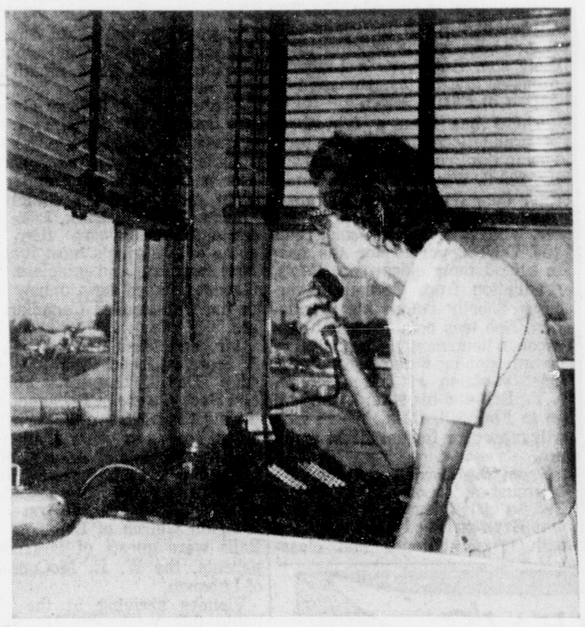
Glancing at the figures, Pal-Waukee airport housed only 61 airplanes in 1953. It has over 400 now. While only five to seven per cent of the population fly, those who do hold pilots' licenses are very active.

"Businesses and corporations' interests in aviation is increasing at such a rate tha the present facilities will soon be over-burdened," Priester warns.

The time may come when the ad will read "must have pilot's license and place to land."

MRS. TRACY VILURS, mother of six, is a ground school instructor at Pal-Waukee. Here she and two students tackle a navigation problem. Students spend around 30 hours in ground school in earning a pilot's license.

AFTER A FEW hours of teaching, a complicated dashboard becomesas familiar as an automobile speedometer. A minimum of 15 hours of dual flying is necessary for CAA licensing.



DIRECTING TRAFFIC at busy Pal-Waukee airport, Martha Guenther, Prospect Heights, supervises one of the hundreds of takeoffs from the Wheeling airport each week.

Family of Future May Face 'Flop,' Warns Psychiatrist

The family of the future will be a terrible flop unless presentday values and Pollyanna attitudes are abandoned, a Yale university psychiatrist warned a suburban audience last week.

In the ninth and final in a series of talks of "Emotional Forces in the Family" at North Shore hospital, Winnetka, Dr. Lawrence S. Kubie pointed out that the family is threatened by a deep and malignant illness unless parents gain the humility to "see themselves as their children see them . . . and present a more suitable image with which their children can love and identify themselves."

In discussing his topic, "The Family of the Future," Dr. Kubie pessimistically forecast a downhill decline in culture and emotional stability in the family unless changes are made. He stressed the necessity for a new depth and breadth of parent education . . . "although the most important thing any man does is to bring up his own children, he receives less training for this task than a farmer is given for raising cattle, and this is the proudest, most complacent and emptiest educational system in the world."

Dr. Kubie nailed the fault to the fact that our country has become a land where no one allows himself to acknowledge or recall anything unpleasant, no one seems to want to learn from his mistakes.

HE INFERRED that parents might have better success with their children by using persuasive tactics. He cited the example and suggestion method as having better results than threats or punishment.

Dr. Kubie deplored that family life is today a failure, and "it's failure is increasing . . . unless we do some hard thinking about it and some hard planning, its failure will destroy the culture and the civilization that we prize so highly."

He claimed, "Wars may have been won on the playing fields of Eton: but now more than ever before, wars, crimes, and neuroses are bred in families."

HE STRESSED these added danger signs:

—"Pressure of the population boom may cause added distress. In 1956, our world population was 2,734,000,000 . . . Now growing at rate of 44 million a year and the rate accelerating, it is forecast that the world's population will be upwards of 5 billion people by the end of this century.

—"Powerful influences arise out of our industrial organization to intensify an almost neurotic insatiability of the demand for things. Advertising media inspire envy, greed, discontent."

—"Temporary abundance of leisure merges with unemployment. Unsolved psychological problems arise out of an unearned prosperity on the installment plan."

—"Movement of women into industry. One out of three workers are now women . Three out of five working women are married. Forty per cent of all mothers in the country with children below age of 18 and three million mothers with children below age of six are at work. An absent mother in the family prompts youngsters to seek closeness in gangs."

—"The almost totally destructive influence of the entertainment industries which turn our entire culture into a spectator culture.

—"The family has become a motel for nomads on the go with speed and distance as their goal."

THE YALE psychiatrist contended: "All these and many more forces and vested interests are destroying the family as a creative way of life," adding: "We are developing a world of angry women to match a world of angry men . . . this breeds angry children. The family has become a place in which competitiveness and possessiveness is bred into our culture, as destructive a development as anything can be."

As a contrasting example, Dr. Kubie mentioned the Palestinian "Kibbutz" or cooperative farming community where a kind of extended family—a community-parent-child-relationship — exists. Most members of Kibbutz have an obvious affection for all children. He feared that this spirit, however, might too be lost if this frontier civilization arose to the level of our civilization.

Mr. Kubie admitted that examples of a different kind of family can be found among a few sophisticated, cultured, sensitive, intelligent young folk, where a thoughtful and articulate interchange is fostered between the generations. "In such rare families, the child's fifth freedom is vigilantly guarded: his freedom to know all that he feels inside himself. Instead of surrounding the child with an elaborate conspiracy of silence, his right to self-knowledge and to be articulate about it is carefully nurtured." He added:

"I think, for instance, of the family situation in which the parent never says "Do" or "Don't" to the child, yet never hesitates to say: "We do it this way" — a small but vital difference.

"Such a child is guided firmly, yet never loses his close identification with the adult, never feels that he is pushed away by the command, or that he is an inferior and second class human who receives orders. He remains instead closely identified with the loved parental image.

"Yet, this can happen only in a family in which the parent is an image the child can love, and with whom the child can identify. This depends not on what the parent says or does, but on how he sounds and looks and moves; since how we live and sound exercise a deeper influence on the child than what we do . . . and cause far more effect than any punishment or reward.

"This degree of self-direction and self-awareness can grow only out of self-study; and for this we need new ways of using tape recordings and film, to study how we actuallly project the images of ourselves to our children. To this end, parent-education must be cultivated continuously, a new depth and breadth, of parent education to be developed by future Parent Study Associations, if we are to gain the humility to see ourselves as children see us . . . As a goal, this is at least as important as nutritional health or campaigns against epidemics."

Court Ruling Expected on Rail Fares

The Circuit court may rule this summer on the appeal by commuters against higher fares they've been paying for seven months now on the Chicago and North Western railway.

Final arguments were completed last week before Judge Jacob M. Braude who indicated he will render a decision on July 22.

THE APPEAL involves the Illinois Commerce Commission order that allowed the railroad to increase fares and abandon 22 "close-in" stations, including stops in Skokie and Lincolnwood, last December 1. The railway also changed its ticket structure with commission approval.

Judge Braude ordered attorneys for the North Western Commuters association, the Park View Commuters association, and the City of Chicago to file briefs supporting their appeal by July 9. The railroad has until July 19 to file its reply. (B8

Century of Memories Are In Razed Building

MEMORIES FLICKER ABOUT the burning ashes of the old Presbyterian church, which gave 100 years of service before it came tumbling down. Oldtimers look upon its passing June 7 with more than a touch of nostalgia.

By DAISY PADDOCK DANIELS

More than a century of memories came tumbling down with the burning of the old Presbyterian church building June 7 at Vail and Vine.

The religious center was constructed in 1856 at a cost of $2350 at Dunton and Eastman, was sold in 1911 and moved to make way for a new building.

W. W. Guild, the new owner, converted it into a gymnasium, which he rented, then later transformed it into four apartments.

Condemned as unsafe and a public hazard, the building was deliberately burned by the fire department.

As the old wooden church building burned, it released a flood of memories to the author dating back 50 years before the new church was built in 1912.

IT WAS IN THIS old building that the Rev. J. T. Ford was pastor, that Mrs. Minnie Banta began her 70-year membership, and where Marie and Addie Muller, Mrs. A. F. Volz, Mrs. Charles Lips, Mrs. Martha Horcher and Mrs. B. A. Noyes were members for more than 50 years.

And it was in this structure, echoing with tradition, that the voices of entire families were heard singing in the choir—such honorable names as Draper, Lorenzen, Fairchild, Guild, Peter, Smith, Beaumont, Allen, Elfeld and Taylor.

With Mr. Pate as superintendent, there were Sunday school teachers bearing the names of Muller, Beaumont, Chapman, Paddock, Beardsley, Haynes, Lorenzen, Schneider and Volz.

And families bearing the names of Berbecker, Pate, Muller, Lips, Reese, Davis, Banta, Noyes, Whiting, Chapman, Harris, Peter, Sieburg, Parker, Fehlman, McNab, Schneider, Dyas, Crane, Cleveland, Johnson, Petterson, Kates can be proud of the ancient tradition of service history testifies to these names. BUILT IN 1856, THE First Presbyterian church was a landmark at Dunton and Eastman where it remained until 1911, it was sold and moved to Vail and Vine.

Chicago Vicar to Speak Sunday at Faith Church

Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, pastor of Faith Lutheran church, S. State rd. at Park, Arlington Heights, has announced that during his absence Sunday, Kenneth Studtmann will be guest preacher. Mr. Studtmann is vicar of St. John the Divine Evangelical Lutheran Church of Chicago, where he has served with Rev. Roger L. Sommer, pastor, and has assisted Rev. Sommer in the eidtorial work of the English district edition of "The Lutheran Witness."

Mr. Studtann's home is Giddings, Texas, where his father, the Rev. Max Studtmann, is pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church. A third generation minister, Mr. Studtmann's grandfather, Dr. Henry Studtmann, was the first president of Concordia college, Austin, Texas, and still serves as a member of the faculty. At this college Mr. Studtmann was enrolled for high school and junior college work, finishing in 1955. Since then he has attended Concordia seminary, St. Louis, and the University of Texas in Austin.

IN SEPTEMBER he will return to Concordia seminary to complete his training for the Lutheran ministry. He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Studtmann of Arlington Heights.

For his sermon topic Sunday, Mr. Studtmann will preach on "How Shall We Worship Thee Aright?," his Text from Luke 10:38-42. "It will be an examination of our personal attitudes in worship with the hope that Christian people may gather about the feet of Jesus with minds undivided and receive the "one thing needful," commented Rev. Behrens. (A

Library Is Missing Four Encyclopedias

The Arlington Heights Memorial library reports it is missing four valuable encyclopedias: Volume 19-Mi-Na, Encyclopedia Americana, Volumes 12-I-Ja and 21-Sp-Ta, Encyclopedia Britannica, and Volume 9-I-J, The World Book.

Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian, believes the missing volumes were checked out by students on assignment—and forgotten. Mothers, a check around the house could bring about their early return. A

Camping Program Features Dance by Hopi Indian Chief

The soudn of a tom-tom coming from a clearing in the sun-drenched meadows of Busse Woods brought Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds from every spot in the area to see and hear Hopi Indian Chief Eagle Plume (Ernest Nacquayouma) perform the intricate steps of his people's tribal ceremonial dances at the 4-day summer camping program offered by Arlington Heights district of Camp Fire Girls, June 15 through June 18.

There is nothing more colorful in Indian costuming than the dance bustles of some of the Western Indian tribes and Danny, 5-year-old grandson of Chief Eagle Plume, a rainbow of color jutting from his sunburst bustle, ably danced the Calumet assisted by the rhythmic chanting and drumming of Mr. Nacquayouma. The Indian dancing and instruction was one of the many activities offered by the district in its fourth annual summer day camp program. This year saw another day added to the program to give the 7 to 9 year old Blue Birds and the 10 to 14 year old Camp Fire Girls and ever-increasing day camp experience.

Mr. Nacquayouma graced the woodland scene by appearing in full tribal costume and in addition to his wonderful performances and capable instruction of the round dance, thunder bird dance, and rabbit dance, his captivating stories of Indian legends and his display of Indian pottery and basketry kept the girls spellbound during his 3-day stay.

The title of the 1959 program at Camp Welasi was "Echoes of Nature" and the Indian translation for it is "Li-Wi-Ga-Tee," which means "Listening as the wind sighs through the trees." Activities centered around an outdoor theme and covered every area of outdoor living, making friends with girls, adults, plants, animals, the terrain, and history of the site.

TRAVELING WITH one of the 24 groups, this reporter enjoyed the experience of participating in the many activities offered to youth of the community. Outdoor craft was the first stop on the schedule and experienced counselors instructed the new Camp Fire Girls in the art of knot-tying. Older Camp Fire Girls received instruction in compass reading, map making and trail blazing. A later outdoors craft session saw the new Camp Fire Girls learning how to erect and take down a tent properly. Outdoor cooking sessions found these younger Camp Fire Girls making tin can hobo stoves and building tipi fires underneath to make a gourmet's treat of pi-chams, a delectable concoction of pineapple, cheese and ham on a bun.

Taking a tour around the campsite, we found other campers busily engaged in crane cooking, reflector oven baking, stick cookery and imu cooking.

Archery instruction was a new feature of this year's camp and the girls were taught the rules of safety, the correct stance, how to string the bow, and how to hold the bow and arrow. The girls were then able to shoot several ends under the tutelage of experienced archers. In addition to the archery instruction, the girls enjoyed badminton, croquet kickball and group-planned games.

Youngsters are always eager for handicraft sessions, and in carrying out the Indian lore symbolism, stick symbol stories were created on leather by using Indian basket reed. Navajo sand painting was simulated by using coarse white sand colored with dry tempera colors. Fascinating three-dimenstional pictures were created by the girls, many re-creating the beautiful works of the Navajo sand-painters.

The Huichol Indians of Nayarit Mexico gave us the all-inspiring "God's Eye," an Indian craft article made from twigs and yarn, which upon completion was used to scare away evil spirits and protect the homes and loved ones of the Huichol tribal members. Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds enjoyed the simple loom-craft work of art, the results of which were beautiful decorations for their ceremonial boleros.

AGAIN, IN KEPING with the lore of the program, the Camp Fire Girls learned three genuine Indian songs, "The Omaha Tribal Prayer," "Shupida," and "God of the Mountains."

Last, but by no means least, were the wonderful nature trips enjoyed by both age groups. Youngsters never seem to tire of the wonders displayed by Mother Nature.

An added attraction for Blue Birds was the instruction in parade drilling on Thursday afternoon while the Camp Fire Girls rehearsed the closing council fire. The ceremonial, always an inspiring closing for the day camp program, was based on the "Echoes of Nature" theme and the seven crafts. Large crepe paper ornaments, in the shape and colors of the craft beads, were placed on the large tree in the center of the council fire circle by members of the Tonehohani Camp Fire Girls. Presentation of craft honors earned during the 4-day program were given to the Camp Fire Girls at this time and mementos of the 1959 Camp Welasi were presented to all Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds taking part in the summer program. Day camp training certificates were presented to leaders and co-leaders who had completed the two all-day outdoor training sessions, in addition to one indoor training session and the forest preserve field trip.

Special recognition was given to the day camp committee who did such a tremendous job on the planning, scheduling the carrying out of the day camp program. Mrs. Mirrel R. Kephart, camping chairman and Mrs. Fred Heiden, Mrs. Irvin Harris and Mrs. William G. Heddesheimer, members of the day camp committee, were each presented with a beautifully-decorated plaque in recognition of their outstanding services.

More than 300 Camp Fire Girls Blue Birds and leaders from Arlington Heights attended this year's Camp Welasi, a fitting finale to the year's active Camp Fire program. (A

Virginia Terrace News

Jonathan, newest addition at the Walter Zare home, 1251 N. Illinois, was born June 12, weighing 8 pounds 4 ounces, in Lake Forest hospital. His sisters, Debra and Kathy and brother, David, had a wonderful time with their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Lau, Lake Bluff, while their mother, Judy, was in the hospital, but they were delighted to come home and view their new brother. The paternal grandmother, Mrs. Walter Zare, Chicago, was also pleased at the news of another grandson.

Last Thursday afternoon Gerry Williams, 1215 N. Race, entertained some of her neighbors at a kaffee klatsch to be introduced to the new home owner, Mrs. Florence Paul, Chicago.

Gerry and the children, Ken, Carol and Bruce, will depart tomorrow for their new home in San Diego, Cal. They are not only excited about the trip, via one of the new Boeing 707 jet flights, but about seeing their father again after an interim of almost eight months.

Last night Gerry and the children were entertained at dinner at the home of Polly and George Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, and the Herbert children, George, Sue Anne and Mike.

OF INTEREST to friends of Jan and Claude Batuk, former residents of 1266 N. Chicago, is the news that after almost two years of living on the east coast, they and their children, Jimmy, Kathy and Phillip, will be returning to this area shortly to settle down.

Friends of Clem and Jack Kalb, who were first home owners of 1256 N. Chicago, will be happy to hear that they are back in the area and have a new addition to the family. Johnny had Jeff for a playmate so Susan was happy that the new baby was a girl.

Having been born on Mother's day, it seemed appropriate that John Stewart, son of Phyllis and Charles Marshall, 1114 N. Race, be baptized on Father's day. Services were at St. Simon Episcopal church, Arlington Heights, in the same baptismal dress his father, brothers, Charles and Jimmy, and sister, Jennifer, wore. Later in the afternoon the Marshalls entertained the baby's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Liebenow, and Mrs. Maxine Mells, all of Arlington Heights, and their families at dinner.

Recent house guests of Marcy and Ted Micek, 1325 N. Chicago, were Marcy's sister and family, the Charles Rickes from Mercedes, Texas. Although they were only able to stay a week, it was a thrill for all concerned, as it had been 13 years since they had seen one another. One evening out for the adults meant dinner at Ireland's Lobster house in Chicago followed by fun and frolic at the Chez Paree, where, Marcy said, Tony Martin put on his usual outstanding show.

ARRIVING last Thursday to stay through Monday were Marcy's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, and Marcy's sister, Sandra, from Houston. In this case, it had only been two years since they had all been together, nevertheless, there was a great deal of news to catch up on, and the Micek children, Pamela, Michael and Wendy, were delighted at the extra attention received. The Taylors will visit other relatives in the area and tour the country a bit before returning home.

Shirley and Robert Vogtritter, 1208 N. Race, entertained friends and playmates of their son, Gary, last Saturday afternoon at a patio party in honor of his fourth birthday. Present for the games, favors, birthday cake and ice cream were Roxanne Petrucci, Bobby and Jeff Krug, Jimmy and Jack Jacobsen, Gail McBride, Loni Larson, David McAllister, Eric Wills, Itasca, and Gary's sister, Kim. Also in on the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vogtritter, Mt. Prospect, Gary's uncle and aunt.

An early evening party was in order for Don, son of Jane and Donald Von Ebers, 1410 N. Illinois, in celebration of his 10th birthday last Wednesday. After dinner, his friends, among whom were David Cech, Joe and Dennis Herrity, Jim and Ray Ostler, Jimmy Reichert, Chuck Moser and his brother, Steve, gathered together at the Von Ebers home for birthday cake and ice cream before seeing "The Shaggy Dog" at the Des Plaines theatre.

LAST FRIDAY afternoon, at the home of Phyllis and Hal Fluhrer, 1433 N. Race, the kitchen suddenly became full of junior chefs, as friends of their daughter, Linda, gathered together upon the occasion of her eighth birthday. Cakes baked in the form of straw hats for the boys and bonnets for the girls were aptly decorated by Linda's sister, Janet, Linda Donath, Nancy Sorensen, Jeanette Warner, Felicity Frisbie, Bruce Leckie and Bruce Harmon. After all of their hard work, the children enjoyed their cake and ice cream, and, needless to say, all agreed that it had been a real fun party.

Another family welcoming a second son was that of Diane and Sheldon Staubitz, 1447 N. Race. David Sheldon weighed 8 pounds 3 ounces upon arrival June 12 in Edgewater hospital, Chicago. His brother, Andy, and sisters, Jenny and Laura, were taken care of by their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Roser, Chicago, while their mother was in the hospital. Other grandparents are Mr. Roser and Mrs. Bertha Staubitz, Chicago, who is now taking care of the children for several days.

Joyce, daughter of Ruth and Dick Randle, 1448 N. Yale, recently celebrated her fifth birthday in a big way. Sunday the family, including Joyce's sisters, Janice and Carol Jean, went to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Randle, in Chicago for a family birthday dinner party.

An afternoon party for her friends was held later in the week, to which Mickey and Valerie Moser, Janet and Beth Grassley, Gail Chodera, Curtis Anderson, Michael and Timmy Ryan and her sisters were invited. Later in the day her maternal grandmother, Mrs. F. L. Woods, Chicago, and aunt, Mrs. Warren Woods, and cousins, Maureen and Eva, arrived for dinner, including birthday cake and ice cream. Maureen stayed on to spend the night with Joyce and attended Bible school with her the next day. (A

"IF WE COULD BE TWICE YOUNG AND TWICE OLD WE COULD CORRECT ALL OUR MISTAKES"

*(Author's Name Below)

Unfortunately we are all given only one life and one body to live in. All of us must avoid those mistakes which can cause irreparable harm. Modern mothers have the right idea. New babies are taken to a physician for regular examinations to prevent future troubles.

If all adults would visit their physician at least once every year for a check-up, there would be fewer serious cases of diabetes, glaucoma or cancer.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

Americans use more oil than ever before

That's why our oil reserves must be kept at a high level.

The continuous search for new sources of oil by U.S. oilmen is paying off for you and your neighbors. Since Americans use far more oil products than ever before, U.S. oilmen must keep finding more new oil to keep up with the growing U.S. demand.

That's just one reason why all of us in America's competitive oil business take pride in the progress of our industry and in the part we play to make this progress possible.

Square Dance Club News

Bucks and Does

The second annual Jamboree of the Elk Grove Bucks and Does held June 13 at the Higgins school in Elk Grove attracted over 100 couples from the northwest suburban area and added more than $200 to the club's fund to benefit the school. Early this week the club's outgoing president, LeRoy Froyland of Roselle, handed Mr. Case, Higgins school music instructor, a check for $500 to be used in purchasing new band equipment.

Jamboree dancing began at 8 p.m. and although five callers had been booked for the big event, one had last minute troubles and couldn't make it, another was delayed in arriving and still another had to leave early. No one can say for sure who puffed the harder, dancers or hard working callers, club regular Bob Kim and his cohorts, Horace Hall, Clarence Mack and Frank Walker.

Several prizes of square dance books, donated by Busy E. Ranchwear of Des Plaines, were awarded to lucky couples. The same donor has often provided prizes for other square dance clubs in the area and was the guest of honor at a closing dance of an Arlington Heights club recently.

The Jamboree ended the Bucks and Does activity for the rest of the summer. A square dance picnic, still in the talking stage, is tentatively planned for mid-August as a "warmer-upper" for the approaching season and club members will be notified by mail as soon as all details are complete.

Swinging Pairs

The Barrington club is having a pre-season introductory dance called the "Highway Hop" Saturday night at the North Park fieldhouse on Lion's drive in Barrington. Dancing begins at 8:30 with Bill Shymkus of Chicago calling. Everyone is welcome and tickets may be had at the door. Anyone interested in further information about the dance or the club may call John Weber Jr. of Barrington DU 1-0684.

At a recent meeting club officers for the 1959-60 season were elected. Co-presidents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Essak of Barrington; vice-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson of Wauconda; secretaries, Mr. and Mrs. John Weber Jr. of Barrington and treasurers, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheelock of Wauconda.

Round Dance Club

The only club dancing through the summer months is the newly formed round dance club which meets the second and fourth Thursday nights of each month in the Pioneer park fieldhouse in Arlington Heights. Club members are reminded that its party night tonight at the fieldhouse where new dances learned at the second Thursday workshop session will be put to sociable use.

Rest Home Has New Sprinkler

Installation of a fire sprinkler system in Arlington Heights Rest Home was announced this week by Paul N. Ellingsen, administrator and owner of the home.

The sprinkler system is not required by law, but was installed voluntarily in cooperation with the Arlington Heights' fire department, according to Ellingsen.

Following an inspection of the Home on June 15, Fire Chief Harvey Carothers said, "With the addition of the sprinkler system everything possible has been done to make the building fire resistant."

Just for Fun

Crafts Workshops Popular

by JOEL CARTER

Crafts are a popular part of the park district's summer recreation program for children. In fair weather the workshops are held outdoors at a table in a shady spot.

Crafts are the art phase of the program, and are included to provide the satisfactions of creativeness. General handicrafts classes are held for two age groups. Simple projects like paper mosaics, coin purses, cedar squares, and place mats are carried out by 6 to 8 year olds in the younger group.

Children nine to twelve years of age are in the older classes, and they make more complex items. Seed mosaics, craft strip items, baskets, hats, pin cushions, tooled metal ware, and wallpaper bead jewelry are included in their curriculum.

MODEL MAKING is the crafts activity for older boys and they build mostly airplanes, but ships, autos, or any other replicas in which the boys are interested may be undertaken. Jewelry making is offered for older girls. They learn to fashion broches, bracelets, rings, and pins from ordinary materials. Copper enameling and use of the metal kiln comprise most of the work.

Donald White, who supervises the crafts program and teaches the advanced classes, is an art teacher at Lincoln junior high school in Park Ridge.

He limits the use of commercial kits which the kids merely put together and uses basic materials - glass, paper, wood, metal - whenever possible.

White is assisted by Janet Pearson a student at Monmouth College, Judy Lips also a Monmouth student and Linda Hackbarth of Miami university. All three girls are local residents with experience in recreation work.

LAST WEEK's edition of this publication carried an editorial and a cartoon condemning organized "fun." We will not quarrel with the editor who gave an impression of opposition to all the organizations with recreational, character training, or education programs. We are sure he meant to say only that overindulgence in organized activities is an intemperance in the leisurely process of growing up.

Only when parents try to schedule their offspring around the clock is organized recreation harmful.

We too have no sympathy for people who consider the parks, schools, little leagues, churches, boy scouts, etc., to be baby sitting services or a substitute for the moral obligations of the family.

A STATEMENT of policy appears on the back of the summer program brochure of the Arlington Heights park district. It reads in part:

"The basic intent of the program is to develop physical abilities, intiative, and resourcefulness by encouraging the exercise of individual choice of activity rather than offering a continually directed and regimented program."

Missionary from Sudan To Speak at Institute

Mrs. Malcolm I. Foresberg of Khartoum in the Republic of Sudan will be the principal speaker for the annual Christian Women's institute held June 29 to July 3 at the Methodist Camp Grounds at Des Plaines in connection with their centennial year.

Mrs. Forsberg, wife of Malcolm Forsberg, author of "Land Beyond the Nile," shares her husband's responsibilities in Africa of directing all mission stations of the Sudan Interior mission in the Sudan and operating the missionary rest house in Khartoum.

Mrs. Forsberg will relate her early work in the mission field in Ethiopia, their sudden flight before the Italian armies and the subsequent years spent under the burning suns of the Upper Nile. She will tell the pioneer work of establishing a station in a hostile tribe never before reached by Christian work, the learning of a language never written down and the gdarual development of a church, medical clinic, schools and orphanage in this remote area.

SHE WILL ALSO describe the tense conditions of the Middle East, the Arab peoples and their expansionist hopes. Assisting Mrs. Forsberg. Mrs. Edward Matson will tell of the missionary work she saw in action in the Middle East during her 3-month tour and study in the Holy Land, Africa and Europe last year.

July 1 and 2, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Matson will present colored pictures of Mrs. Forsberg's work and of the Holy Land.

Daytime meetings will be in the Wesley tabernacle from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with a break from 12 to 1 p.m. for lunch. Babysitters for small children will be available and there are picnic facilities for lunch.

School Finance Is Unresolved Issue

by W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON

The Illinois Legislature is hastening to its adjournment on June 30.

A large number of the important issues remain still unresolved, the most important, of course, being a proper financing of the schools for the forthcoming two years.

Killed by a decisive vote in the Senate Revenue Committee was a bill which would have hiked corporation franchise taxes by 1,000 per cent. As chairman of the Senate Revenue committee, the writer led the fight to defeat this preposterous legislation. In passing, however, I might state that the sentiment in the Legislature generally is that corporate franchise taxes payable by corporations in this State, which have not been adjusted since 1917, probably do require some moderate and sensible adjustment upwards. But any proposal that such adjustment take the form of a 1,000 increase seems incredible. When it is noted, however, that this measure actually did receive a majority vote in the lower House, and was killed in the Senate by a very small margin, incredibility is not necessarily a synonym for the impossible.

ONE QUITE effective blow in behalf of the real estate tax payers in Chicago did occur last week. The Chicago Board of Education had sought a raise in its tax rate of 7½ cents per hundred dollars of valuation for the year 1960 and an additional 7½ cent for the year 1961. Introduced an amendment to reduce these proposed increases to three cents for the year 1960, and 4½ cents for 1961. Altogether this had the effect of reducing by 50 per cent the additional moneys sought by the Chicago Board of Education. In the course of the debate it was clearly demonstrated that the reduced levels would provide all of the moneys that the Chicago schools will need during the next biennium.

This reduction is not at all assured of final passage, however. Since the amendment was to a House bill, the amendment must now be submitted to the lower House where it is anticipated it will be rejected. In that case, a joint conference committee consisting of representatives of both Houses will be appointed to arbitrate the differences between the two Houses. To any extent that the rate requested by the Chicago Board of Education can be reduced, it will save Chicago taxpayers during the coming biennium $2 million for each one cent by which the proposed increase is reduced. In other words, if my amendment is adopted, Chicago real estate taxpayers will be saved $15 million during the next two years.

IT NOW becomes obvious that a proper financing of the schools of this state can be accomplished only if the proposed ½ cent increase in sales tax is adopted, for all the proceeds from such increase will be allocated to the schools exclusively. (ACM

Vacation Plans

Summer vacations are among the most popular topics right now and many a family is getting ready for the annual trek. It is of interest to note that America's motels and hotels are really going "all out" this summer in welcoming guests traveling with their dogs.

This new trend on the part of motel operators is quite a change from former years, when road weary tourists often had to drive from hotel to motel and back again to find lodging for themselves and their pets. Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research center, New York City, thinks that some of the change is due to extensive effort on the part of "Touring With Towser" published by Gaines and also the excellent work of dog obedience clubs around the country in awakening dog owners to a realization of "canine courtesy" in modern society.

Some motels are going "all out" to have folks stop with their pets. Such things as a special gift packages are given to dog owners by one motel chain. This package contains dog food, helpful literature on dog care and a disposable container which can be used as a feeding or watering dish.

Not all hotels and motels are going along with the idea of having owners of pets stop in along with "Bosco" for the night. This will change as dog owners are made more and more aware of their part in helping to prove that dogs can be kept under control and will not proceed to tear up a new chair or water the rugs.

Folks on the go

With good weather and summer officially here, many dog owners are heading for shows around the country. From all the dog events attended, there should be some rather important wins every so often which might be of interest to folks in the area.

If you attend a field trial, confirmation show or an obedience trial with your dog and walk out with some high honors, lets hear about it. A note to the editor care-of the paper will do the trick.

Northwest to show 1958 Westminster films

This Friday evening the Northwest Obedience club is going to have a showing of the films taken at last year's Westminster all-breed dog show held in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Starting at 8:30 p.m., the films run for about two hours and members of the club and their sters and also the family pets. guests have been invited to attend. The location will be in the club's training hall, which is in the basement of the Jewel Tea store in Palatine.

And you can boil, bake, roast, broil—do every kind of cooking completely automatically.

It's easy to understand why. Electric ranges burn no fuel, create no soot. Absolutely nothing cooks cleaner!

Arduous Life of Early Days Is Revealed in Dunton Diary

(In this second installment of a series titled "The Prairie That Bloomed," the author has selected fragments from the diary of a lovesick Swedish farmhand of Asa Dunton, father of the founder of Arlington Heights. The diary, which was recently translated from the Swedish, will be read during a meeting of the Arlington Heights Historical society on Friday, June 26.)

By PHILIP NELSON

The Pottawatomie Indians had vanished, and in their stead came the dour, chin-whiskered Yankees of New England, severe, hardworking, religious stock, settling first in Elk Grove, and then, led by William Dunton, building homes and early stores in Dunton, now Arlington Heights.

In 1837 William filed a claim, and in 1845, he built the first house in Dunton. Nov. 3, 1854, he filed the first plat of the village. These are the meager facts of how a village was born.

To supplement this meager information, in 1855, the year the First Presbyterian church was organized, a Swedish farmhand named Frederick Augustus Roziene went to work for Asa Dunton, who lived in Dunton where he worked a farm.

ROZIENE LIVED, worked, loved, and enjoyed himself much as many of the early settlers in that day did and offers probably one of the most complete impressions of that period. As seen from the eyes of the romantic Roziene, here is a portion of his story:

"From April 8 to 10, I saw a great flock of blackbirds, as if they were Egyptian grasshoppers, so numerous they caused such a noise in the air as if a cyclone, one swarm following after another.

"The same day, the 'old man' (Asa Dunton) wanted to know how much I wanted for the year's salary, upon which I could not answer, as I was not used to work.

"As a hired man, he offered me $100 a year, and I must stay eight months, but on thinking it over better, to stay six months or a year, for otherwise I would not have work the rest of the winter and that would mean more money than I could save

"Thursday, April 5, we ringed one of the big bulls, which was a very hard thing to do. Friday, the 6th, the workmen sowed wheat, and I was alone with the 'old man,' but he was sick all day."

In the diary, measuring 68 pages in length, Frederick reveals his romantic attachment for a girl named "Maria," who drives him to torment and thoughts of suicide by her apparently unrequieted love.

However, in the lengthly narrative of a man tormented by love, many references are made to James Dunton, the other son of Asa, whom the farmhand jealously considered his rival at times and to William and many others of the Dunton clans. Told simply and effectively it is almost as revealing an account of early pioneer life in Northwest Illinois as Samuel Pepys' account of early London.

NECESSITY allows only the briefest of extracts, such as:

"April 27—In the morning, I was out in the prairie and dug post holes. In the afternoon, I was going to learn to sow clover, but it didn't go very well, and I took French leave from the field and after that, I went home and planted potatoes. Today, for the first time, I saw a snake entirely green, really beautiful, and if I had had a bottle and alcohol, I would have captured him."

May 4—All day, the old man and I sowed oats and timothy and dragged it. When, in the afternoon, we were about to ride home, as we got near the barn, a prairie hen was walking sedately under the wagon. It was wonderful, as these birds are very shy.

May 21—The weather was very beautiful and warm, but, like the speed of lightning, at about 4 p.m. came a cyclone that blew the straw from the roofs and stacks and threw down long stretches of fence. At one place, it wrecked a house, which caused three people to die. Also the cyclone was followed by hailstones, some as big as hazelnuts and the size of an egg, accompanied by terrific thunder. When it was over, I saw a rainbow over Lake Michigan. I observed (it) from the beginning to the end. It was beautiful and romantic.

May 29—All the household went to a Temperance meeting, and I was alone all day and worked in the orchard, mended fence and carried stone from the wheat field. In the morning, the old man asked me if I would go with them, but I had no desire to go to the meeting.

June 2—When the old man was about to go for all day, I asked him if I could cultivate timothy and where he sowed it, if I should drag the beans, etc. When he began to laugh at me and asked me if I could pick up and put it in my pocket, that was the answer I got from him. And then more to boot. I should take only half of the drag and one horse. When I began to drag, it tilted over and an iron went through my boot, almost taking my toe, and each time the thing turned, one iron reached my knee, but I saw it and got my leg back, but the point went through my pants and tore them, but did not hurt me, but I got mad as the devil and went home with horse and drag. At home, I told James about it and he said it couldn't be done that way, but he said to take all the rake which I did, and it worked very well.

When I had done my work, I went home and the old man was still there. I told him my adventure and his answer was a howling laugh, as if he thought it was a good joke, but I felt I should give him something to chew on.

JUNE 4 — I worked in the orchard, but in the afternoon I went to the depot to hear about a Temperance lecture, where both parties came to grips like the very devil. Mr. Merrein was about to get on the platform to talk to the folks and the Germans started after him and there was a fight and an Englishman tried all morning to get boxes, but did not succeed.

June 14—It was very warm and I wanted to finish the fence by noon, so we worked hard. I was soaked with sweat. I saw in a ditch the fish lived in how snakes caught them from three to six inches long and drew them out of the water and ate them. After dinner, the old man told me that I must bathe my entire body or I might get sick, which I also did, but I told him I wanted to go to a lake eight miles away to bathe, but he did not want me to do that. He said he would go to Chicago and buy a saddle so I could ride to this lake.

August 9—I told them about Theodore and de Rees wanting to go to Kansas. Mrs. Baker said it was a slave state and not a good place to live. That doesn't make any difference, Maria said. If I got married there, she said, I could be as happy there as anywhere else, unless I got homesick and, if my husband had slaves there, I would prevail upon him to free them.

ONE MAY LEARN from a study of the diary, that life was very arduous during those early days. The land was difficult, but fertile. But they knew how to enjoy themselves, too. We find such charming references as:

"On Friday night, I dreamed about being with her at a daguerreotype studio, who took pictures of both of us, and then we exchanged them . . . the school mistress was playing on a bass viol and sang two songs . . .

"I spent all day at Elk Grove at a Temperance meeting. I liked it as it was a friendly group. They had set a long table in the Grove, and anyone could go to and eat. Four men were in charge of the program and the young men and girls sang songs. In the morning, James (brother of William Dunton) went to Elgin to a dance . . .

"In the afternoon, I wanted to help her do some embroidering on a collar . . . On the 31st I sat at a table, drawing a Cupid, with bow and arrow, aiming it . . . drawn a little bird with a blooming twig in its tiny claws, which would be good to put over a candle . . .

"The ladies sang, and James, too, and they wanted me to sing for them . . . I finally sang three Swedish love songs . . . I went to the German store, where one of the Frenchman in the store did some card tricks and danced a polka, which he did very well, and I am convinced he is a big magnetic drawing card."

IT WAS AN arduous life during those early days, when to bathe oneself one had to travel to one of the nearby lakes; one bought cloth to make one's shirts and bought ready-made trousers in Chicago. Without a horse and wagon, one walked the long dusty miles as the Swedish farmhand often did; one worked from dawn to dusk—it was expected.

But there was a love of nature and a lust for life among these pioneers, who were being troubled by the bitter debates over slavery, soon to plunge the country into war.

Stores were springing up, with Dr. Fred Miner pointing the way with his general store. Asa became the first postmaster in his son, William's house. The church displaced the circuit riders. Arlington Heights was beginning to boom. The Yankees in Elk Grove found the attraction of the charming little village difficult to resist.

(To point up the sharp contrast between the pioneer village as it looked in the beginning and what was to happen to it in the following decades, the author of "The Prairie That Bloomed" will give further glimpses as seen through the eyes of pioneers in the third installment of the series)

Q. Is it proper to use one's hands when reaching for a slice of bread, or should one use one's fork?

A. By all means, help yourself to the bread with your fingers, being careful to touch only the slice that you are taking. Never, never use your own fork or any of your own individual pieces of silver to help yourself from a common serving dish.

Q. Is it necessary that replies be made to letters of condolence?

A. This is only good manners in return for such acts of thoughtfulness. The notes may be brief, but they should be sincere and they should be handwritten.

MORE GAS HEAT
for next winter

Shortages of gas for home heating in this area are finally coming to an end. Recent Federal and State approval of two new pipelines is an important step toward substantial increase in the supply available for next winter's heating season.

We, at Northern Illinois Gas Company, are very pleased that developments are taking place more rapidly than we anticipated a year or so ago. We know that many who seek this most desirable, low-cost fuel for heating will also be gratified.

Because, since 1946, the supply of gas has been limited, it has been necessary to restrict its use for heating to single family dwellings. Now it appears possible to make gas heating available to multi-unit dwellings and to small businesses and industries in the area we serve.

If you wish to be eligible for a gas heat permit, it would be advantageous to make your request promptly. All installations must be authorized by our Company. Apply in writing (use the convenient coupon below) or visit our nearest office.

OLDEST HOUSE IN VILLAGE is this remodeled home of William H. Dunton, built in 1845 and now the home of a turkey farmer, John Bestman, on Hintz road, a mile east of State road. Mrs. Bestman is at left, foreground. It is now believed that the original building, now used as a feed house by Bestman at the rear of this home, a one-story affair, was later converted into a kitchen and the more pretentious two-story building shown above added. Also, a second wing of the first village home is believed to exist at 715 N. Pine. In the feed house, one can see the original wide boards and square nails young Dunton used to build his home more than a century ago. Bedrooms were tiny then, and one small platform in a bedroom is believed to have been constructed for a child's bed. Some day, a plaque may mark this home as the birth of a village.

Jimmy Hall and his Kingsmen provided the music for the Arlington Pioneers dance Saturday on the patio at Pioneer Park. The teenagers were in a very happy mood as their Bake Sale held Saturday afternoon was highly successful. The Teens wish to thank everyone for their cooperation as they now are half-way-home in their quest to purchase a public address system for their monthly dances. The next dance is Saturday, July 11 for the 12-14 age group.

A welcome is extended to Ardell and Robert Deiber, 316 N. Reuter. They are natives of this area and until recently resided at 119 S. Vail. The highlight of the trip for Louise was her performance before the Detroit Women's Credit association at the Women's City club. A pleasant surprise awaiting their return home was a money prize for coming in second in the St. Simon's Bridge tournament.

Judi Lee Jones was honored at a bridal shower Friday in Chicago. The decorations were all pink and blue as the bridesmaids will be wearing those colors. Hostess was Judi's cousin, Joan Anne Ozaniec, who will serve as maid-of-honor.

$135,000 Church Center Dedicated

Dedication services for the new $135,000 Christian education and fellowship center of the St. John United Church of Christ, Evergreen and St. James Sts., Arlington Heights, will be held Sunday, June 28, at 5 p.m.

The ceremony will be preceded by an open house, beginning at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Hugo Leinberger, director of church extension and urban strategy of the Evangelical and Reformed Churches, Northern Illinois Synod, will deliver the main dedication address.

DESIGNED BY WILLIAM M. Cooley and associates of Park Ridge, the structure contains 11 classrooms for the Sunday school enrollment of 350 pupils. Construction of the two-story building began in April of 1958.

Guests at the ceremony will include: Dr. H. H. Landrum, executive secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago; the Rev. Robert S. McDonald, pastor of the church; J. G. Meiners, secretary of the Milwaukee Council of Churches and former pastor; architect William M. Cooley and his partner, Edward Moore; the Rev. Edward Heins, former supply pastor; Myron Kuhlman, chairman of the congregation's building committee; and Edward Carlisle, Arlington Heights' mayor.

The fellowship hall accommodates 250 diners or 400 persons for meetings. A large nursery, an ultramodern kitchen adjoin the hall.

The center is the first building in a re-development plan which will eventually add a new, 600-seat church, social rooms, parlors, additional classrooms, offices, and parking facilities.

Ridge Park—Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Charles H. Vetters, 813 N. Patton, are back from five days of camping at Silver Lake, Mich. They reported that the weather was right for swimming and did their share until they boarded the Clipper at Muskegon and sailed across Lake Michigan to Milwaukee.

Although Dr. and Mrs. Robert Balfour, 1208 Northwest hwy. couldn't go to Hawaii right now, Hawaii came to them in the form of a luau party at the home of the Robert Petersens in Villa Park. Guests, dressed in Hawaiian fashion, danced on the patio to Hawaiian music and feasted on sukiyaki and all the trimmings.

Saturday evening the Robert C. Buechners, 1012 N. Fernandez, went to Island lake to help her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hunt, celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. Buechner's sister and family, the Donald Hoyers, joined them for dinner after which the three families spent the balance of the evening at the Hunt home.

THE EXCITEMENT hasn't died down yet at the home of Jean and Jerry Chapman, 903 N. Kaspa, and Katherine Lee is the reason. Born June 8 in Wesley hospital, Chicago, she weighed 5 pounds 11 ounces. Her two brothers, Johnny and George, are delighted to have a girl around the house and Jerry's folks are happy to have a granddaughter too, their first so far.

Synpathy is extended to Andy Anderson, 827 N. Kennicott, on the death of his mother last week.

Mrs. Frank Kieca, 821 N. Salem, took Karen, Joanne and Johnny to Champaign-Urbana over the weekend to visit her brother.

Linda Hostler, daughter of the Ralph Hostlers, 927 N. Kennicott, and Nadine Thrasher, daughter of the Bill Thrashers, 919 N. Kennicott, were in the Sunday evening dance recital given by the Dolores Eiler school of dancing.

Saturday Craig McDougall, son of the Angus McDougalls, 925 N. Patton, will be off for two weeks at Camp Napowan, Wild Rose, Wis. Craig is an explorer scout.

THE CHARLIE Eglises, 814 N. Patton, have been enjoying a visit from Mrs. Eglis' parents, the Karl Trustdors, and her grandmother Mrs. William Dowling of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. James W. Harris, 1010 N. Race, recently took her girls and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dunn, to Decatur for a week to visit friends. While there, she went to Springfield to spend the day with her husband, who is with the state legislature and she was able to sit in on one of the committee hearings.

"The Music Man" added the J. T. Garrisons, 716 N. Kaspar, and their friends Evie and Ted Guttenberger to its long line of enthusiasts Saturday night. Shirley says that sitting in the second row was really an education. They all came away singing praises of the new musical.

Bill Frost, son of the William Frosts, 125 W. Oakton, has successfully completed a skin diving course from Park Ridge YMCA Trittons. The 8-week course given by the instructor, Jack Glatt, a real scuba enthusiast, had its final lesson at College Camp, Wis. on Lake Geneva.

Bill completed the test which included a 20-foot free dive without a scuba and a 40-foot lake dive with scuba. Now a qualified diver, he had his first big job two weeks ago when he and three other divers were called into Chicago to retrieve a motor lost from a boat in Lake Michigan. When he isn't pursuing skin diving, which he says is 'terrific" he is working at Wessman-Cunningham sporting goods store.

THE C. A. Klipperts, 1003 N. Fernandez, went to Twin Lakes, Wis. for Father's day and visited Mrs. Klippert's parents. They left Debbie in Wisconsin for a week, where she'll get in plenty of swimming, as her grandparents live only a block from the lake.

The Fernandez and Salem ave. folks won't forget the James J. Kellys' 25th wedding anniversary party for a long time. Saturday night the Kellys, 828 N. Fernandez, invited more than 200 guests to a garden party in celebration of their anniversary. Lights and lanterns were strung around the back yard and a 3-piece orchestra played music for dancing. However, when the musicians tired of playing, there was a guest handy with a uke to take over. Barbecues and "trimmings" were served to everyone, from neighbors to friends from Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis and New York.

To show how they feel about them, neighbors presented them with a barbecue grill, silver trays and vases. Not only did the guests have a wonderful time at the party, but many of the neighbors came back the next morning and helped clean up. That called for coffee and coffee cake and before they left there was another small celebration.

FRIENDS AND former neighbors of the Jerry Stasches will be sorry to learn that her mother, Mrs. Fred Erisman, died in Chicago last week. The Stasches, who lived at 1008 N. Kaspar, bought a 2-flat on the north side of Chicago.

Reports from the Herman Koeneman residence, 908 N. Fernandez, are that Lee is recuperating from surgery undergone in St. Anne hospital, Chicago, last week. For those who want to send Lee a get-well-quick card, she is in room 409, St. Anne hospital, 4950 Thomas, Chicago.

Several Yale ave. couples gathered at the Dick Geissinger home for cocktails before going to dinner at the Rustic Manor Saturday night. The Stanley Molisses, Meredith Astleys, Jack LeBeaus, Bill Goodings, Bob Clores and the Dick Geissingers made up the party. All returned to the Geissingers after dinner for a send-off for the Goodings, who are moving to Salt Lake City.

Last Thursday, the Arnold Koriaths, 823 N. Kennicott, took her mother with them to Renssalier, Ind., to visit friends they hadn't seen in seven years. Sunday evening Arny and Joe went to the square dance and barbecue sponsored by St. John Sunday Evening club.

THE WELCOME mat is out to the William Griffin family who has moved to 1521 Oakton from Cedar Rapids. They have four children: Mark, 6, John, 4½, Carol, 3, and Virginia, 8 months. Mr. Griffin is with the Boy Scouts.

The E. F. Lindmarks, 1011 N. Chicago, enjoyed the recent Chicago and North Western trainmen's picnic at Williams Bay. There was plenty of fun for the children including swimming, picnicking and boat riding.

When Vickie Lindeman was baptized in First Methodist church Sunday, her grandparents, the Howard Lindemans, came from Venice, Fla., for the occasion, as well as her other grandparents, the Howard Lindemans, and her great aunt, Mrs. Nora Carlson from Rockford. Her parents, the Gerald Lindemans, 922 N. Princeton, served a family dinner afterward. Saturday her brother graduated from veterinarian school at the University of Illinois.

The Andrew Lofquists, 910 N. Kennicott, are happy that their daughter, Helen, will be home with them this summer while attending Northwestern university.

FROM SHERWOOD

The J. E. Woods, 1006 Clarendon, are back from a week's vacation in the south, stopping off in Richmond, Va., to visit her brother and family, the Bill Hoyts. From there, they went to Greenville, N.C. to spend a weekend with Nancy and Bob before going on to Charlotte, N.C., to see Bob's parents, the B. C. Butlers.

Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was the spot the Paul Wollermans, 1111 N. Patton, chose for their vacation this year. They spent two weeks at a motel on the ocean, where they had their choice of pool or ocean swimming. A 300-pound turtle chose that time to lay her eggs, something none of the family had ever seen before.

THE WEATHER was perfect Saturday for the lawn party at the Wilbert Pates, 1112 Harvard, at which they entertained her aunt, Mrs. Laura Edgeworth, her daughter and four grandchildren from Ft. Worth. Twenty-two were there for the family gathering and all enjoyed seeing the Texas branch of the family again.

The James Colvins, 1319 Watling, didn't plan it that way, but they arrived in Miami, Fla., just in time for the severe tornado that struck recently. Staying at the Diplomat for the NPPA convention, they encountered such soggy weather that Mary decided to fly home where it was warm and dry.

The George Thiemans, 122 N. Patton, are back from a vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. They took George's folks from Cincinnati with them and they were on hand to help celebrate their 9-year-old grandson's catching a 30-pound dolphin one day. Total catch for the day was seven dolphin, but the family is proud of the fisherman who caught the largest one. (A Welcome home to Margaret, Carol and Dickie Currier who have returned home after spending a months vacation in Pittsburgh, Penn. with Margaret's sister and her family.

The Robert Hutchings family and Peter Loy spent an enjoyable Thursday evening at Riverview.

Weekend guest at the Harvey Mehlhop home was Mrs. Eldora Burris, Jacksboro, Tenn., sister of Mrs. Mehlhop.

The Robert Palmers took in the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey circus Saturday afternoon at the Amphitheatre.

Sharon and Bonnie Luczak took their parents Stan and Julia out to dinner for Fathers day. At the same time Bonnie's 12th birthday and the Luczak's 22nd wedding anniversary was celebrated at Union hotel, Wheeling. The Frank Luczak's accompanied them and afterwards they all came back to the Stan Luczak home for a swim and grilled hot dogs. Sharon's afternoon guests were Judy Petry, Jerry Luczak and Jim Terrill.

Arlene Drewes is spending one week with her girl friend, Carol Gundelach in Antioch.

The Henry Rossbergs went in to visit with John Rossberg, Chicago, Fathers day.

SUNDAY EVENING visitors at the Tom Baldassari home were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kroll and children Pat, Nancy, Holly and Sherry. A nice surprise as Goldy and Tom haven't seen their godchild, Sherry, in quite some time.

Speedy recovery to Mrs. John Nitz, Marge Gorr and Fred Lauing, who have been on the sick list.

Mrs. Matilde Rodriguez, mother-in-law of Minnie, came home June 7 from the hospital and is recuperating from surgery. Speedy recovery wishes to her.

Friends extend sympathy to Mrs. William Saurland upon the recent death of her husband, William.

The family of Eustacio Garza attended the funeral June 13 of Mr. Garzas sisters' children, Horacio Garza Flores, 13, Ovidio, 15 and Orfila, 16, children of Mr. and Mrs. Hermengildo Garza of San Claire, Mich. While picking cherries, Horacio saw a gopher in a pipe, proceeded to pick it up, hitting the electric wires and was electrocuted; running to his rescue their brother, Ovidio and sister Orfila also were electrocuted. The father tried vainly to rescue them, being thrown back approximately 30 feet. Sympathy is extended to the Garza family upon this tragedy. (A

THE CHIP SHOT, as demonstrated by Phil Lambdin, a starter at Old Orchard Country club, is the golfer's secret weapon. A good chipper, say many pros, can save his golf score from calamity. Interest in golfing is flourishing, says Lambdin, and he points to the 1,000 or more weekend golfers at the club to back up his statement.

COME ON, BIRDIE, exhorts Phil Lambdin, 19, a starter at Old Orchard Country club. An Arlington Heights resident, Phil works summers at the Prospect Heights golf club where he has brought his score down to the high 70s. Other months, Phil is a student at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Housewives Are Widowed By Golf Lure

Golf—that game of swinging, swatting, sweating and swearing—is the siren of sports that threatens the happy homes of thousands of northwest suburban residents.

"Golf widows" watch, some in quiet desperation, others in outraged fury, as husbands decamp at the lure of the solid click, the soft rolling fairways, the lush carpet-like greens. "Mama, where is daddy going?" is the small-voiced question heard by a growing army of departing suburban males.

If a final showdown is to come between the two institutions, golfing enthusiasts are not altogether sure which would survive. For golf, unlike the nuptial partner, is ever alluring, ever young, ever beckoning. Like the Lorelei, the ancient sport is a maiden who tempts, but never fulfills.

Golf is a woman who can never be mastered, and it is this that makes the game so appealing and so frustrating. It is man's humbling diversion.

THE YEARNING to play a better game of golf is a national mania not restricted to the suburbs. A man may never admit that he is constantly trying to improve his score, and he may pretend that mediocrity is enough for him. The man who says, "I'm a duffer, but the game's a lot of fun and that's good enough for me," is not telling the truth. He's a liar. He wants to break 90, and when he does, he wants to break 80.

A golfer can soar to ecstasy or to a rage that turns him into a crazed savage. He may return home jubliant or in a depression that may take a dozen well-cooked meals to overcome.

Golf, as it is played today, had its origin in Scotland about 1320. Mary Stuart, queen of Scots, 250 years later added a word to the game that is still in use, "cadet"—hence, caddy, after the French pronounciation.

In 1754, the first rules to govern the sport were established at the St. Andrews Golf club in Scotland. A club committee laid out 13 rules for Highland golfers, some of which remain in the game to this day.

FIRST INTRODUCED into the United States in 1888, golf has enjoyed a tremendous growth. A survey in 1945 showed some 5,500 golf courses of nine or 18 holes throughout the country. But the sport remained the preserve of the well-to-do until the post World War II boom.

In 1940, over 80 per cent of all courses were private, with play restricted to members and their guests. The average man, unable to afford membership in exclusive clubs, showed little interest in the sport until the expansion and growth of public and semi-public courses following the war.

Today, the anguish once visited only upon wealthy matrons is afflicting increasing numbers of average housewives, as an estimated 65 per cent of the nation's courses are now operating on a daily fee basis.

NOT THE exclusive domain of men, golf is enjoyed by a somewhat less enthusiastic and smaller number of women. Their proficiency, or lack of it, is attested to by an ever-increasing male query. When he now hears the remark, "woman driver," the male sportsman may ask with sincerity, "which, golf or motoring?"

Women do not make good golfers, is the concensus on the links. They make good coffee cake and good mothers, but not good golfers. A more accurate, if acrid, comment is likely to be overheard between male golfing partners trailing a female foursome for two hours in the hot sun.

In the golfing words of one old duffer, women golfers should be "fore-warned" and then played through.

Marriage Can Be Truly Meaningful

By LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

June—and weddings. The end of "single blessedness" and the beginning of "connubial bliss."

Of course, people who are single are not always blessed; and those who are married are often in anything but a state of bliss. As in the old song, "It All Depends on You."

But marriage has always been held up as something to aspire to, as a state of being which has potentials for completeness of life, the unity of two half-beings into a unified whole. And what marriage promises, it can, and does in millions of cases, fulfill.

MARRIAGE BRINGS into the lives of the individuals united by holy matrimony a unity of purpose, a sharing of burdens, a community of problems of child raising. It brings about a greater growth of the individual, from a person whose horizon generally ends with himself, to one who grows in understanding, and capacity of love for others, and an active crusader for community betterment. True marriage, and love of one's children, causes a parent to grow morally and spiritually. It inspires a father to greater efforts in his work in order that his wife and children may obtain greater benefits from society, and from the economy.

Marriage is indeed a beautiful, and it should be a holy state. A Christian home has so much more to offer a family than a non-Christian home. It brings about security, and freedom from fear which is lacking in homes where Christ is not the head of the house. It helps youngsters through the teen ages, when they need so much help, by directing their attention to development of Christian character and habits of self denial that will give them confidence and poise that will help them all their lives. It gives them good principles upon which to build, principles that have stood the tests of thousands of years of living. And when mom and dad have become old, and are surrounded with their grandchildren, it enables them to face death without fear, with the assurance that it is but the doorway through which they step into eternal life; and thus, to bear "the evils that all flesh is heir to" with greater patience and sweetness.
